

HORRIBLE CRIME OF TWO NEGROES

After Being Arrested Admit Having Brutally Murdered an Aged White Lady in Lexington.

Columbia, February, 27.—Two young negroes, giving their names as Brack Toland and Ned Toland, brothers, and their homes as Prosperity, are in the South Carolina penitentiary, held in connection with the brutal murder of Mrs. Ellison yesterday in Lexington...

Mrs. Ellison, while alone in her home, near Cayce's, across the river from Columbia, early yesterday morning, was brutally and foully done to death, her body being thrown into the clothes basket, where it was found several hours later by her husband on his return from town.

The two negroes were arrested on the Columbia, Newberry & Laurens train, which left Columbia late yesterday afternoon, and were put in jail at Newberry, remaining there over night, and being brought to this city this morning.

They later made a full and complete confession at the State penitentiary in the presence of Captains Griffith and Roberts, Corporal Harling and others. The story they told to the officers the day following their arrest was, according to their admission yesterday, connected in the Newberry jail Wednesday night.

They now admit killing Mrs. Ellison and throwing her body into the basket, and then robbing the house of such articles of value as they could find. No inducements of any kind were offered the negroes to make a clean breast of their connection with this dastardly crime.

Yesterday afternoon a gentleman living near Columbia called at the penitentiary and asked to be allowed to look at the smaller of the two negroes, thinking that this one had been employed by him on one occasion.

Griffith sent for Brack Toland, but he proved not to be the boy who had worked for this gentleman. But it seems that Brack was brought before the officers at the psychological moment.

Mr. Harling and S. M. McDill were present, besides the gentleman who had called for the purpose of identifying the negro. Brack said that he wanted to tell the truth about the whole matter.

He said that his brother Ned made him leave home Monday and come with him to Cayce's. They stayed there Monday and Tuesday nights, spending most of their time in the depot at that place.

Brack said that his brother had been there before, but that he had never seen the place before in his life. He said that he saw that at the suggestion of his brother, he and Ned went up to "that house" (meaning Mr. Ellison's), and that they went in and asked for five cents' worth of bread.

The woman paid very little attention to them, and didn't appear to welcome their coming. He says that they then went into the house and Mrs. Ellison spoke up and said something about their "being up to something."

He says that they told her that they were not, but that they just wanted to warm. As soon as they got into the house he caught Mrs. Ellison and his brother knocked her in the head with an ax. They then put her body in the basket, and his brother struck the woman two more blows with the ax afterward.

Brack said that they went through the house, but found no money. They searched the trunk, but no money was in sight. They then proceeded to take what they could get their hands on.

Brack said that he ran to the door one time and looked out to see if anyone were coming, but saw no one. They took a coat, a razor, a watch chain, a woman's jacket, three silk handkerchiefs, a gun and some shells.

They left the house and went towards the woods, and when they discovered that they had a woman's jacket they hid it behind a log and then went on towards Brookland.

They sold the gun in Brookland to the man who went to Newberry to see 'em, Mr. Fox. They then crossed the bridge and took the C., N. & L. train which leaves Columbia at 11:20 and went as far as Irmo, ten miles north of the city.

They got off the train at Irmo and walked up the railroad track to Hilton, nine miles farther, flagging the mixed train which leaves Columbia at 5:20 just before it reached Hilton. They were placed under arrest before reaching Newberry. When they got to the Newberry jail he and his brother talked the matter over at length and made up the story which they told the officers the next day.

The Order of the Eastern Star.

Noted Masons, many of them, have during the last century felt that the work of the Masonic order was incomplete, in that it could not be shared by the women of their families, and that it had become necessary to have some secret signs and other work whereby the women might make themselves known throughout the domain of Masonry as entitled to its protection.

Such an organization was perfected over fifty years ago by the Hon. Robert Morris, of Clarkson, Ky. He took the Star of the East for his guide, the star known in Masonry as the Pentalfa, because by the union of three triangles five points are made, the exact shape of the first letter of the Greek alphabet, and we have the five Alphas, or the Pentalfa. This star leads to the City of the New Jerusalem—"that city not made with hands, eternal in the heavens," and causes us to answer when the question arises, "What is the Order of the Eastern Star?"

"It is a company of select souls who have seen His star in the East and have come to worship, to imitate Him who went about doing good; who have caught in a measure the spirit of love, self-sacrifice and devotion that has illumined the nineteen centuries of history since the wise men followed the star from Arabia to Bethlehem."

Mr. Morris wished the five points of the star to represent five heroines of the Bible—women noted throughout their lives for their deeds of love, devotion and charity, and whose lives were examples worthy of the emulation of the women of all ages.

He searched the Bible through and through. In the Old Testament he found three, in the New Testament two. The first point of the star is Adah, the daughter of Jephtha, who freely sacrificed her life to preserve her father's honor.

Adah types a class of women numbered today by the thousands, women who value honor above everything in life. The second is Ruth, the widow of Mahlon, the son of Naomi.

Ruth left home, friends and kindred and a life of ease to follow Naomi to a land of strangers and a home of poverty and became a humble gleaner in the field of Boaz, because of her devotion to duty. She leads a company of gleaners who are gathering in wealth greater than that of the Rothschilds and Astors, and of more value than rubies and diamonds.

The third point of the star is Esther, the noble Jewish queen who risked life itself to save her people from extermination, and who trod with stately step the royal palaces, having no thought of inferiority on account of lowliness of birth.

The fourth is Martha, the sister of Lazarus and Mary, and through all her life the devoted friend of Jesus, whose mission was one of service in material things to those she loved. The fifth is Electa, or, as John says, "The Elect Lady." The Bible tells us nothing about her, but Masonic tradition teaches that she was the wife of a Grand Master in Masonry, and in her acts of kindness and charity a mother to the surrounding country of Judea.

These are grouped around a central Pentagon, the five sides of which represent five noted Masons of ancient times—Solomon, King of Israel; Hiram, King of Tyre; Zerubabel, who rebuilt the temple; John the Baptist and John the Apostle—showing the Masons that around them are gathered, their wives, daughters, mothers, widows and sisters dependent upon them for protection and support, giving to them the same love and devotion that characterized the five heroines of the Order.

The Order is now very popular all over the United States, and justly so, for its teachings are moral and religious, its deeds charitable and benevolent, and all its works are good. It visits the sick, relieves the hungry and distressed and cares for the widow and orphan. It is the largest and oldest woman's organization in the world, with a membership of nearly 400,000 scattered around the world in many countries and many climes, and wherever one member meets another the bond is recognized that renders people brother and sister in eternal love and friendship.

In many States of the Union the Order of the Eastern Star has built and is maintaining orphan homes of its own, and in others actively assisting the Masonic brother in the building and support of his. In South Carolina it expects to do all it can to help that work that is now being advanced by Masons. That help will necessarily be small at first, but such as it can it will freely give.

The Order is as perfect in its organization as the Ancient Free Masons, its national constitution is patterned after the constitution of the United States, and during the present session of Congress the General Grand Chapter petitions for incorporation. All its rulings are under the care and guidance of the Masters, a brother being always at the left hand of the sister in authority, to advise her upon all subjects on which she needs advice. The possibilities of the work are so great. To visit Chapters in other States, see how perfectly enthused the members are, how the Order is honored and respected as being such a power for good, and such a help to the Masonic brother in his deeds of love and charity, makes one long for the time when such things will be in South Carolina.

Last June a Grand Chapter was organized in South Carolina, with six Chapters in the State. Now there are thirteen—one at Greenwood, Mullins, Marion, Fort Mill, Seneca, Laurens, Georgetown, Saluda, Clio, Clinton, Carlisle, Blacksburg and Van Winkle. These have a membership of about six hundred in good standing and at liberty to visit any Chapter in the world.

Anyone entitled to membership, and wishing to join or to have a Chapter organized, may communicate with H. P. Boggs, Gracer; Mrs. Mary Outz, P. W. G. M., Greenwood; Dr. J. L. Spratt, Grand Secretary, Fort Mill. MRS. MARY P. OUZTS, W. G. M., Greenwood, S. C.

THE STATE'S CRIMINAL RECORD.

Some Startling Facts Pointed Out in the Report of the Attorney General.

A recent letter to the press of the State in which I gave the number of homicides committed in South Carolina during the last six months of 1907 caused a number of papers both in this State and others to ask for a record of the convictions for murder during the same time. A careful study of the report of the attorney general reveals the following facts:

There were tried in South Carolina in 1907 846 cases in which the defendant was charged with murder. Of these 10 defendants were convicted of the charge and sentenced to death; 30 were convicted but were recommended to the mercy of the court which, under the statute, reduced the penalty to a life term in the penitentiary; 44 were convicted of manslaughter or given short terms in the penitentiary or on the county chancings. Besides these there were 15 convictions reported from the Second Judicial Circuit wherein no record of degree of guilt or of sentence was given, and eight in Cherokee and three in Union. The total number of convictions thus was 110.

There were no murder trials in Pickens or Oconee counties. In other counties they were as follows: First Circuit—Berkeley, 6; Georgetown, 5; Dorchester, 20; Orangeburg, 15. Total, 48. Death penalty—Georgetown, 1; Orangeburg, 1; Dorchester, 7; Orangeburg, 6. Total convictions, 21.

Second Circuit—Aiken, 14; Bamberg, 12; Barnwell, 12; Hampton, 2. Total, 40. Convictions 15 but no record of sentences. Third Circuit—Clarendon, 4; Florence, 3 (1 manslaughter); Lee, 6; Sumter, 3; Williamsburg 2 (manslaughter). Total, 18. Death penalty, none. Life term—Sumter, 1; Williamsburg, 2; Clarendon, 1. Short term—Lee, 1; Clarendon, 3; Sumter 1. Total convictions, 9.

Fourth Circuit—Chesterfield, 2; Darlington, 2; Horry, 1; Marlboro, 8; Marion, 4. Total, 17. Death penalty, 1 in Marlboro. Life term—Marlboro, 1. Short terms—Chesterfield, 2; Marlboro, 2; Marion 1. Total convictions, 7.

Fifth Circuit—Edgefield, 10 (1 manslaughter); Kershaw, 6 (2 manslaughter); Lexington, 7 (1 manslaughter); Richland, 11 (3 manslaughter). Total, 34. Death penalty, none. Life term—Richland 1; Edgefield, 1. Short terms—Edgefield, 1; Kershaw, 2. Total convictions, 5 (and 2 in Richland county in which no trials were granted by trial judge).

Sixth Circuit—Chester, 11; Fairfield, 4; Lancaster, 6; York, 9. Total, 30. Death penalty—Chester, 2; Fairfield, 1. Life term—Chester, 3. Short terms—Chester, 5; Lancaster, 3; Fairfield, 1; York 2. Total convictions, 17. (It is worthy of note here that of Chester's 11 cases there were 10 convictions.)

Seventh Circuit—Cherokee, 8; Spartanburg, 8; Union, 6. Total, 22. Death penalty, none. Life term—Spartanburg, 2. Short terms—Spartanburg, 3. Total, 5. (There are no records for Cherokee and Union.)

Eighth Circuit—Abbeville, 6 (2 manslaughter); Greenwood, 4; Laurens, 30 (7 manslaughter); Newberry, 11 (4 manslaughter); Saluda, 11 (4 manslaughter). Total, 63. Death sentence Greenwood, 1. Life term—Laurens, 6; Newberry, 1; Saluda, 2. Short terms—Abbeville, 2; Greenwood, 1; Laurens, 7; Newberry, 4; Saluda, 1. Total convictions, 28.

Ninth Circuit—Beaufort, 1; Colleton, 6 (1 manslaughter); Charleston, 27 (3 manslaughter). Total, 34. Death penalty, none. Life term—Charleston, 2. Short terms—Colleton, 1; Charleston, 3. Total convictions, 6.

Tenth Circuit—Anderson, 17; Greenville, 13; Oconee, none; Pickens, none. Total, 30. Death penalty, none. Life term—Anderson, 6. Short terms—Anderson, 2; Greenville, 5. Total convictions, 13.

I have simply given the figures as compiled by the solicitors for the attorney general. They need no comment further than to say that out of 346 cases tried there were only 110 convictions. Of course it does not follow that the other 236 men were guilty of murder and "got off." But these figures reveal the fact that the taking of a human life in South Carolina is not often considered a crime against society.

One other matter: While of the 346 no less than 49 were convicted by a majority of felonious and wilful murder, 30 of those juries declined to permit the murderers to be executed for their crimes. I have often said that more than 60 per cent. of the people of South Carolina are opposed to capital punishment; 75 per cent. of these juries were.

LOUIS BRISTOW. Under the provisions of the new court Act, passed at the recent session of the Legislature, a session of the criminal court for Laurens is scheduled to be convened Monday, March 9. However, as insufficient time was allowed for drawing the jury, the court will not be held, though it will be called and immediately adjourned.

THE MONUMENT FUND.

Report of the Total Amount Raised for Erecting Confederate Monument.

We are publishing today at the request of Mrs. Robert Bell, president of J. B. Kershaw Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, and chairman of the Central Committee, which is working for the fund to build the Confederate monument, a statement of the funds actually collected and in bank. Some of this money has been sent in by the teachers in the county, some by members of the township monument committees, some by members of the J. B. Kershaw Chapter, and nearly two hundred dollars has been cleared by entertainments. In addition to this sum in hand at least three hundred dollars has been subscribed which has not been paid in and a few collections have been made by members of the committees which owing to bad weather, etc., have not as yet been deposited in bank.

When it is considered that work for the monument fund has been in progress only since last September the progress made is decidedly encouraging. All members of committees are urged to continue active work and teachers who have not as yet responded are asked to do so. There is strong interest felt in the movement to build the monument and the Daughters expect to have a thousand dollars to the good by the first of January, 1909.

In Memory of William Pierce Caine. It is truly sad to chronicle the passing into the Great Beyond of a companion who, like a sheaf of ripe wheat, is gathered into the garner after a well-spent life; but when we come to record that a man has been removed by the "Great I Am" from the temporary tabernacle of his earthly labors into that spiritual building—"That house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens"—while in the prime of manhood and in the midst of increasing usefulness, it is even more so, and peculiarly sad. Truly our life is not measured by fleeting years, but by deeds.

Companion William Pierce Caine was an enthusiastic Mason, and was not only a consistent member of Rising Sun Chapter No. 6, R. A. M., which he faithfully served as secretary from 1902 to 1905, but he was also an earnest worker in the various bodies of our ancient fraternity to which he belonged. Companions mourn the sudden and sad demise of Companion Caine, stricken down in the midst of his labors on December 2, 1907. Therefore it is right that some record of our appreciation of his many character and Masonic worth, of his great zeal and fervency in the work of the Order to which he was so devoted, and of his consistent and courageous conduct in all the varied affairs of life, should be spread upon our Minute Book for those who shall tread the paths that we have all trod. And so the example of Companion Caine's earnest and faithful efforts to apply the principles of Masonry which were so deeply implanted in his heart to his daily life may be looked upon by his companions with pride and pleasure; therefore be it Resolved, by Rising Sun Chapter No. 6, R. A. M., 1st, That in the death of Companion Caine this Chapter has lost one of its most valuable, earnest, and enthusiastic members, and the body of Masonry one of its most devoted patrons.

2d. That, while we bow with submission to Him who has removed our companion from our midst, we deeply and sincerely sympathize with his bereaved family and with those among whom he walked and labored.

3d. That a page in our Minute Book be inscribed to the memory of our deceased companion, and a copy of these Resolutions be suitably engrossed and furnished his family.

4th. That these Resolutions be published in THE ADVERTISER and Laurensville Herald.
