Hailstorm in Greenwood County. One of the severest hail storms on record visited the Epworth section of Greenwood county last Wednesday. The reports from the stricken section are that even the foliage was beat off the trees, all fruits and vegetables were destroyed, and the fields left as bare as a public road. The ruined district is about four miles long and from a mile to two miles in width. The people living in it are left in absolute need, their property destroyed entirely. The loss is estimated at about $25,000. None of it was covered by insurance. Several petitions were sent to the governor's office, but he was powerless to help. He has made an appeal through the daily papers to the people to send aid. This aid may be sent to his office or to any newspaper in the state and it will be forwarded to the unfortunate sufferers.

Another Train Wreck. At midnight Sunday the Pacific Express from New York was wrecked near Hamburg, New York. The train ran into a landslide which the heavy rains had washed upon the track. The engine and baggage car were thrown from the rails and plunged into the Hudson river. The engineer, the fireman, and a baggageman were drowned. The other cars were run together in a wreck and many of the passengers severely injured. A special train carrying relief was immediately sent.

The German government has made new inspection laws which practically exclude all American shipped meat.

THROUGH THE STATE.

Severe rain and hail storms were reported from various parts of the State last Wednesday.

An Anderson man has invented a device to prevent the trolley pole of an electric car from slipping off the wire.

While in bathing last Wednesday at Red Bluff, Fred Scarborough, a nephew of ex-Congressman Scarborough, was drowned.

An election will be held in Anderson August 13 on a proposition to increase the salary of the mayor of that city from $400 to $1,200.

Robert W. Cannon, mayor of Abbeville died Wednesday morning at three o'clock. He was sick a long time and his death was expected.

Work has been begun on the Trenton warehouse. The building will be of sand and cement blocks and the contractors promise that the building shall be ready for the opening of the cotton season.

Advices from the Island of Leyte say that the Pulajanes attacked a column of fifty constabulary and twenty-six regulars, commanded by Capt. George H. McMaster, of the Twenty-fourth infantry, formerly commandant at the Citadel. The fight took place in the thick underwood and lasted thirty minutes.

The mayor of Rock Hill has established the rule of punishing those guilty of carrying "unlawful weapons" by a fine of $100 or 30 days in prison. The South Carolina law permits one to carry artillery not less than twenty inches in length, so it would seem to be a good idea for Rock Hill pistol toters to use shot guns.

The recent attempted hold-up of the street paving work at Spartanburg seems to be a part of a fight that is going on in several cities between the Barber Asphalt Company and Warren Bros. The latter concern is patentee of the "Lithothic" process and is being bitterly fought by the Barber people, who make a pavement which competes with the Warren product.

The State Treasurer has paid warrants in favor of the Bel Roy Distilling Company for $1,500, and in favor of Strauss, Pritz & Co. for $3,000. During the day the Treasurer also paid a warrant for $9,453.98, but curious as it may appear, it stated on its face that it was for "summary drafts." On the back of the warrant was noted that the drafts were for $2,500 and $6,953.98, but the names of the parties in whose favor the money was drawn were not stated.

NEGROES HONOR GEN. JACKSON.

Unveil Handsome Memorial Window in Church at Roanoke.

Roanoke Va., July 29.—A handsome memorial window of Gen. Thomas ("Stonewall") Jackson was unveiled in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church (negro), to-day. The window was erected by the pastor, the Rev. L. L. Downing, the money for its purchase coming wholly from the negroes. The exercises were largely attended by both races, the Confederate camps of Roanoke and Salem, and the chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy of the same place being well represented. The chief addresses were by leading white citizens of Roanoke. Downing's father and mother were members of a Sunday-class of negro slaves taught by Jackson at Lexington before the war, and to-day's exercises marked the realization of an ambition Downing has had since boyhood to pay fitting tribute to the Confederate commander. The picture presented on the window is that of an army camping on the banks of a stream, the inscription underneath being Jackson's last words: "Let us cross over the river and rest in the shade of the trees."

REV. J. L. VASS DEAD.

He Died Suddenly Sunday Night in Greenville County.

Greenville, July 30.—Rev. J. L. Vass, after preaching in the country yesterday, went to the home of a friend to spend the night and died suddenly during the night. He was pastor at Spartanburg for fourteen years and superintendent of the Connie Maxwell orphanage at Greenwood and was one of the best known Baptist preachers of the State.

Third Regiment at Chicamauga.

The Third South Carolina Regiment is in camp at Chicamauga. They went off in holiday spirits and will doubtless enjoy the outing, but at the same time there will be a deal of hard work exacted of them.

Monday a five days' program of instruction began at Camp Chicamauga according to a detailed order issued by Gen. Bubb, commanding. There are in camp besides the regular troops the First Alabama, Third South Carolina and Seventy-first Virginia Regiments.

The first day's work consisted of company instruction by all organizations, including battalion work; and squadron drills were the order for Tuesday. Wednesday the forces will be out in regimental formation and at night will study signals. Thursday will be devoted to practice outpost duty. All of this leads up to the last of the five days when tactical problems are to be solved.
