LAURENS, S. C., April 24, 1901.

Over the Pasture Fence. W. G. Chaffee has within the last three weeks been appointed Post Mas ter for Aiken, about a two thousand dollar job-a plum not to be grinned at. Chaffee was born a Democrat and until recently lived a Democrat. Chaffee was of a well-known family. John G. Capers prominently connected in this State was appointed as a Democrat to the Attorney General's office at Washington and when McKinley went in Capers did not go out. Last year he campaigned for McKinley in West Vircampaigned for ackiney in West Virginia. Last week he was appointed District Attorney for this State, a little $4,000 place. He goes in in July, Mc-Kinley making the appointment before starting on his six weeks tour towards the setting sun region of our great and growing empire. These two appointments are credited to the influence and inspiration of Johny McLaurin and is in line with the authenticated policy of line with the authenticated policy of McKinley to build up a Republican party at the South out of the socalled old time respectability. It is not surprising that McLaurin who has supported the McKinley policy should tack in this direction. It is future in this State lies in building up such a party and it can, the as an Eng shinan wan's his greg, half water and half strong stuff, or as he choses to call it—'joffy arf and arf.' McLaurin will find and all his following that he must be one all his following that he must be one or the other—Republican or Democrat.

He has been located by shrewd observers all along. That he should secure these fat places for young men of talent is not surprising. A well grown and fatted steer when his own pasture is exhausted leans against the fence of neighboring fields and nibbles at the tempting tufts within his reach. After a while the paessure forces the enclosure and he finds himself up to his girth in the green and juicy neighboring grounds. He is over and like one of Esop's famed animals he presently submits to wear the caller and the release mits to wear the collar and the yoke of the master of that field He calls to the innocent, supple yearings to follow, but as a rule the herd are habituated to old domestic grounds and not in a hurrry to change their grazing. This will be the case in South Carolina and will be the case in South Carolina and we believe in the old Conservative South. A century has passed size South Carolina voted the Republican or Federal ticket. If it be true, as it so appears, that McLaurin is in sympathy with President McLaurin's Southern program, then he is full forthern. ern program, then he is full-feathered as a Republican and must take his stand under Hanna's colors. We confidently expect himself and the yearlings to be lonesome for a long time. McLaurin will find himself fat and frisky and his horns adorned wreaths of roses, but for the butchers stall. If manufacturers and their dependents are counted on, it must be set down that a half century must clapse before the South in any practical sense can reach importance manufacturing. At the lapse of that period she may manufacture a decimal of the thousands of manufactured articles in use in every household and business in this country.

P. S. Since writing the above Senator McLaurin delivered a speech at Charlotte before a commercial club of that little town. We have not space to review and dissect this official declarahat little town. We review and dissect this official tion of his views upon national questions or opening speech in a campaign for re-election to the Senate. It is a pretty speech, and might suit a Boston 4th of July occasion, and might well have been written at the White House, and nodoubt was there read and approved. It is specious, deals in glittering generalities, descends to harmless souhistry, and will fool very few peopolistry, and will fool very few peopolistry.

$100,000, a snug sum, strangely in Julice Fund, will be distributed soon among the countles. itical funeral.

P. S. S. Senator McLaurrin proceeded to Charleston, where he could not resist the blandisments of a News and Courier Reporter. Of Tillman's eriticism among other sugar-coated tidbits, he said:

"It is no new role for Senator Till man. He began his career by abusing and slandering better men. I have naught but contempt for an intellectual bully and snameless pretender masquerading as a statesman, a moral pigmy posing as the champion of hoa-

Senator Tillman was interviewed at Senator Tillman was interviewed at his home, Trenton, on the matter of Senator McLaurin's speech at Charlotte He was savage as a meat axe, as usual. Instead of "carving him as a dish fit for the Gods, he hews him as a careas fit for hounds." We try to be charitable and full of the milk of human kindness and would have preferred that our Senior Senator, let the people. that our Senior Senator let the people of the State take care of the Junior Senator. Besides, we had all gladly forgotten about the little incident of gobbling a great preacher's thanksgiving sermon into a speech in the Senate.

The Yankees vote a high tariff and rely upon what they call a home market. That is, they force the consumer here to use their stuff, keeping out the foreign article. In the meanwhile, Ohio, Iowa, et al. other hoosiers to the production of the construction of the con wit have developed their corn yield to two billion bushels. The South is their main market. But this is too limited a territory, and after a big effort they got a hundred millions into Europe last year, most part into France. But now the French, who want to protect their own wheat and barley, put a big tariff on the corn coming into their country. Every wind that blows, blows good to somebody. These Yankees are smart, but other people are learning. Germany repudidating Western bacon, England Western beef and France Western corn it is but a short state. Western coru it is but a short while and we can keep our corn cribs and smoke houses on the other side the Ohio on four cents cotton. Not to be too sure, however, every farmer should plant corn for two pigs at least.

Eleven gentlemen of Greenville. Eleven gentlemen of Greenville, manufacturers, merchants bankers and preachers in that city invite Senator McLaurin to "address" in that city "the public from my (his) standpoint on certain national issues now before the people." The Senator answers that it gives him pleasure to comply with the request and fixes May 22nd when he will orate. Our readers will readily he will orate. Our readers will readily recognize the sweet kindness of the Senator in consenting to oblige these innocent gentlemen, laboring under blind ignorance of the Senators yiews on "negligible or the state". Congresssman Asbury Latimer returns home to-morrow from a four-lay stay attending to work here for his district. As regards the Charleston exposition the con gressman says that all efforts that were necessary were made last fall when the bill was being formulated. In view of the fact that the appropriation was lost, Congressman Latimer wrote a letter to Secretary James Wilson asking him could be not secure the exhibit, the same that he had promised him (Latimer) last fall. Secretary Wilson a few days ago answered this letter, and it contains good news for Charleston and those who wish to see the Exposition made a success. Secretary Wilson says that if the Exposition company constructs a building and pays freight charges the entire exhibit which was at the Paris fair and which will be at the Buffalo exposition will be sent to the Charleston exposition. This means that Charleston will get the "next best" to having an appropriation, it being of course presumed that the business managers of the exposition will guarantee the construction of the buildings as well as the pro-tection of the exhibit. These exhibits do not include any other than the agricultural. The agricultural exhibit however, is the largest and most entertaining of all the different departments of Ear, Throat and Nose. the government. Congressman

An Old Laurens Soldier Dies.

Mr. Dalrymple was born in the Hopewell neighborhood, some three miles from Martin's Depot (now Goldville) in Laurens County, September 1842. When the South called her sons to arms in defence of her rights, he was among the very first to respond On April 14, 1861, he rendezvoused with his Company, commanded by Capt. Tandy Walker, of the Cross Hill section, at Lightwood Knot Springs, near Columbia, and was mustered into service as a member of Company F, Third South Carolina Volunteers, and was in con-tinuous service, till the close of the war, lacking but five days of four years, a record to which his family and de-scendants may point with becoming pride. He was thrice wounded; first at the battle of Fredericksburg, December 13, 1692, desperately, when his life was despaired of by the surgeons, and twice subsequently.

South, April 9, 1866, and April 9, 1901, terminuted his earthly career.

In August, 1867, he married Miss Alberta Smith, of Laurens, who by the beauty and purity of her life, is an ornament to womanhood, and who with six children—one son and five deauty. six children-one son and five daugh ters survive him.

In 1871 Mr. Dalrymple removed from Laurens to Anderson county, where he settled permanently near Townville, pursuing with marked success the basiness of farming.

His death leaves but one member of his father's family, Mr. Dorsey E. Darlyple, an estimable citizen living at Townville. His father, Jehu Dalrymple, although much past age, volumble.

ple, although much past age, volun-teered at the breaking out of the war and did valiant service in James Battalion and his only other brother, John R. Dalrymp'e lost an arm under Long-street in the East Tennessee campaign. The character of Thomas Jones Dalrymple, well rounded as it was, may be stated in few words. He was an ideal husband and father; he was a good neighbor and steadfast friend; he was a good citizen in all that the term com-prehends; without cant or bigotry he was an earnest Christian, loyal to his church always and in all things. Only a few hours before his departure he spoke calmly and confidently of his readiness for the exchange of worlds, as if conscious that the transaction must come quickly and suddenly.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catrrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby de-stroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testi-monials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
