PICKENS RESIDENCE BURNED

The residence of Mr. W. A. Matthews in Pickens was totally destroyed by fire last Thursday afternoon shortly after two o'clock, and only a few of the household goods were saved. Origin of the fire is unknown and the blaze had made such headway before discovered that it was impossible to control it.

Mr. Matthews was at Catachee at the time of the fire and only Mrs. Matthews and three small children were at home.

While there was some insurance on the building and household goods, the loss of Mr. Matthews is heavy. He states, however, that he expects to rebuild soon.

At present the Matthews family is occupying one of the Nally bungalows.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herd and mother, Mrs. Moore, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Jones and little daughter, of Simpsonville, and Rosa and Walter Seaborn, of near Pickens, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Herd.

CREPE AND CROCHET

The only real rival of georgette in blouses is crepe de chine. In this elegant blouse it appears in a warm tan color, with collar, cuffs, and buttons hand-crocheted of silk in the same shade. Nothing more refined or smart has been presented for fall.

FOR YOUNG GIRLHOOD

There is nothing in headwear that outclasses the fine, soft coat or felt hats made for children. Their beauty and refinement carry them triumphantly to every part of the world, and they are a safe choice from the first to the last hat for girlhood. Three of them are pictured here, and of course their only trimming is a sash or band of ribbon.

ELEGANT AND USEFUL

Crepe de chine was chosen for making this handsome blouse for fall. It is in a bright henna shade with stitching in white and white crepe de chine facing the sleeves and neck opening. The collar may be worn open, disclosing the face and a small, plain vestee of the white crepe.

Extra Selected Dutch Hyacinths

To be planted this fall for Winter and Spring flowering. The first step in successful bulb culture is to secure good bulbs of good size, clean and sound. To secure such you must be willing to pay a fair price. We wish to warn our patrons against buying bulbs that are sold at bargain prices. Such usually have been carried over in cold storage from previous seasons. We can give you any color in single Hyacinths ranging from the most delicate shades of blue to the shades of yellow. These are also in double Hyacinths. We have mixed sweet peas, not mixed is the white, blue and yellow; Different shades of Crocus, Narcissus and Tulips, Sacred Chinese Lillies.

Whether you buy one or a thousand bulbs we want you to be satisfied.

What Does A Newspaper Owe to Its Readers?

(From The Whitefish, Mont., Pilot)

The relation of a newspaper to its readers is one that at times is worth thinking about. Is it purely a business relation in which the subscriber pays so much per year for the paper and the publisher contracts to give in his news columns accounts of pink teas and lemonade socials, or that Mrs. Jones took dinner with Mrs. Brown, and Smith's baby has the mumps? Or does not the average publisher expect to give more than is included in a normal business relation? And doesn't the reader expect more? If it was a pure business relation—a matter of dollars and cents—the average publisher would charge more per annum for a subscription. Eliminating everything but news, few, if any, of the numerous publishers of the country could supply the paper at anything like the usual charge per year. We fancy that the average publisher likes to think of his readers as all comprising one big family having many things in common and who feel that when they receive the paper, each issue that they are getting more than the two or three cents that it costs them. We are inclined to think that between the average paper and its average reader there is a relation that is beyond and above a pure business relation. The paper should give that which passes as current news, to be sure, but over and above this it must give a community service that cannot be measured in dollars. It must stand for the best that is in the community. It must have courage to concern, as well as courage to commend. A paper to command respect cannot be spineless. It must have a code and abide by that code. If it is a real paper its readers will respect it if they do not always agree with it. A paper's great asset is a list of readers who respect it. A town's greatest asset is a paper that its readers respect. A paper must be honest, and as far as humanly possible it should be impartial. A paper that does not have the confidence of its readers is incapable as a community spokesman. A paper that is run for revenue alone cannot long maintain the respect of its readers. These are some of the things that a paper owes to its readers. Sometimes stop and think what you, as a reader, owe to the paper, not in dollars, but in a way that is bigger than dollars.

I have recently visited at a large wholesale establishment and I find that the recent advance of cotton has caused a great advance in the price of dry goods, especially staple goods.

I have plenty of goods bought at the right price, and I will sell them right. There is no telling how high the price of goods may go, so my advice would be for everybody to buy early.

Remember that I pay the Greenville market for produce.

Your Trade is Appreciated Here.
