About Immigration.

make this a white man's country.

We are prone at times to be boastful about our people, our State and our removal of the cotton, finally attacking country. A reasonable amount of such Mr. Coker, jer ing him from the wagon patting of ourselves on the back is ex- and causing him to fall heavily to the cusable. Perhaps it is even beneficial. Nevertheless, we are not the only people in the would.

We have in mind two immigrants who have lived in this town 30 or 40 years or longer. We do not remember a good cause in which they have not king's Wild Cherry and Tar made it years or longer. We do not remember been enlisted. Our county is inhabited by good peoples. The natives will average with the best in the world. Nevertheless, we believe that every thinking men in Laurens will agree with us when we say that if 1000 men of the stamp of J. J. Pluss and L. G. Balle should settle in Laurens county in 1905 the average of our citizenship in intelligence, sobriety, industry, honesty and the other manly virtues would be so distinctly raised that no other county in South Carolina cr in the United States could risk comparison with Laurens.

Moreover, they are not the only immigrants who have been and are valuable cit'zens. We think that the o'der people of Laurens recalling the foreigners who have lived and died in Laurens County within the past half century, will bear wi'ness that hey have as a rule been good men and true.

Law and Order Leagues. The forming of law and order leagues is not an idle proceeding. Nearly two years ago the substant'al people of Saluda county, alarmed at the frequency of homicides, held a meeting. They formed an organization. The resalt has not been as jet to lessen the number of homicides but this year convictions have been frequent in the Courts. Two well-to-do white men who butchered a young merchant are under sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary, one of them for life.

Three young white men who cruelly killed an unoffending negro are under sentercy. When convictions have hecome the rule, when men find that they cannot murder and go free, they will cesse to murder. "Cruel! When you know I would give so much-anything-for an hour with you."

She touched his sleeve lightly. "We shall sit before the fire," she said, "and you shall tell us tales of France and of the life in your own country. 'Tis chill here."

"Mademoiselle, I cannot. I have tryet tonight."
"With beauty? Then will I not de-

"He has the quickest rapier in Virginia. It would be murder." "Mademoiselle, I ask you-would you have me fear?"

"'Tis no question of courage," she went on hurriedly. "Must not I, who saw it, know that? Only you of them all dared to resent it. Monsleur, you are brave."
