A CHANGE OF PRONT.

President Cleveland More Amenable to His Obligations to the Democracy in Washington, January 20.—There are indications that the President is preparing for a possible conflict between the legislative and executive departments of the government by a more pliant policy. It is believed that the President now begins to see the vital importance to the success of his administration of the cordial support of his party in Congress. Representatives interested in securing appointments have marked with pleasure a recent change in the manner in which their recommendations have been received by the Executive. Men who have taken umbrage at the cavalier manner the President has formerly treated their requests for office are now received at the White House in a vastly different style.

It is observed by Democratic Congressmen that the quiet desire manifested by the President to make close friends with members of his own party manifested itself about the time trouble was threatened regarding confirmations between the Executive and the Republican majority in the Senate. Mr. Cleveland doubtless appreciates thoroughly the uncaviable position he would occupy with a majority of the Democratic party in the House, as well as a majority of the Republican Senate, arrayed against him.

Death of Gen. Freeman.

A dispatch from Canon City, Colorado, says that Gen. John D. Freeman, who died suddenly in that city at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night of inflammation of the bowels, was attorney general for Mississippi immediately preceeding the war. He was also a member of Congress from that State for two terms, and to his efforts was due the success of the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad. He was the author of "Freeman's Chancert' Reports." Gen. Freeman was a personal friend of the late Vice-President Hendricks, and also of Attorney General Garland. He was at the time of his death a candidate for appointment as United States marshal for Colorado, and his candidature was widely endorsed. He was held in great respect and esteem by the people throughout the State.

ter Payne ... Bayard and the Curtin Em

(Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.) A clique of Ohio Republicans, with he assistance of a few personal enemies of Senator Payne in the Democratic party of that State, are engaged n a desperate effort to produce the impression that his election to the Senate was accomplished through bribery and corruption. The immediate purpose seems to be to force Mr. Payne to rise in his seat in the Senate, deny the charges and ask for a com mittee of investigation. This Mr. Payne has declared he will not do, as he considers the charges, and the source from which they emanate, beneath his notice. The lower house of the Onio Legislature, which is con-rolled by the Republicans, has already authorized a committee of investigation, and it is understood that all the members of the Legislature which elected Mr. Payne, who have been mentioned as receiving a considtion for voting, have positively denied the allegation. The scheme is, however, if Senator Payne cannot be driven into asking for an investigation, to torture the result of the legislative nquisition into suitable shape, and make it the basis of a formal request to the Senate for an examination into the charges by that body. It is alleged that there is precedent for investigation the charges of a demand from the charge of the charge Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, in 1867, numerous members of the State Legislature petitioned the Senate to nvestigate the charges of corruption and bribery in connection with his election, but the Senate Judiciary Committee almost unanimously reported against granting the prayer, on the ground that it was competent for the Legislature itself to make the investigation. In the Cameron case here was no pretense of denial that three Democratic members of the Legislature had been paid so many housand dollars a piece to bolt the Democratic caucus nominee, Colonel Forney, and vote for Simon Cameron, and not of the three ever held up his head afterward. But General Cameron held on to the seat which he had bought, and thought any one extreme-ly verdant who expected him to ask or an investigation.

it would appear as if the severe criticism and denunciation visited upon Secretary Bayard by Governor Curtin and others in connection with the appointment of chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs is devoid of the least cause. It has already been said that it is not usual for a Speaker to consult a cabinet officer concerning committees having familiar relations with his department, but in this case it is now known that Mr. Bayard had nothing to do with the matter. While at the State Department morning Mr. Bayard's attention was called to the statements which have been made about this affair, when he replied that they were absurb. He said: "I did not interfere in any manner with the House committees, and had nothing whatever to do with Mr. Carlisle's appointments. I do not believe that I expressed a preference as to the chair man of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and I certainly did not attempt o defeat Mr. Curtin's reappointment.

A CYCLONE IN CALIFORNIA.

Railroad Cars Blown From the Track .-Houses Blown Down and General Havor Played by the Wind.

One of the severest storms that have ever occurred on the Pucific coast took prace on Sunday and reached its height shortly after noon Thursday. It extended from the northern boundary of Washington Territory to the southern boun dary of California and from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean. There was an almost continuous fall of rain and snow, accompanied by wind

The storm was predicted by the Signal Service, and a cautionary storm signal was displayed by order of Lieu tenant Glassford, from the flag staff of the Work in this city. the Merchants' Exchange building. Owing to this timely notice, many vessels remained in port and escaped the fury of the storm. Although the bay inside the harbor was very rough the passengers on the ferry boat being made seasick—shipping did not suffer. Considerable damage, however, was done throughout the city by the wind and rain. Houses were unroofed flooded and shutters broken. Cars were litted from their tracks by the force of the wind, and a covered wagon was caught up and carried some distance. No loss of life, however, has been reported.

About 1:30 p. m., when the wind was at its highest, the west wall of the Mechanics's Pavilion was blown in and a few minutes about eighty feet of the root of the building was carried across the street damaging the buildings on the opposite side. The damage Washouts have occurred on the Southern road at several places between Mojava and Yuma. They are not Mojava and Yuma. They are not considered serious, and the road will be repaired in three or four days at the furthest. The Meeting in Cincinnati, Led by the Facts of Interest, Gathered from Various Quarters.

Already the meetings in Cincinnati ander the leadership of the Rev. Sam Jones are becoming the leading topic of the sesson and give promise of reducing the most profund religious era ever known in the history of this city. The newspapers frankly admit that he won upon the confidence of the people in his first atterances and that the happy impressions he made are widening and deepening with every service. His open, unstrained manner, his earnest words of sympathy, love and solicitude, and his perfect faith have completely captured for him the hearts of Wisconsin. of all who have heard him. He has at once conquered all the popular prejudices that garbled newspaper account might have engendered. The eager crowds who are thronging Trinity church are not the usual first night's crowds of curiosity seekers. The spirit of religious interest is fully manifested and the situation at this early stage of the meeting is full of glorious promises of success.

The Enquirer said editorially, after giving a few "pointers," that "in his tustle with Satan in Cincinnati, we are decidedly on the side of Sam

The Commercial said of the initial service that "the church was crowdgreat revival."

The Sun said: "Before he had talked five minutes he had that large assemblage at his mercy. He was so frank, so free, so unaffected, the words came in such purity that every one was charmed. Sain James is a wonderful man in his own peculiar way. audience was really impressed and delighted by the wonderful discourse.'

The Evening Telegram says: "Sam Jones opened the Lord's campaign against the devil last night. His attack was vigorous and full of fire. The individual sinners received broad side after broadside. Cincinnati stand a good of reformation and still show Sodom several tricks. We wish

Mr. Jones success."
The Evening Post, in commenting says: "In manner he is perfectly natural. He dresses, looks and talks plainly. You hear no gorgous, high-flown periods from him. His speech is pure English; about seventy-five per cent. of his words are monosyllables, and words, too, have only one meaning. He thinks clearly and logically, and his experience in addressing juries is nowing him good service in aiming straight at the mark."

The Times-Star, quotes the strongest points of the sermon and remarks 'It was extremely entertaining and full of epigrammatic sentences which was thoroughly enjoyed by the listeners."
The Rev. Dr. Joyce, the pastor of Trinity church, says: "These only the largest congregations that have ever attended revival services in this city, within my knowledge, but they are made up of the finest class of Cincinnatians and of people who are seidem reached by the preachers and churches.

The large number of ministers to attendance at each service are evidently interested in the great work and are ready with reponsive "amens. Mr. Jones has filled the appointment up to this time, pioneering the way for the continuous and heavy work ahead. Mr. Small is prepared to go forward with his assignments when reached, and the probabilities are that as no available hall in the city will hold the people double services will be held in separate churches. Every agency will be used that grace pro vides to make this meeting of won

The sermon last Friday night on the demands of the situation and the duty of Christians in Cincinnati in the present emergency, was one of unusual fervor and power. It created a thoughts about their own lives, and daily examples. The effect of the sermon will be great upon the future
