TRAGIC DROWNING AT ISLE OF PALMS

A WINNSBORO LAD LOSES HIS LIFE.

William J. Jackson Who Was Drowned the Isle of Palms Was a Cadet at the Charleston Military School.

Winnsboro, May 13.—Thursday evening the sad news reached this place of the death of Cadet Wm. J. Jackson, who by a serious accident, lost his life while in bathing at the Isle of Palms. He and several others were attending a picnic and went in bathing and by venturing too far out, he came in contact with waves and could not manage to get back to the shore. Some of his school mates went to his rescue but could not be fortunate enough to save him, and he was soon drowned. Mr. Jackson was a young man about nineteen years old, just started out in manhood. Last year he won a scholarship to the Charleston Military school which, after a short while he entered, and was said to be getting along fine with his work and was pleased with the place. He was the son of Mrs. M. A. Jackson, of this place. He was liked by his friends and acquaintances very much. His friends and relatives were pleased to know that in a short time he would return home to spend the summer months.

Mrs. Jackson and her youngest son and little daughter went to Columbia last Monday morning to attend the reunion and on a visit to her daughter's, Mrs. Walter Tenant, she leaving only one little fellow at home, and when the telegram was received the news soon spread over town. It being night though the phone lines were used carrying the news to different parts of the county. His death was certainly a shock to the people of this town and surrounding community.

Being some time Thursday night before the body was recovered and in some way not making connection, they did not arrive here with his body until today at 4 o'clock, and at 5 o'clock the funeral took place at the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. J. M. Holyday, assisted by Revs. Henry Stokes and J. L. Freeman.

Mr. Jackson was a member of the Presbyterian church and was a young man that anyone could look at the grave of and tell what his friends thought of him. The flowers were plentiful and beautifully arranged. His father and one brother have gone before him, he leaving to mourn their loss a mother, six brothers and two sisters.

Five cadets came with the corpse to Winnsboro, two of them being the two young men that tried to save him from drowning. Interment took place in the Methodist cemetery.

Mr. Wm. Wylie, an aged gentleman about fifty-five years old, who had been sick for the last three or four years, died at the home of his brother, Mr. H. G. Wylie, last Friday evening. The deceased hasn't any family, as he had lived these many long years single. Funeral took place at 3 o'clock in the Presbyterian church last Saturday evening, Rev. J. M. Holyday conducting the funeral. Summer has opened up again this year with plenty of rain. We hear a good many farmers speaking of how the grass is making such an advance already.

It being some time since your correspondent has been in the country he is unable at present to give any dots as how farmers are getting along with their work.

A good many of Winnsboro's people attended the reunion at Columbia last week. They reported a good crowd and a nice time.

Mr. D. A. Crawford has almost finished his stables back in the same place where his other one was burned some time ago.

Mr. John Hardin, Jr., who for some time has been employed by Coker & Co., of Hartsville, returned to his home a few days ago feeling a little unwell and in a short while was confined to his bed with typhoid fever. He is at this writing a little better, we are glad to say.

Mr. W. R. Rahl and Rev. J. L. Freeman, and Rev. C. W. Hood, of this place, will leave next week to attend the Baptist convention in Richmond, Va., and from there to the exposition.

Rev. J. L. Freeman preached a most excellent sermon at the Methodist church last night, filling his appointment in the union service.

Rev. English Camak filled Rev. Stokes' place at the Methodist church yesterday morning. He was given good attention.

Good luck to The Ledger readers.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric Bitters, bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonic. Guaranteed at Cherokee Drug Co. 50c.

A DENIAL.

Mrs. Mills Retracts a Published Statement.

To the Public:

This may seem a tardy correction, but since application for ball for Mr. Mills in Spartanburg May 4th, I've been waiting for it "all" to be published before making any correction and the Blacksburg Chronicle evidently got it "all" from statements made in their issue of May 10th.

Someone surely has magic in manipulating signatures or reporters suffer a lapse of memory between writing and translating their "short-hand."

Alternation, addition and retraction, seem to be the vogue, so I shall adopt retraction.

Shall enter into no lengthy explanation—the time for that will come—but deem a few words necessary.

The latter part of February past, Mr. Mills and I disagreed over a trifle, becoming quite angry. Hot words ensued and he remarked, "I could not spend his money and talk to him so." I replied "I was ready to go." A few days later I went to friends in Atlanta, intending to work there.

About a week later he followed me bearing the news of Frank Deal's and my intimacy. This was the first time Deal's name was ever mentioned between us, he not knowing Deal whom I had met some years before being married.

After some discussion and his promise to never again mention the circumstance, I agreed to return with him, going to Trough where he was working instead of stopping with his mother, near Clifton, where I had been hearing previously. We were there some six weeks when our little girl was taken ill and I brought her to my mother's at Grover.

During these six weeks, instead of being able to drop this trouble, Mr. Mills became more and more agitated over it, at times becoming delirious, trying to show me, on the wall, persons who had told him these things and laughed him to scorn, while I was in Atlanta. Again he would threaten to put us both out of the way, and demanded my admission of these accusations. Finally, under fear of some fatal harm either to himself or me, and thinking to reconcile and allay the feverish passions that took possession of him, I told him he could believe some parts of it.

He then wrote to the shops in Massachusetts applying for a position there, where we were intending going soon.

These were the conditions when I came to Grover soon to hear of the murder.

Through advice of friends, my sympathy naturally being with Mr. Mills, I signed a statement to be used in applying for ball. Dr. Jekyl never underwent more changes than has this statement in being used and published, so never having held up my right hand nor said "I'll swear" anything, I hereby retract it all and let it remain to be seen what I shall swear, if sworn I must be.

Lola A. Mills.

Which Way?

(Harper's Weekly.)

The story is told of a major who was in command of troops who were in pursuit of some outlaws. In the chase he arrived at a village to discover that he was too late to intercept them, and finally ordered the horses unsaddled and fed.

Now the major's hostler was a son of Ireland, ignorant of everything pertaining to the equestrian art, and, coming in from the village in a state bordering on intoxication, he put the major's saddle on the horse facing to the rear. When the horses were brought up for a fresh start the major, instantly discovered the mistake, demanded the reason for it.

"An' shure," said Pat, a little terrified—"an' shure, major, an' I didn't know which way you was going!"

An explosion followed—the major was satisfied—and Pat escaped punishment.

RAVENNA READING.

Newsy Notes and Personals of a Thriving Community.

Ravenna, May 14.—We have been requested to state in The Ledger that the condition of Miss Irene Foster, now sick at Lynnwood college, N. C., is unchanged. Mrs. J. B. Foster, Miss Irene's mother, is now at the bedside of her sick child eagerly awaiting a change for the better, which we hope will soon take place. The many friends of Miss Foster here wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. E. R. Goforth is suffering with a very sore jaw caused by having a tooth extracted one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mathis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Green and Mrs. Carrie Burgess, all spent last Sunday on the river with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mathis.

Wyatt Goforth, of Jonesville, spent last Sunday evening here with his best girl.

Mrs. J. B. Brown and daughter, Miss Addie, spent last Wednesday in Cowpens.

Miss Pauline Pettit has returned from a pleasant visit to Gaffney.

Misses Bessie, Nannie, Lila and Iler Mathis attended the Macedonia services last Sunday. We had intended to be present but duty to our Baraca class kept us away.

Mr. and Mrs. "Quit" Williams, of Goucher, were Cowpens visitors last Sunday.

M. W. Brown, our leading merchant, attended a cream supper near Spartanburg last Saturday night, remaining in Spartanburg until Sunday afternoon when he returned home, coming by way of Jonesville.

Mr. B. G. L. Pettit has had a slight relapse and is not now doing so well.

George E. Brown, of Jonesville had the misfortune to have his arm broken one day last week. From what we can learn he had some difficulty with a negro who was cursing in his store, and when George attempted to kick him, the negro caught hold of Mr. Brown's foot throwing him violently across a box with the above result.

Mr. J. B. Foster, of Asbury, has been quite sick for several days. It is a most trying time for Mr. Foster now, as his daughter, Miss Irene, is seriously ill at Lynnwood college, N. C., and also another daughter, Miss Margie, at his home. We hope a change for the better will soon come to all these friends of ours.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. R. Goforth, were Cowpens visitors last Tuesday.

There is going to be a big time at Goucher next Sunday and a pleasant time is expected, for something like children's day exercises will be rendered and a rare treat in music will be one of the features of the meeting. Several good speeches will be delivered and we most earnestly request all to come who wish for a good time, as every one has a cordial invitation to be present.

Miss Ella Brown has just returned from a pleasant visit to Gaffney.

Ebb Smith, of Goucher, attended religious services here last Sunday evening.

C. D. Pettit was a Goucher visitor last Sunday.

Mr. K. R. Goforth visited Cowpens last Saturday.

G. A. Bonner, of Pacolet, spent last Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bonner of Goucher.

Mr. M. W. Littlejohn was another Gaffney visitor last Saturday.

Mrs. C. E. Kitchens is spending a few days at Pacolet, the guest of her son, Mr. R. D. Kitchens.

Mrs. J. M. Lipscomb is still unable to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Green and family spent last Sunday at Pacolet, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sparks, who are preparing to move back to Clifton.

Mr. C. L. Lipscomb, of White Plains, was in town last Friday.

Horace Brown has returned to his home at Goucher after spending a few days here with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. L. Pettit.

"Blue Eyes," of Timber Ridge, is proving a good correspondent for The Ledger. We always read the newsy letters from that place, and hope the writer will continue with us to report from Timber Ridge.

"J. L. S." of Wilkinsville, and known by many as "The Sage of Etta Jane," gave The Ledger readers a clean account of the reunion in Columbia. But when it comes to reporting a meeting, "J. L. S." is always there "with the goods," but more readily with his pencil, which he pushes with ease.

Yesterday morning the weather was very severe on cotton, but not cold enough, however, to do any damage. The thermometer stood at 40.

Several of our old soldiers are intending to take in the unveiling of the monument at Jonesville next Friday.

Picnic at Gaston Shoals.

The young people of Buffalo will give a basket picnic at Gaston Shoals Thursday, May the 23rd. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Committee, Mrs. G. G. Oneal, Rev. G. Oneal, Mrs. A. H. Moore, Mrs. Hoyle Porter, Mrs. Joe Mintz, Mrs. Lewis Hopper, Mrs. Jno. Wilson, Misses Belle Sarraff, Vick Mintz, Effie Wylie, Ada Webber, Messrs. A. H. Moore, Hoyle Porter, Joe Mintz, Lewis Hopper, Jno. Wilson, J. C. Webber, Jno. Porter, Chas. Mintz, Val Tommasson.

A NEWSY LETTER FROM WILKINSVILLE.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE OF LOWER CHEROKEE.

Personal Paragraphs Concerning Popular People and Short Items of that Section.

Wilkinsville, May 14.—After a week's sojourn in the city of Columbia your correspondent is again at home in Cherokee county, ready to tell what he saw and heard. But that is impracticable. Neither time nor space will allow this. During the reunion a call for the survivors of the 7th S. C. cavalry was issued to meet at the Confederate monument in front of the State house at 5:30 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday. But at that hour a heavy rain was falling and but few being present, the meeting was adjourned until 3 o'clock p. m. on Thursday when all the survivors of Gar's brigade were requested to meet in the theatre building. Quite a number was present and among them Col. A. C. Haskell, commander of the 7th cavalry. Old times were talked over and many long separated friends met and renewed their acquaintance. Father Time has told a wonderful tale in the last forty-five years. Many, yes, very many, of their comrades have passed over the River that divides time and eternity. But notwithstanding all this, those present had a pleasant time among themselves. And agreed to meet again at each of the succeeding reunions.

As we emerged from the reunion hall on the last night (Thursday) our kind hostess captured our friend and comrade, Rev. F. C. Felmet, and took him to her home where he spent the remainder of the night with us. He left next morning to be present at the memorial exercises at Gilead cemetery near Jonesville Friday afternoon. Your correspondent remained that day and went to Elmwood cemetery that (Friday) afternoon where the graves of the Confederate soldiers were decorated by the children and ladies of Columbia.

Quite a large crowd was in this "city of the dead" that afternoon and the ceremonies were of the most imposing character. When the hour arrived the assembly gathered around the binnacle of the dead and Capt. W. D. Starling called it to order and announced that the proceedings would be opened with prayer by comrade R. H. Jennings, a one-armed Confederate soldier and also our State treasurer, Dr. F. Linn, of the Presbyterian college, after the graves were decorated, read the rules governing the bestowal of crosses of honor when Hon. Robt. W. Shand, in a short, clear and concise manner told those about to receive the crosses the object of these crosses and what they stood for. The roll was called and each applicant stepped forward and his cross was pinned on the lapel of his coat by one of the mourner daughters of Camp Hampton U. D. C.

The congregation then joined in singing "Shall we gather at the river" with cornet accompaniment by Mr. G. M. Kohn. Rev. Mr. Turpin pronounced the benediction and all returned quietly to their respective homes.

During the reunion Commander G. Wash McKown, of Camp Jeffries U. C. veterans, was asked by Mrs. Mattie Gillespie, of Blair, if he knew or could find out what became of Thos. H. Cook, who it seems, was never heard of after some of the battles. If this should come to the notice of some one who can give the desired information, they will confer a favor by writing this lady what they know of such a man. We didn't learn what command he belonged to. But to aid her to find out about him is only a duty we owe to each other as Confederate veterans.

Our inquiry through this correspondence what had become of our comrade, "Bing" Bell of Sumpter, has been answered by Lieut. John Terry. He is dead.

During our visit to Columbia we met Mr. Harvey Thackston, who for many years, was on The Ledger force. He is now with the printing house of Bryan & Co. in that city. He was glad to see us and we to see him. Also, we stumbled into a barber shop and took a shave. The knight of the razor knew us as soon as we entered his shop but we could not remember him as he is among the young men who have grown out of our knowledge, and we had forgotten him. He refused to tell us his name but told us to ask Ed. DeCamp who he was, and he could tell. We got the shave, however, and its up to you, Mr. DeCamp, to say who did the work.

At Rock Hill we called at The Herald office and found the Messrs. Hull, who publish that splendid paper. They are a nice set of boys—all young men and good looking at that. If any (or all) of them should happen to be married we hope their good wives will not think hard of us for saying this, lest they should captivate others of the fair sex. They treated us very kindly and gave us a copy of The Ledger also of The Herald.

After some hindrance on account of rain last week our farmers have got down to work this week. Cotton choppings will begin soon and early planted corn will receive its first plowing.

Many of the forest trees were killed out-right by the cold weather last month. Some are putting on a new crop of leaves and otherwise showing signs of life. The fig trees are generally killed to the ground.

Rev. T. F. Boozer will preach at Salem next Sabbath the 18th at 11 o'clock a. m. The public is invited to attend the services.

The Ladies Memorial association will meet at Salem next Saturday, 18th at 3 o'clock p. m. to decorate the graves of the Confederate soldiers buried there. Hon. J. C. Otts is expected to make an address on the occasion.

The communion meeting at the Hickory Grove A. R. Presbyterian church embraces the fourth Sabbath of this month. We understand that Rev. J. P. Knox, of Columbia, is expected to assist Rev. J. Lee Oates, the pastor, in the meeting.

Mr. Sam J. Strain has been unwell for a few days but he is able to carry his mail.

Mr. Wm. G. Fowler gets along very slowly in regaining his health. He has been sick for about a year.

The Salem Sabbath school will meet next Sabbath at ten o'clock a. m.

Mr. Boyce Whisonant has not well and is at his post again. He came near having a spell of fever.

Rev. Jonah Moorehead, colored, (Blind Jonah) preached to the colored Odd Fellows at Walker's church last Sabbath.

Up to last Saturday night Mr. Jas. G. Garner had ground 1,200 bushels of corn at the Thomson mill since January 1st.

Our friend and comrade Jack Mullinax, who attended the reunion at Columbia last week was disgusted to see some of the old soldiers get "tight." He said he went there to be a gentleman. He thinks a man who can't behave himself in good company ought to stay out of it and we are much of his opinion, too. However, we are glad to say we didn't see any of "our boys" or acquaintances in that fix. They kept as straight as a string, so far as we could see.

At the dinner table on the last day of the reunion several members of Camp Jeffries sat together. When we finished eating one of the fair ladies who waited on us began to apologize by saying that her pitcher of lemonade was out but if we would only wait a moment she would refill it and serve us. On looking round we found that she had already given Thos. Hughey a glass—the last she had. If she thought Thomas was the best looking man in the crowd we have no fight to make and we won't say anything about it for Mrs. Hughey to get hold of for fear she might think that the lady was correct.

When the roll of counties was called at the reunion we were sorry to hear that some of the townships of Cherokee had failed to report the completion of the roll of the men who went to the war from their respective sections. This matter has been on hand a long time and should have been attended to long ago. We hope this will not be the case next year. Only four counties in the State have done their work thoroughly: York, Chester, Lancaster and Sumter.

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

For the Week Ending 8 A. M. May 13, 1907.

No portion of the State received a normal amount of sunshine during the week, the weather having been partly cloudy to cloudy the entire time.

The mean temperature averaged nearly normal, though the last two days were unseasonably cool. The temperature was above normal in the daytime and below normal at night, though the departures from normal were small until Saturday and Sunday when they were marked. The highest temperature was 90 degrees at Blackville on the 6th and at Dillon on the 8th, the lowest was 45 degrees at Greenville on the 13th.

The precipitation averaged much above normal, and was excessive over a number of small areas situated in all portions of the State, though the heaviest rainfall occurred in Barnwell, Hampton and Lexington counties, where the amounts ranged from two and a half inches to over four inches. A hailstorm accompanied by high winds occurred in the western counties on the 8th and did considerable damage; some damage was also noted in the southeastern counties on the same date.

Notes from Timber Ridge.

Timber Ridge, May 15.—The young people of this place met last Sunday afternoon at Timber Ridge school house for the purpose of organizing a Sunday school. J. S. Carter was elected superintendent and C. V. Tate assistant and W. B. Tate secretary. We hope to have a large attendance and the school extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend. The Sunday school will meet every Sunday afternoon at half-past three.

Some of the farmers in our section are chopping out cotton while some few will have to plant some of their crop over.

Mr. Dixon Littlejohn, of Glendale, visited his mother, Mrs. R. M. Littlejohn, of this place, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lipscomb and Mrs. James Allen, of the Corinth section, visited relatives here last Sunday.

Wm. Tate, of Pacolet, visited relatives here last week.

Misses Ila and Ophelia Jamieson, W. B. Tate and your scribe, all visited Miss Virginia Tate Sunday afternoon.

Misses Keziah Belle and Bertie Porter, Mr. B. F. Jamieson and sisters, Misses Ila and Ophelia, Mr. J. S. Carter, C. V. Tate, B. F. and W. B. Tate, Misses Mamie, Olive, Minnie and Irene Tate and your scribe all attended religious services at Corinth last Sunday.

Miss Virginia Tate is still on the decline. She has been very sick for some time.

Some of our farmers seem very much discouraged with the cotton prospects at present. Some of it seems to have died since the recent cold snap.

The county chaingang is doing some good work on the road through here which was needed badly.

M. Shell Littlejohn and M. B. Porter were Gaffney visitors last Sunday.

Rev. T. Owen will preach at Gethsemane next Sunday at 11 o'clock in the morning. His sermons are always forceful and interesting and we hope a good crowd will attend.

Success to The Ledger and all its readers.
