

THE PEOPLE

JOHN W. HOLMES, Editor.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1878.

We are not responsible for the views of our correspondents.

The Governor's Message.

In the main, Governor Simpson's first message is a sensible paper, containing proper and timely suggestions, but we think that in advocating the early re-opening of the South Carolina College he mistakes the needs of the times. He certainly does not know the poverty of the people and the love that the various churches have for the colleges of their denominations. If the South Carolina College is re-opened as a pensioner upon the State Treasury the inevitable result will be the weakening or extinction of denominational schools and the increase of taxation or the diversion of a part of the public school fund from its present application. The Governor, however, very wisely leaves the matter with the Legislature, and in this we imitate him with the declaration that we will not approve any action on its part supporting his recommendation.

The United States Court.

We spent an hour in the United States Court room in Columbia on the 26th ultimo. Judge Bryan's charge was generally commended for its fairness. The portion of the room assigned to witnesses was literally packed with negroes claiming to have been intimidated and to have seen others treated in a like manner. Several Barwell negroes were among them ready to swear and draw pay, while Barwell's solitary white Radical, looking as lonely as an emaciated screech owl, was comfortably seated in the southwest corner, as far from his political brethren as he could get. It was understood that the parties from Sumter would be the first tried for alleged intimidation. If these test cases fail the dance ends. Robert Aldrich, Esq., and Colonel J. C. Davant are looking out for the Barwell men.

Editorial Correspondence.

COLUMBIA, November 26, 1878. In witnessing the organization of the House of Representatives to-day I felt that I was also attending the final funeral rites over the corpse of Radicalism in South Carolina. The soberest of all the participants in the opening exercises were the last three surviving members of that infamous party. As Miller, Gantt and Simmons looked around upon the hundred and twenty-one Democratic Brethren who represented the State they must have realized that the carnival of the carpe-bagge is at last over; that Othello's occupation as a statesman is gone, and that the bottom rail is once more in the right place.

In the Senate the contrast in color and political faith is not so striking, as five Senators, four of whom are colored, hold over from the election of 1876, but they also seemed impressed with the conviction that the places which now know them will soon know them no more forever.

Comprising many of the best men in the State, representing all occupations and professions, this Legislature will, it is generally believed, do the State good service and adjourn before Christmas. There is no reason why an adjournment should not be reached by that time. The reports of the several bureau officers are now ready, and with these before them the various committees can go immediately and intelligently to work. From what I can gather it is the universal determination to make the session a short and busy one.

Among the earliest duties of the Legislature will be the election of a United States Senator as successor to Honest John J. Patterson. Governor Hampton, if he recovers, will undoubtedly be chosen, although it is whispered that he will have an opponent. Chief Justice Willard will also soon step down and out, and General James Conner, of Charleston, is the decided favorite of a large majority. A successor to Judge Shaw, of the Third Circuit, must be chosen, and Hon. T. B. Fraser seems to lead the race. The names of Gen. John D. Kennedy, ex-Judge T. H. Cooke and Colonel C. H. Simonton are frequently mentioned in connection with the Code Commissionerships, also to be filled by election. The first day's work has been a good one. The legislators are spending the afternoon in hunting quarters and making acquaintances.

H. P. S.—It is said that the cause of the fifty per cent advance in the price of drinks in Columbia is to be found in the temperate habits of our law makers. The Supreme Court has refused new trials to Small and Cardozo, and those worthies will have to go into Winter quarters—the former in the penitentiary and the latter in the Rich and jail.

Proceedings of the Legislature.

On Tuesday, the 26th ultimo, the Legislature met, and both Houses organized—the Senate by the election of Hon. T. B. Jeter, of Union, as President pro tem; T. Stobo Farrow, of Spartanburg, Clerk; R. A. Goodwyn, of Richland, Reading Clerk, and L. R. Marshall, of Newberry, Sergeant-at-Arms; and the House by the election of John C. Sheppard, of Edgefield, as Speaker; John T. Sloan, Sr., of Richland, as Clerk; John D. Brown, of Barnwell, as Sergeant-at-Arms, and R. M. Anderson, of Abbeville, as Reading Clerk. The Senate adjourned after sending to the House notification of its organization and appointment of a committee to wait on the Governor. In the House, the Governor's message was read, several of its rules amended, and the following resolution, offered by Colonel Simonton, unanimously adopted:

"Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That the present condition of the people of the State and of the public finances demands the most rigid economy in every branch of the government; that to this end it is expedient that the sessions of the General Assembly should be made as short as may be compatible with the public interest; that the committees of both Houses be, and they are hereby, instructed so to forward the matters referred to them that the usage, uninterrupted from the formation of the State government to the beginning of the war, may again prevail, and the General Assembly may adjourn before the Christmas holiday season."

WEDNESDAY, 27TH.

The House met at 10 a. m. Committees were announced and routine work commenced, a large number of bills being introduced. A concurrent resolution appointing the 31 December the day to elect a Judge for the Third Circuit was adopted and sent to the Senate. The Speaker of the House declared the election of Governor Hampton and Lieutenant-Governor Simpson for the term of two years, the official vote being: For Governor—Hampton, 119,550; scattering, 213. For Lieutenant-Governor—Simpson, 119,994; scattering, 10.

FRIDAY.

A great many bills and joint resolutions have been presented. The following are among the most important: To provide for the registration of the electors of this State; to continue the lien law in force for one year; to amend "An act to secure landlords and persons making advances"; to abolish the office of County Auditor; to provide for the revision and consolidation of the statute laws of the State; to repeal "An act to regulate the granting of divorces"; to punish assault or assault and battery with any fire-arm committed on streets, public thoroughfares and places of public resort; to reduce and fix the pay of members of the General Assembly; to protect the rights of mortgages of personal property; to make jury tickets receivable for county taxes; to impose a tax on dogs, and to repeal the act creating the Bond Court.

THE HEALTH OF HAMPTON.

A Change for the Worse and its Consequences. COLUMBIA, November 30.—Governor Hampton's case is reported to have taken a very serious turn to-day. I learn that his symptoms are those of violent blood poisoning or pyemia. Dr. Kinloch, and Dr. Campbell, of Augusta, have been telegraphed for in haste, and are coming on special trains. The Governor's friends are alarmed.

Disastrous Fire in Port Royal.

PORT ROYAL, November 30.—A large fire occurred here this evening. The losses are estimated as follows: Dwelling and bakery of the estate of J. C. Eberly, $2,000; Port Royal cotton compressing building and machinery, owned by Babcock & Wilcox, of New York, $12,000; dwelling, store and carpenter shop, belonging to D. O'Riacoil, $3,000; office of R. P. Bundle, Southern Express Company, $1,000. No insurance.

GRANT IN 1880.

John W. Forney, in his new paper, Progress, says: "And these elections make Grant the Republican candidate for President in 1880. He is no longer the dark horse, but the assured winner, if he lives. And it is on the cards that he will solidify all the old free States, and divide the South in the electoral colleges."

The Wilson-Sanders Duel.

[From the Rock Hill Herald.]

An affair of honor, known to have arisen between Mr. James L. Wilson, of Yorkville, and Mr. George M. Sanders, of Sumter, culminated in a duel near Pineville, N. C., in which both parties escaped unharmed. During the recent fair at Columbia these two gentlemen were together on the fair grounds, having been schoolmates a few years ago at Yorkville, and out of the discussion of some trivial matter grew a difference which resulted in Mr. Wilson addressing a note to Mr. Sanders inviting that gentleman to meet him in Augusta. Mr. Sanders replied accepting the invitation, but before he could get off to Augusta, whither Mr. Wilson with his second had gone, an officer stopped him and thus for a few days the matter was at a stand still. Finally it was arranged to meet at Pineville, N. C., and accordingly all parties passed up on Tuesday afternoon's train, and at about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning a meeting was effected about half a mile west of Pineville (Morrow's Turn-Out) on the side of the public highway near Rea's Mill. Accompanying Mr. Wilson was his second, Dr. Wallace E. Bland, of Edgefield, and Dr. J. R. Bratton, of Yorkville, his surgeon, and one or two other friends. Mr. Sanders was accompanied only by his second, Mr. Manigault James, of Daillington. The distance, twenty paces, being stepped off, the principals, cool and undaunted, each holding in his hand a regular duelling pistol, took positions, and, after the usual preliminaries, Dr. Bland gave the word, "Gentlemen, are you ready? Fire! one, two, three," and all was over. At the word "one" Mr. Wilson fired; at the word "two" Mr. Sanders fired, the ball of each passing harmlessly by the breast of the other. Neither gentleman moved. At this juncture the seconds held a conference, and (as was their right) decided that the affair had reached an honorable solution to both principals, and accordingly they, the principals, joined hands, and thus ended the matter.

A Woman's Logic.

"It is useless to take medicine. I shall feel better to-morrow. Besides, I need the money to get that lovely new hat. My old one is such a fright, and people will look more at my bonnet than they will at my face. I will wait till I feel worse before I spend any money for medicine." The new bonnet is purchased and fifty other feminine necessities in the form of ribbons, laces, brooches, etc. Meanwhile the lady's face becomes every day paler and thinner, and her body weaker, until disease has gained so firm a foothold in her system that the most thorough, and oftentimes a long and tedious course of treatment is necessary to restore her to health. Let us, attend to your health before you ever think of apparel. A fresh, blooming face in a plain bonnet is much handsomer and far more attractive to your gentlemen friends than a pale, worn, diseased face in the most elaborate and elegant hat your milliner could devise. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is everywhere acknowledged to be the standard remedy for female complaints and weakness. It is sold by all druggists.

There are very few young men in the Legislature.

Middle aged and old men compose the body. Judge Presley has appointed Gen. James Conner, of Charleston, receiver of the Greenville and Columbia Railroad.

The annual meeting of the South Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will begin its regular session at Newberry on the 11th inst.

Sampson Hall, colored, who lives but a few miles from Rock Hill, bought a plantation last week, for which he paid $2,100, all cash but about $300. It is needless to say that Sampson is a Democrat, and a good one at that.

The Rev. R. E. White, preaching at Kingstree, Mount Hope and Forrester, who was married not a month ago, while coming from Manning to Sumter in his buggy with his wife, was shot in the head and killed by some unknown person. He was carried to the nearest house, that of Spencer Davis, nine miles from Sumter. He lived only twenty minutes.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, and also of the Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, of that city, has recently been elected to Congress by the very flattering majority of nearly 9,000. He has already served his constituency as State Senator, and this renewed endorsement signifies that his services have been highly satisfactory. His extensive practice in the treatment of chronic diseases will not, we are informed, be neglected or suffer in the least when the time arrives for him to take his seat in Congress, it being entrusted to his brother and other experienced medical gentlemen who have long been associated with the Doctor in the medical department of his celebrated World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel. Besides, as the Forty-sixth Congress does not convene until December, 1879, Dr. Pierce's patients will not lose his personal attention for some months yet.

TEXT-BOOK FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF Barnwell County. UNDER the recent adoption by the State Board of Examiners of Text-books for use in the Public Schools of South Carolina, the following are offered at introductory rates from November 1st for a period of three months: APPLETON'S READERS AND COPY BOOKS; Cornell's First Steps, Primary and Intermediate Geography; Quackenbush's Primary and English Grammar; Quackenbush's Illustrated Lessons in our Language; Quackenbush's First Lessons in Composition; Quackenbush's Composition and Rhetoric; and SANDFORD'S SERIES OF ANALYTICAL ARITHMETIC, by S. P. SANDFORD, A. M., LL. D., Prof. Mathematics, Mercer University, Macon, Ga. The Arithmetics are offered to the children at prices II and III below. Prices I obtained after introduction.

Table with 3 columns: I, II, III. Rows for Sandford's Primary Analytical Arithmetic, Intermediate Analytical Arithmetic, Common School Analytical Arithmetic, and Higher Analytical Arithmetic. Includes Retail, Introduction, and Exchange rates.

OF SANDFORD'S ARITHMETIC, Hon. Hugh S. Thompson, State Superintendent, (at time of writing, as now, Principal Columbia Male Academy), says: "Sandford's Arithmetics are superior to any that I have seen in the fullness of the examples, the clearness and simplicity of the analyses, and the accuracy of the rules and definitions. This opinion is based upon a full and thorough test in the school-room. To those teachers who may examine these Arithmetics with reference to introduction, I would especially commend the treatment of Percentage and Profit and Loss. No text-books that I have ever used are so satisfactory to teachers and pupils. The above for sale by J. C. BUCKINGHAM, oc31-1m Barnwell, S. C.
