The annual meeting of the South Carolina Historical Society was held in rooms over the Charleston Library, the president, Gen.
McCrady, in chair. The report of Mr. A. S. Key, Jr., the secretary and treasurer was very gratifying, for it showed that the Society depends its income solely from the dues of members and the sale of its publications.

Saturday morning McSweeney refused to pay Wallace Ramsey, a order to sell it get a new start in the moonshine business, which appears to be a fact.

On Sunday an attempt was made to wreck Southern railway's fast mail train from Washington.
The miscreants used a cross-tie on the track at between Ridgeway and Blythe. The train was fortunately stopped. The cross-tie was driven the engine and wedged up in the truck of the mail car in such a way that it required 30 minutes to get out. This is the second attempt has recently been made near this point to wreck this fast train.

A. P. Butler, of Aiken county, died of heart failure at his home in Aiken county Wednesday, the 11th instant.
He entered the First South Carolina Regiment as Captain and rose to be Lieutenant-Colonel before the surrender. He was State senator a term or two and then held the office of commissioner of agriculture until the Tillman dynasty came into power.
As soldier, senator, State officer and private citizen he was a true, honest, loyal citizen.

An effort is being made to make the last Saturday of the Exposition a grand children's day. It is proposed to make the event the day of days for the young people of the city and the surrounding country. The children will be admitted at a greatly reduced price and the auditorium will be open and a special program will be carried out for the amusement of the young folks. The idea is to have dancing and games and every child will be given a souvenir of some kind.
At night there will be a jolly time in the midway.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles, that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them.

Won't Follow Advice After Paying For It.

In a recent article a prominent physician says, "It is next to impossible for the physician to get his patients to carry out any prescribed course of hygiene or diet to the smallest extent; he has but one resort left, namely, the drug treatment." When medicines are used for chronic constipation the most mild and gentle obtainable, such as Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets, should be employed.
Their use is not followed by constipation as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it.
She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby boy being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—Jessie G. Hall,

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by Chero-

UNCLE IVE SEES THE REUNION.

Also Pretty Paris and the Choctaw Nation.

SOME VERY LARGE COWS.

He Got Lost in the Crowd at Dallas, Meets
Up With a Number of Old Friends, Twists His Lips Over Good Coffee and Feasts His Eyes on Pretty Lone Star Girls.

MR. EDITOR:—If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will try to give a sketch of my trip to the reunion at Dallas, Texas.

I left home on the 18th of April and landed at Paris on the 20th, without any stop-over. We went from Atlanta to Birmingham, from there to Memphis, from Memphis to Little Rock, from there to Wister, I. T.; there we changed cars to Paris on the Frisco route.

I stopped at Paris until Tuesday, 22nd, with my sister, Mrs. G. O.
Cabiness, whom I had not seen for sixteen years. I found her and all the family doing as well as could be wished, plenty of good grub and everything else. I ran against something there in the shape of grub that I had never met before, they called it red-hot tomolille. You bet it was out of sight. I only ate one dozen.

I also met a number of other friends from South Carolina who opened their doors and wine and dined me like I was a king. They carried me to the opera house and all the other public buildings in the town. They have one of the finest court houses I ever saw, built of native stone. They also have a fine Federal court house.
I think Paris is the prettiest town I ever was in.

The morning of the 22nd I, with a number of the Paris people, left for Dallas. We arrived about 10 o'clock, and there I struck a stump. I never saw such a crowd of people in my life from nowhere and everywhere. I was like a little boy who once went to a country picnic with his Aunt Sib. He got lost and the last time I saw him he was running up and down the road howling. "Oh Aunt Sib, where is Aunt Sib? Uncle Jack come here." So the only thing I could think of was to go to the union depot, board a street car and go to the reunion. I did so. I went to the fair ground and there I found South Carolina headquarters established, where I registered. I then began looking around for the old vets. The first I found was Dock Stacy, from the same company. Well, we hugged and kissed and patted up the ground smartly. I met Capt. Lile McStroup, Lee Goudelock, Alec Lipscomb, Smith Lipscomb, Ship Davis and a great many others. Well boys, it was a reunion indeed. One minute I would be crying and the next howling and laughing and patting the old fellows on the back, hallowing hurrah for Dixie.

Each State had its headquarters and a row of tents stretched just the same as we did in the time of the war.
In the tents were four cots with blankets and pillows for us to stay in if we wished to do so at night. There was also a mess hall where we were fed with plenty of everything good to eat, and the best coffee I ever twisted my lips over. The last day we were to have the buffalo barbecue, but I left on Tuesday, so I never got any buffalo. I saw them all the same.
They were the biggest cows I ever saw, and were in pretty good fix for eating. The signals for meals were the firing of six shots by a cannon.
Whenever the sixth shot was fired we charged the fort, and of all the screeching and packing, running over one another you never saw beat in your life. It made me think of charging the Yankees in time of the war. I charged too, but with a different vim from what I charged Yankees with, I was charging to fill my stomach with good hash and eatables.
We met in a large hall at the fair ground, but it was packed so full I did not enjoy it. When Gen. Gordon was introduced to make his speech, the old rebs went wild and grabbed him and carried him around the house on their shoulders like maniacs.
It took nearly an hour to quiet them.
He then rose and made one of the best speeches I ever heard. We cried, laughed, and had all sorts of times.
I can't tell you half of it. It would take me a week and then I might prevaricate.

Well, to the young men who were not there, you missed the treat of your life, or probably saved your life, for if you had been there you would have run a great risk of losing it, looking at the prettiest sight I ever looked upon, the prettiest and the sweetest girls I ever had the pleasure to behold, the sponors and the maids of honor from every Southern State, besides the other pretty girls who were there. I think Dallas has got the prettiest and the finest lot of girls I ever saw, but they don't look altogether like our South Carolina girls, red and rosy and a little bit swarthy like. The climate makes the difference.

From Dallas I boarded a train on the Texas Pacific railroad running through the prairie lands. Oh my, what a country! Just as far as your eye will let you see the land is as level as a floor, without a tree, a stump, or rock, and the soil as black as stone coal. Corn waist high and as black as a cloud. The cotton half leg high. Wheat and oats all out in head.

When I got back home I felt like the man who had always been loafing around town doing nothing and who went home one night and asked his wife if she had anything to eat. She said, "nothing but a little bread." He said to his wife, "Jane, I am going to change my business." "Why John, what's the matter with you?"
"Oh, I am going to change my business. I want you to dictate me a sign." She dropped her head, raised up and said: "John, the best sign for you is to have a big horn painted on you coming out the little end." So I felt like changing my business.

At Durant I boarded the Katie Flyer and landed in the I. T. Choctaw Nation, at my son's, about three or four hundred miles from Dallas. I stopped with him until my time was up. I will give you a description of the nation later on.

Yours etc.,
I. G. SARRAAT.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is. It's the hardest kind to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season. Take it in hand, right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right.
Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts as cure. Children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H.
Bowles, Groveton, N. H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly." Cherokee Drug

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Hav-iland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discover-ery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr.
King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Cherokee Drug Company. Trial bottles free.

It is learned on good authority that an oil mill will be erected at Lattimore at an early date. Messrs. J. P.
Dellinger and W. T. Calton are the movers in the enterprise and already a large amount of stock has been taken. The mill will be a great benefit to that prosperous and growing section of Cleveland county, and it is hoped that work will begin soon.

The State Librarian announces that the five volumes of the Regimental Histories are now ready for distribution. This work is one of the most valuable of recent years; it was without charge for their services and is probably the most complete account of North Carolina's civil war yet published.

Governor Aycock Tuesday afternoon granted two pardons but they were cases of no general interest.
One was Moses West, serving six months in Franklin for retailing without license and the other was Fletcher Battle, of Nash, serving 12 months in Edgecombe for assault with a deadly weapon. Both are in ill health and about to die and all parties asked the pardons.

The order of Red Men in North Carolina are considering the advithat State. It is suggested that Shelby is an ideal place for the location of such an institution. It is said that Shelby citizens would contribute generously to the establishment of an orphanage there, and Alderman E. M. Beam, a progressive citizen, has already expressed his willingness to give the land for a site. Mr. J. C. Davis of Shelby, attended the meeting of Red Men in Raleigh recently and feels confident that an orphanage will be established in that State soon.

The North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association met in Charlotte at the Central Hotel Tuesday. The meeting was called in order by Dr.

Thos. B. Carroll, of Wilmington, president. A full attendance of enthusiastic veterinarians was present and much determination was manifested, and business for good of the profession and stock owners of the State was transacted. Contagious disease and their control were discussed by Drs. Butler and Friedheim.
Drs. Carroll, Morris and Petty discussed the need of laws regulating the practice of veterinary science and control of diseases and protection of dumb animals in the State.
