KNEW NAPOLEON.

To the Editor of The News and Courier: It would be interesting to know how many South Carolinians were acquainted with Napoleon Bonaparte. We know certainly of two who enjoyed that distinction and they were governors of our State.

Gov. Charles Pinckney was introduced to Napoleon when the mighty conqueror was First Consul of France.

The other Carolinian to whom we allude was Governor Perry Middleton. When a young man he traveled a good deal in Europe. In his "Reminiscences" Governor B. F. Perry says:

"Governor Middleton told me that he was personally acquainted with almost every distinguished man in Europe. He saw Bonaparte in every station which he had filled, from that of general of the interior to the seat on the throne of France."

Perhaps some of your other readers can mention other Carolinians who were acquainted with this marvellous man.

SPLENDID CAREER OF A CHESTERMAN.

Who is to be Legal Adviser to the King of Siam.

The State, 3rd.

The dispatch from Chester announcing yesterday that the Hon. Edward H. Strobel had been appointed legal adviser to the king of Siam was a source of gratification to those who had watched with interest the steady rise of this brilliant South Carolinian who is still a young man. Mr. Strobel has held important positions under the federal government for the past 20 years and in view of his eminent fitness for such positions of learning and responsibility his friends are not surprised at the last honor which has been conferred upon him.

Mr. Strobel is a native of Charleston, but his home has been in Chester since the beginning of the War Between the States, for it was during the time when Charleston was being shelled by the enemy that his mother, accompanied by her son and her daughter, "refugeed" in Chester. The family made their home there after the death of Mr. Strobel which occurred before the end of the war. The elder Mr. Strobel had been a prosperous banker.

Edward Strobel attended the schools in Chester until 1870 when he went to Charleston under the tutelage of a celebrated school master—Sacht-Leban—was prepared for Harvard university.

In the summer of 1873 he passed the entrance examinations with honors and entered Harvard in the celebrated class of 1877, of which the late Governor Russell of Massachusetts was a most distinguished member. Congressman Littauer of New York is another distinguished member of that class. Strobel was very successful in his college career and carried off a number of honors, graduating with much distinction. After finishing his collegiate course he traveled in Europe, beginning the study of law. Returning to Cambridge he graduated from the Harvard law school in the class of 1882.

Mr. Strobel's political career began in 1884, when he was appointed secretary of the legation at Madrid when that embassy was headed by the distinguished Alabamian, Dr. J. L. M. Curry, minister to Spain. In the absence of Dr. Curry, Mr. Strobel frequently acted as charge d'affaires, and won some distinction in his first work in the diplomatic field.

When the Republicans returned to power under President Harrison, Mr. Strobel came back to this country and practiced law in New York city.

On account of his distinguished services at Madrid, Mr. Strobel was made first assistant secretary of state when Cleveland was elected the second time. This was a position of great responsibility, and the honor was a great one for so young a southern man. Later he was appointed minister to Ecuador and subsequently to Chili.

His services in the latter field were of such a character that when the Republicans again came into power and he was relieved of his post in Chili, the people of the latter country joined with the people of the Argentine Republic in asking that Mr. Strobel be kept there as the special commissioner to settle the boundary dispute between the two countries, a dispute which threatened to be followed by serious consequences. He won new laurels in this difficult piece of work.

About that time the trustees of Harvard decided to establish the professorship of international law in the law school with the understanding that the appointee should have had experience in the diplomatic field. Mr. Strobel was considered by the authorities of the university to be the one man among the Harvard graduates who possessed all the qualifications for this hard position. Their selection proved most satisfactory and Mr. Strobel has been a decided success in the chair of international law at this great university.

It may be of interest that Mr. Strobel with all of his "globetrotting" has never gotten married. His sister, Mrs. David Hemphill, is still living in Chester and his cousin, Mrs. W. K. Bachman, is a resident of Columbia. Capt. Wm. A. Courtenay of Newry is also a cousin. Mr. Strobel is proud to claim South Carolina as his native State.

Farmers, Attention

Why raise 7 to 8c cotton when you can as easily raise 12 to 14c cotton? The O. S. Long Staple upland is the cotton you want, as prolific as the short staple varieties, grows well in this latitude, had several acres last year that made 1 bale per acre, easily picked, as the lint is long (1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches) and tenacious, does not "cow lick" like short staple. I give copy of letter shown to editor reporting sale of some of crop: "Boston, Feb. 11, 1903. Sir: We beg to advise sale of 22 bales of your cotton at 13 1/2 cents per pound, less freight to mill. Yours truly, Barry, Thayer & Co." Order quick. Price of seed in two-bushel sacks $2 per bushel f.o.b. Chester, S. C. W. O. GUY, Chester, S. C.
