J. B. White & Co. to Celebrate 53d Anniversary With Sale of Mammoth Proportions

This sale, which begins Friday, April 1st, and continues through April 9th, is planned to be the greatest event in the yearly program of the J. B. White & Co. store in Augusta. Store officials designate it the most important in the following respects:

1st. In the large assortment of merchandise offered and thousands upon thousands of dollars have been spent in special purchases for this sale.

2nd. In the genuine and most unusual values offered. No greater values will ever be offered than are found from month to month in the store's regular Dollar Day Sales, but in the Anniversary Sale the same splendid values will be found in merchandise not confined to any one price, but at a wide range of exceedingly low prices.

3rd. Last, but not least, it is to the store organization the year's greatest event from the standpoint of sentiment, for it celebrates the birthday of the business—a 53rd anniversary—and every employee feels a desire to do everything humanly possible to have all friends and customers join in celebrating the event. Naturally plans have been made to give such values as will make the occasion one to be long and pleasantly remembered.

NOTE: Because it is impossible to accurately gauge the demand for every item, and some articles will be sold out in a short time, as many were bought at great concessions in price, the people of Barnwell are urged to attend the sale on the first day, Friday, and make selections as early as possible.

Tree's Leaves Trap Cattle
Stock owners around the Australian coast swamps in southwestern Victoria run a novel risk with their cattle. Grass trees in this vicinity grow to 10 feet high and in their spring frolics cattle often play around these and their horns become entangled in the trees' long, rope-like leaves. Cattle, in attempting to free themselves, break their necks. Also, cattle frequently starve to death, being unable to break their natural tethers so that dried carcasses, still tethered, are not uncommon in this district.

Son of Old Barnwell "Breaks Into Rhyme"

So "riled" have members of the august State Senate become over Governor Richards' efforts to enforce the blue Sunday laws that some of them have been driven to an expression of their sentiments through the medium of "poetry." A lengthy debate was precipitated in that body Friday when Senator James H. Hammond, a son of old Barnwell County who is now representing Richland County in the upper branch of the General Assembly, introduced the following touching resolutions:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

WHEREAS, On our Statutes, two centuries old, Is a law all hoary with age, Resurrected, it was, by the Gov'nor bold And placed in the midst of the stage.

WHEREAS, King John has seen fit to pronounce He'll enforce this old law as it's writ, On golf and on druggist he'll pounce But gardens and ice he'll permit.

WHEREAS, The Senate has tried to amend, And with deference due to the "Gove," Has combined with the Law of the Lord A little of His Law of Love.

WHEREAS, We should not bow down to the poppies, While roses we place on the rack, And may God deliver the present While we move two hundred years back.

NOW BE IT RESOLVED, by the Senate, The House concur, if it will, That the Gov'nor push to the limit The terms of that terrible Bill. That cooks be stopped in the kitchen.

The child at its innocent play, And wipe out the smiles and the laughter, And SNORE through the sad, dismal day.

No longer let them drink hot coffee, On Calhoun's Celestial soil, And cut out the ice plant at Aiken And cause babies' sweet milk to spoil.

For such was the law of the ancients, And such is the law of our land, And such is the will of the Gov'nor, With his cap with brass bells in his hand.

Let ice cream and bathing be ended, Like witchcraft, be under the ban, And golfing and auto be banished, Since unknown to primeval man.

SO RESOLVED, that the law of the ancients Be invoked that the present might see With unmistakable clearness WHAT FOOLS WE MORTALS CAN BE.

Patronize Home Industry!

All things being equal, people should patronize a home industry. Such industries help in the support of the local schools, town, county and State governments and building of good roads.

Our ice is manufactured right here in Barnwell in a plant that pays taxes for these things. It is manufactured from pure water drawn from deep wells. The plant is operated by men who spend their money in Barnwell.

Improvements and additions to the plant will double our capacity, insuring at all times an adequate supply of ice.

However, our connection with the Edisto Public Service Company, of Denmark, will take care of any emergency, such as a breakdown at the local plant. An experienced man will be in charge of the mechanical end of the plant, guaranteeing pure ice and prompt service at all times.

It is our desire to give our patrons the best service possible and we request that any short weights or other cause for dissatisfaction on the part of the wagon drivers who are Harry Martin and Leroy Sabe, be reported at once to the management.

Phone orders for ice will be received either at the plant or at the store of Easterling & Company.

Our Phone Nos. 84, 29-J and 16.
