MR. R. H. JENNINGS will be a candinecessary for us to say anything to the people of Fairfield as to who Mr. Jennings is. He has been the Clerk of men and money. Court for this county for several terms and his fidelity and efficiency in the discharge of his duthe apportaining to that office are well known by every and weigh success in an even balance body in the county. As a man he is who is shouting, to-day, in London: pure, most thoroughly hourst and corscientious, courteous ant affable in manners, and these he carries into his | ball street, Pall Mail and Piccadilly, official character, adding to them exactness and efficiency. As a Confederst- soldier none were more loval and braver. He lost an arm in the dotence of the rights of his State whose interests he has always been ready and willing to serve.

It is unnecessary to say in a Fairby a practically unanimous vote, and it is boped that Fairfield's evidence of accepted by other counties as proof most effective modern artillery, would that they will make no mistake in wips away the disgrace of the most reporting like confidence in him.
