LAURENS, S. C., Nov. 16, 1904.

The postmasters in South Carolina are not complaining about the election results.

If the trusts bought the Roosevelt majority it is safe to say that the trusts are "busted."

For the first time since 1870 a "boiler" and "independent" has been elected to office in South Carolina. Mr. Walker of Greenville is a record-smasher.

Mr. Walker of Greenville may have been justified in claiming that he was cheated out of the primary nomination in Greenville but two years hence some may cry fraud whether there be fraud or not.

It is to be hoped that the General Assembly will have sufficient intelligence to create two new Judicial Circuits. The population of the State has doubled since the provision for eight Circuits was made. The State is filled with special judges, some of whom are fit and some of whom are unfit.

Under the lawyer candidates who may be members of the General Assembly kill the next bill for additional Circuits the bill will become law. Scores of lawyers fear that in arranging the new Circuits no provision will be made for themselves for Judgeships or So. C. townships. But for this, the new Circuits would probably have been established long ago.

The Results. The election of this man Roosevelt and the triumph of his party is a personal misfortune to us Southern people in three ways especially,—as well as in others.

In the first place, it means a continued high tariff and that means we must pay more for most of the things we buy than they are worth.

In the second, this Roosevelt has no better sense seemingly than to appoint negroes to office. He may do this for the want of sense or he may be a dirty, spiteful fellow. We are not prepared to say which he is. If he does appoint negroes to office here and there, it will make trouble. Southern people will not "stand for it." It makes us feel to contemplate the killing of a poor, old negro politician. We do not approve of the beating or abusing of a negro merely because he may hold an office. But the beatings and bruising and killings will take place whether we approve it or not. There is a town in South Carolina called Lake City and there are many South Carolina towns much like Lake City. We do not like to think of the miserable, nasty trouble that a fool president may cause.

In the third place, we regret that Roosevelt's election will enable a small number of white men who have bartered their allegiance to their kind to hold office in this State.

The Cherokee Vote. Cherokee county voted the dispensary out of the county. The prohibitionists knew that they were voting a tax upon themselves. They understood fully that the laws of South Carolina as now written in the statute books punishes by fine those counties which dare to oppose the Tillman whiskey machine. The Cherokee prohibitionists are honest and earnest in what they profess.

The farmers in South Carolina have always been prohibitionists. They voted for prohibition in 1892. They were promised prohibition if it should have a majority in the special boxes at the primary of 1892. After the general assembly met Senator Tillman, being afraid of prohibition compelled his Legislature to convert the State into a whiskey-selling concern. Senator Tillman has been sustained in his acts, good and bad as a rule. Nevertheless, the people of Cherokee, have, in spite of the Senator's whiskey speech in Geffney, voted the dispensary out of the county. What the Senator will do to the people of Cherokee we do not know. We rather fancy that his dispensary friends will see to it that prohibition has a tough time in Cherokee. It will be easy to distribute samples in Cherokee. It will be worth while to the dispensary gang, backed by many whiskey houses in other States, to endeavor to drown the prohibition sentiment of Cherokee county. We shall not be surprised if "blind tigers" be set up in business throughout Cherokee county.

The hardest task is before the Cherokee people. They have won only the preliminary skirmish against the dispensary. The dispensary will maintain an incessant and insidious attack upon the prohibition forces. The Cherokee people made the first breach in the dispensary wall. The dispensary gang will be quick to see that their institution is threatened and they will resort to every imaginable device to demonstrate that prohibition in Cherokee is a failure.

Every friend of Senator Tillman, if he loves the Senator more than he hates whiskey, should rally around the dispensary at this crisis. The dispensary in at least one county has been whipped out of its boots in a fair fight, notwithstanding that the Senator threw himself into the fight. Tillman and whiskey are a partnership. Tillman will defend whiskey. Whiskey, the dispensary, will defend Tillman.

WHEN YOU HAVE A BAD COUGH, You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectation easy. You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these requirements and is a speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer. For sale by Laurens Drug Co. and Dr. B. F. Fosdy.

Delegated Marvin Wolf. Marvin Wolf, R. F. D. carrier from Alma has been chosen to represent the Laurens County Letter Carriers Association at the State Association which meets in Columbia on Thanksgiving Day.

ONLY MAKES A BAD MATTER WORSE. Perhaps you have never thought of it, but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by a lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old-fashioned pills or a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effect, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a medicine. Try a 25-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Laurens Drug Co. and Dr. B. F. Fosdy.

A Communication. MR. EDITOR: The newspapers are constantly depicting the lawlessness in this country. They seem to dwell only on the taking of human life, losing sight of the fact that "appetite grows by what it feeds upon" and that the greater crimes are only the result of the early spirit of lawlessness being allowed full swing.

Now, Mr. Editor, public sentiment is what makes laws effective, and public sentiment should frown on every kind of legal transgression. We have laws on our statute books today which are entirely disregarded, our people are unwilling that they be repealed, yet no one seems to think any the less of the transgressor.

We have laws on our statute books today which are entirely disregarded, our people are unwilling that they be repealed, yet no one seems to think any the less of the transgressor.

One of the especial matters that has been brought to my attention is that of trespass. The law provides that the landowner may advertise his premises and forbid any person going on same—when such is done then the person who goes upon same without permission is a law breaker; because they do so openly and defiantly does not make them less so. The land owner may not resort to the law, because they and their friends are probably his friends, but does that warrant a person in taking advantage of such relationship and breaking the law? Do they for one moment suppose that a person is going to pay your paper for an advertisement just to see his name in the paper? Do they think they are so much "it" that you can't mean them?

Now, Mr. Editor, very few people are entirely blameless, but young boys especially are very presuming in such matters, and persons who hunt are not always exempt.

"FARMER." Evidently our "Farmer" friend has a grievance, but he is not by himself. The trouble is so many people—white people—fail to see the distinction between public and private property, and some town people come in for a full share of annoyance.—(ED. ADV.)

NO POISON IN CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY. From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poison. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by Laurens Drug Co. and Dr. B. F. Fosdy.

MR. WADE RUN DOWN. Down at Base, N. C. lives a well known plant, F. D. Wade. Says he: "I was run down most to the point of giving up. I took two bottles of King's Iron Bitters and now am as good as ever. I took other tonics but found nothing to compare with King's." So I send guaranteed by Palmetto Drug Co.

Ellis M. Babb of Rabun Creek was in the city Saturday and gave THE ADVERTISER a pleasant call.

Hearts Courageous. HALLIE BY... ERMINIE RIVES. Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY.

The buzz in the room ceased, and all eyes looked at the tawny old nobleman, his features working with wrath. Henry's fingers were tight closed, and Anne's white teeth bit her under lip till a spot of blood came upon it.

All in that room knew the old man. Many loved him. Not a few held him in awe. He was one of the best brave barons who bore his name, for the most part, whether crusaders or poets, men gentle, reckless and mindful of God—men who lived cleanly lives and died commending their souls to Jesus and bequeathing torches and sheep for their funerals. He was a man every inch of him! He named the king's ministers, but he loved the king.

At the leer Foy gave him some half rose angrily, but others, of the lower sort, scented what was coming, slyly winked and smiled behind their palms. "One could scarce be too severe with such a bloody knave, my lord."

"He should rot in Tyburn!" blazed the old man. "Swamp me!" cried Foy with a coarse laugh. "And you, gentlemen, think you was this hangman's cur, this dirty factious scoundrel? Why, Colonel Washington, I faith—turncoat since the French war!"

There were murmurs at this from all sides, even from these Tories, at the trap that had been set, at the wanton affront to a friendship that had been well known throughout the colony since the days when Laurens Washington first brought sweet Anne Fairfax from Belvoir to Mount Vernon.

"Round!" ground Henry between his teeth. A cold hand seemed pressed upon Anne's heart. The stanch old loyalist's face had turned a gray white. He half choked, and his hand went fumbling to the lace at his throat. He was silent for a moment, his great brows together, his fingers on the arm of the chair clasping and unclasping, while Foy sneered audibly in the quiet.

"Not George!" he faltered at length. "Something almost like a dry sob escaped him. He seemed not to see the sneering face before him, now searching about for applause. He turned to the company with a gesture appealing and pathetic.

"Why, gentlemen," he said—"why I've known him since he was sixteen! I remember in '48 when he was a ruddy faced boy and ran my lines for me! The Whigs have misled him, maybe, but he could not take up arms against his king!"

There was a little stir in the place, a sort of waiting silence. Then a young man arose in the back part of the room and bowed gracefully. It was M. Armand, and he held a slender stemmed glass, which he filled. "Messieurs," he said simply, "I am not of your country, nor am I of the allegiance of your king. My country is far away, and it is one that has learned of war to love a soldier and a brave man."

As he spoke Henry's eyes flamed with a great flash of surprise and pleasure. He did not see the white and red changing in his companion's cheek, did not note her uneven breath.
