

SENATOR TILLMAN GOES ON THE STAND

Comes From Washington to Testify.

GUARDS ARE ON DUTY.

Officers Attend Sessions of Dispensary Investigating Committee in Order to Protect Witnesses.

The committee investigating the affairs of the State Dispensary and which has been holding open sessions in Columbia for the past two weeks decided to summon Senator Tillman from Washington for the purpose of having him testify in reference to a letter written to the Senator by Chief Constable J. R. Fant of Spartanburg in 1901 to the effect that the Dispensary management was full of collusion and rotteness.

The committee wanted Senator Tillman to appear Friday but this evidently did not suit the Senator and he left Washington Monday night for Columbia, sending a telegram ahead to the chairman of the commission, requesting that he be allowed to appear before the Investigating Committee Tuesday afternoon. Of course what the Senator shall have to say will be of the greatest interest and sensational developments are not at all improbable.

The dispensary investigating committee proceeded with Monday its examination of witnesses under guard of half a dozen uniformed police and three plain clothes men, this precaution being taken in view of threats by a director of the state dispensary that if any witness were allowed to testify against his character on the stand he would shoot him down on the spot.

The committee would not say who made the threats, but these threats came direct in the form of a warning from this director to members of the committee.

The incident caused a lot of talk throughout the city of Columbia as the identity of the director is apparent to all, although his name is not officially given.

The examination Monday developed no sensational testimony. General Manager Norton of the Carolina Glass Work resumed the stand. His statements disclosed that since the plant was completed three and a half years ago the concern has paid two ten per cent. and one twenty per cent dividends on a capital of $60,000, as a result of fat contracts with the dispensary.

THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

First Contract About Finished—Two Miles to be Added.

It has been decided to extend the sewerage system which will include nine miles instead of seven, embraced in the original surveys and given under the first contract. This contract is practically finished and work on the second award will proceed at once. The additional two miles survey includes Brooklyn and portions of Main street.

It will be a month or so before the system is complete since it has been determined to extend the lines. Thirty thousand dollars in bonds were voted for a sewerage system last year.

COL. STOBO SIMPSON FOR JUDGE.

He is Said to be a Candidate for the Federal Judgeship.

Washington, Feb. 9.—With the positive statement of Mr. Stobo Simpson of Spartanburg, that he will without doubt become a candidate for the position of judge of the new federal district as soon as the same is created, the premature race for the judgeship is becoming interesting.

Mr. Simpson has been in Washington for a day or two past, and in discussing the question of the federal judgeship, with a Journal representative said: "You may say for me that I will certainly become an applicant for the position of judge of the new federal district—the Western district, if Congress passes the bill creating it. I do not care to say just at this time what influence I will bring to bear in my behalf, except to say that I believe I have some very good endorsements."

Besides what Mr. Simpson said it is known that he came to Washington with the very best kind of endorsements for the judgeship and that some of the most prominent men in the country are lending him their influence in the matter.

With Messrs. Simpson of Spartanburg, and McCullough, of Greenville, as applicants for the place there apparently will be little trouble for the President to choose a good man for the judgeship as either of the two would no doubt fill the place with entire satisfaction.

SPLENDID WATER AND LIGHT PLANT.

Power House Overhauled and New Machinery Installed—Abundant Water Supply—Notable Improvements.

In a short time now the city of Laurens will have a splendidly equipped water and light plant, probably one of the best small plants in the State. Of course both systems have been in operation for several years, but a few months ago the work of improving and extending the service commenced with the result that the plant has been thoroughly overhauled and greatly enlarged.

Something like twenty three thousand dollars have been expended in improving both systems and it will perhaps take two or three thousand more to complete the work in hand and make some contemplated additional improvements and changes.

The power house has been overhauled and enlarged, a commodious brick extension having been added, in which has been installed two new engines of a hundred and fifty and a hundred and twenty-five horse power each, and two large dynamos capable of maintaining seventy five arc and six thousand incandescent lights. The pumping apparatus is also located in this building and is driven by the new engines. Within the past three months fifty odd additional houses have been wired and furnished with light and the entire lighting system is in perfect working order.

The city's water problem has been solved and the supply would now seem to be adequate for all necessary purposes and in any emergency that might arise. The additional supply is brought through an eight inch pipe from Reedy Fork creek, five hundred yards distant, to the big reservoir, located near the power plant, thence to the standpipe. Before passing to the reservoir, whose capacity is two hundred and fifty thousand gallons, the water from the creek is filtered through one of the latest improved and approved filters now in use and when the water finally reaches the reservoir and standpipe it is as clear and drinkable as any reservoir water in the State. The daily capacity of the filter is four hundred and fifty thousand gallons.

Supt. Jas. H. Boyd takes pleasure in explaining the filtering process. He will tell you that thirty tons of sand, pretty white, clean sand, "made to order," comprising five grades, and a million little sieves and strainers are among the principal things used in the "process." Once every twenty-four hours the sand is stirred up and thoroughly washed by the use of a special pump. The filter is now in full operation with very satisfactory results.

The daily supply from the artesian well is a hundred thousand gallons and with the additional facilities for furnishing the city the water question seems to be settled.

SOME JAPANESE CUSTOMS.

Their Way of Doing Many Things That Are Contrary to Ours.

The following is taken from one of Col. Bryan's letters to his paper, The Commoner:

"Every nation has its customs, its way of doing things, and a nation's customs and ways are likely to be peculiar in proportion as the nation is isolated. In Japan, therefore, one would expect to see many strange things, and the expectation is more than realized. In some things their customs are exactly opposite ours. In writing they place their characters in vertical lines and move from right to left, while our letters are arranged on horizontal lines and read from left to right. Their books begin where ours end and end where ours begin. The Japanese carpenters pull the saw and plane toward them, while ours push them from them. The Japanese mounts his steed from the left. Japanese turn to the left, Americans to the right. Japanese write to 'Smith John Mr.' while we say 'Mr. John Smith.' At dinners in Japan wine is served hot and soup cold, and the yard is generally at the back of the house instead of the front. The Japanese wear white for mourning."
