Clay and Buchanan.

Henry Clay used to take especial delight in annoying Mr. Buehanan, who had, he believed, started the report that he had made a bargain with John Quincy Adams by which he seemed the election of the Massachusetts statesman as President, receiving in return the appoint ment of Secretary of State, which had been up to that day a stepping stone to the Presidency. On one occasion, as Mr. Buchanan was defending himself against the charge of disloyalty during the war of 1812, he having been "an old Federalist," to prove his loyalty he stated that he entered a company of volunteers at the time the British attacked Baltimore, or at the time of the battle of North Point, and marched to Baltimore. "True," he said, "he was not in any engagement, as the British had retreated before he got there." Mr. Clay-You marched to Baltimore, though?

Mr. Buchanan-Yes.

Mr. Clay—Armed and equipped? Mr. Buchanan—Yes; anned and equipped.
Mr. Clay—But the British had retreated when you arrived?

Mr. Buchanan—Yes, Mr. Clay—Will the Senator from Pennsylvania be good enough to inform | did damage to the amount of $25,000. us whether the British retreated in consequence of his valiantly marching to the relief of Baltimore, or whether he marched to the ralief of Baltimore in consequence of the British having already retreated?

Among them was the shifting of the enormous guano shed at the South Carollau Railway wharf on Cooper River. The shed is 400 feet long by 60 wide, and is supported on bents which rest on piles. The building contained about 1,500 tons of many at the time of guano at the time of the earthquake, and yet, notwithstanding its great size and weight, the entire structure was shifted a feet 94 inches towards the southeast, thus showing the vast energy manifested by the

Another discovery of interest as show ing the direction of the force, was that the brick easing or well of the gas reservoir on Washington street, although buried in the washington street, atthough buried in the ground, had been forced eight inches towards the southeast and had then recoiled into its original position. The evidence of its displacement was found in an opening or indentation about eight inches wide in the ground, showing where the brick curbing had pressed back the dirt.

Mr. Sloan will continue his observations to-day, operating in the section of country between Rayenel's and Lambs. - News and Courier, 16th.

Casting Glass Like Iron.

Berlin papers copy from the Germanic the account of an important discovery in glass manufacture made by Friedrich Siemens, of Dresden. He has succeeded in casting glass in the same way as metal is cast and obtaining an article corre-sponding to cast metal. This cast glass sponding to cast metal. This east glass is hard, not dearer in production than cast iron, and has the advantage of transparency, so that all flaws can be detected before it is applied to practical use. It will be much less exposed to injury from atmospheric influences than iron. The process of production is not difficult, the chief feature being rapid cooling. The hardiness and resisting cooling. The hardiness and resisting power of this cast glass are so great that The hardiness and resisting experiments are being just now carried out at the Siemers Glass Foundry at Dresden with the purpose of ascertaining whether the material could be employed for rails on railways.—London Times.

The Fall of Martin Irons.

A few months ago Martin Irons was a power in the land. At a nod from him thousands of laborers quit their work. A a stamp of his foot millions trembled When he opened his lips mentcared a revolution. He lead the great strike on the Gould system, and paralyzed the traffic of four great States. For this blatant demagogue a future was predicted. It wa thought that he would crowd Powder! out of his place and become the head of th labor reform movement. All this is at a end. The other day a police officer i Kansas City found a hollow-eyed, haggard shabby set on a street corner. He took him to the station house and locked him up. On the docket the following entry was made: "Martin Irons, drank and dis orderly."-Atlanta Constitution.

Pro'. Cleveland Abbe Predicts a Long Best from Earthquakes.

(From the New York He all) Washington, September 12.—Prof. Cleveland Abbe, who was absent from Washington during the recent earthquake, has returned and has given to your correspondent some interesting views as to th event. He has made a very extensive study of earthquakes and the theories regarding them. His views are outlined as follows:
Prof. Abbe considers the Charleston earthquakes to belong to the same category as that which was so violent at Long Branch on August 10, 1884, and which was felt from Maine to Virginia and westward to Ohio. About one hundred and fifty such earthquakes occurred between 1872 and 1882, and were studied in the article by Prof. Abbe, published in the Herald of August 17, 1884 In this article Prof. Abbe concludes that these shocks originated above the Archaien strata and in the lower portion of the sedimentary deposits—name-ly, from one to five miles below the earth's surface. He holds that there is no reason to believe in a hot fluid interior, but that probably the rocks beneath this portion of the surface of the globe are in a condition of considerable constraint due to several causes—namely, first, the weight of super-incumbent masses; second, the contraction due to slow cooling or the expansion due to warming in case chemical changes are still going on; third, the strain due to bending; and fourth, the strain due to the sle process of crystallization, such as occurs he formation of dikes or masses of gr marble, &c. Under these accumulated strains the rocky strata are perpetually cracking, sliding on each other, resting and again giving way. Every "fault" met with in a mine or quarry means a slight earthquake.

If it were not for the myriads of little If it were not for the myriads of little quakes we should have to do only with greater earthquakes, which would, in fact, be of the nature of terrible paroxysms. When a severe earthquake happens it is usually preceded and followed by numerour slighter quakes, indicating that the strata are gradually being relieved of their strained condition, but that the main relief is found in the main shock.

The distribution of the one hundred and The distribution of the one hundred and fifty Apalachian earthquakes show that mumerically they are least frequent from May to September, but that these are pre-cisely the months when the severer earth-quakes are likely to occur; and, again, that a period of few earthquakes is especially likely to be followed by one or two severe ones that become stronger the longer the period of dearth has existed.

Charleston lies precisely in the region where the earthquakes have been least fre quent for the last fifteen years. According to the study made of the number of cartl quakes already mentioned, the whole cour try is now entitled to a period of rest at least as long as those between the cartle quakes of Boston, in 1755; of New Madrid in 1811, and the present one of 1886—name ly, from fifty-eight to seventy-five years. With regard to earthquake tidal wave there was from the beginning no occasion for fear in the present instance. The waves of 1755 in Uurope and America; that of India, in 1819; that of St. Martin's, November 18, 1855; that of Callao, 1856; Arica, August, 1868, and Conception, Februa 1836; that of Japan, December 23, 1854, a that of Krakatoa, July 1883, all illustrate the general principle that occan waves at tend only such earthquakes as originate under the ocean or on the fauncidate coast. The ocean water must receive a nearly vertical shock in order to start the wave. Shocks that originate under the continent, some distance from the ocean, strike the latter with a nearly horizontal movement, and so far as our records show these appear never to produce severe earth quake ocean waves, at least not in the neighborhood of their origin. If any such wave attended the Charleston earthquake, it would be felt in the Bermudas and Europe rather than on our coast.

Consumers should not confuse our Specific with the numerous imitations, substitutes, potash and mercury mixtures which are gotten up to sell, not on their own merit, but on the merit of our remedy. An imitation is always a fraud and a cheat, and they thrive only as they can steal from the article imitated.

Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed

Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

I have had blood poison for ten years. I know I have taken one hundred bottles of fedule of penalt in that time, but it did me no good. Last summer my face, neck, bedy and limbs were covered with sores, and I could scarcely use my arms on account of rheuratism in my shoulders. I took S. S., and It has done me more good than all other medicines I have taken. My face, body and neck are perfectly clear and clean, and my rheumatism is entirely gone. I weighted 116 pounds when I began the medicine, and I now weigh 152 pounds. My first bottle helped me greatly, and gave me an appetite like a strong man. I would not be without S. S. S. for several times its weight in gold.

One lady from North Carolina writes us that she would like to thank the proprietors on her knees for bringing it to her notice, as in a previous confinement she had two doctors, and they were compelled to use chloform, instruents, etc., and she suffered almost death; but this time she used "MOFILERS FRIEND," and her labor was short, quick and almost like magic. Now why should a woman suffer when she can avoid it?
