Cotton Association Makes Recommendation.

CONSERVATISM WON. Result of the Meeting at Asheville In Which Various Interested Elements

Take a Part. Asheville, N. C., Sept. 7 .- "Your committee, realizing the unusually strong statistical position of cotton, we recommend a minimum price of 11 cents, basis middling uplands, at the home market throughout the cotton belt. E. D. Smith, Chairman; H. Y. Brooke, Secretary.' This action was reached after a four hours' struggle in the minimum price committee's room this afternoon, and mittee and the general committee tonight. It was a contest in which growers, spinners, manufacturers and brokers were involved, and one in which the combined influence of all theses elements was brought into play, in and out of the meetings which preceded tonight's work. After the announcement of the estimate of the crop yield of 1905 and 1906, the fight narrowed down to two factions-one holding out for 10% cents, the other for 11 cents, notwithstanding the fact that an outside element clamored for twelve cents. Some of the growers this afternoon were inclined to the opinion that the unexpectedly short yield crop report would have a tendency to push the minimum to twelve cents, but it was known that these predictions would not be fulfilled when the price committee emerged from its caucus at 6:45 to-night.

"We have labored like a mountain and brought forth a mouse," said one of the perspiring committeemen to the Associated Press correspondent to-"the conservative element at 11 Cents.

At the call of the President, a meetng of the Laurens County Cotton Growers' Association was held in the Court House on Saturday. The Convention was very well attended and here was a spirit of interest in the proceedings from first to last.

Dr. A. C. Fuller, President of the Association, made quite an interesting talk at the beginning of the meeting, discussing at some length the work of the Cotton Association and expressing his gratification with the general results that have been achieved.

The adoption of a resolution endorsing the action of the Southern Cotton ninimum price for the present crop of as much as possible for that price, was one of the important features of the Convention's work.

Those who participated in the discussion of the resolution were Hon. O. P. Goodwin, Judge Thompson, Col. Wharon, J. R. Finley, W. P. Harris, P. M. Pitts and J. N. Leak.

Col. Wharton called attention to the fact that bagging has advanced from 4 3-4 to 7 cents and ties from 85 cents to $1.00. He also brought out the fact that cotton seed were selling for 65 cts. per hundred, a price far too low and he urged the Association to look into these matters with the view of effecting a

Shocking Scandal Leads to a Terrible Tragedy in Saluda --- Prominent

Parties Involved. "SALUDA, S. C., Sept. 9th, '05.—The death of Mr. Joe Ben Coleman on yesterday was caused on account of the discovery by me of intimate relations existing between Mr. Coleman and Mrs.

The above statement was made by State Senator Eugene S. Blease of Saluda, who is now in the custody of the sheriff of Saluda county, having surrendered himself to that officer im mediately after fatally shooting his brother-in-law, Joe Ben Coleman, on the streets just before dark Friday evening last.

Coleman was shot three times and lingered in great agony for several hours, dying at three o'clock Friday night. Although conscious up to the many mills competition has been impaired, if not practically destroyed, and if true, what, if any relief or remedy is available.

It is stated that Senator Blease was not aware of the cause which led to the homicide until the day of the shooting. He learned of incriminating corres-pondence between Coleman and Mrs. blease and at once drove out to the home of his father-in-law, where his wife and little girl had been staying for awhile. Mrs. Blease is said to have admitted enough to convince her husband that his suspicions were correct. Sena tor Blease returned to Saluda and wen tor Blease returned to Saluda and went immediately to the store of Coleman, Webb & Co. Coleman was given an opportunity to fight it out, Blease offering him a pistol with which to defend himself. The pistol was placed upon the counter by the Senator, who was now in a great frenzy, but Cole-man showed no disposition to take up man showed no disposition to take up the challenge. Then Senator Blease deliberately drew a magazine pistol, whereupon H. G. Crouch, brother-inlaw to both men, seized Blease and begged Coleman to get out of the way. Coleman attempted to escape and had passed out the front door and was turnpassed out the Front door and was turn-ing a corner about 50 feet from the store when Blease, who had disca-gaged himself from Crouch, fired upon the fleeing man. The first shot brought Coleman to the pavement. Blease continued to shoot after the man fell, fi ing five or six times in all. Colemar was shot twice through the body. He was removed to the hotel, where he received medical attention. Senator
