BOYS KILLED RED BIRDS.

Citizens Sees Factory Boys Bringing In Dead Cardinal.

Coming into the city last Friday a good townsman remarked to the reporter that he had, on the road near Watts mills, passed a group of young boys who were returning from a bird hunt.

"Among the birds on their string," said he, "I noticed an English cardinal commonly known as the red bird. To shoot these birds is directly against the law. I have no idea that the boys know it is against the law to kill this bird."

"Well, how can such practices be stopped?" asked the reporter.

"There is no use writing about this; people don't take much notice of written warnings, especially the boys who do such things. The only way is to have them arrested and fined; that will reach them and that is the only way."

The practice of shooting these birds should by all means be stopped; the officers of the law cannot apprehend all violators, unless the citizens lend their aid. Why cannot the Audubon society do some good work along this line?

YOUNG LADY YIELDS TO DEATH.

Miss Lula Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Henderson.

After an illness of about six weeks, Miss Lula, the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Henderson of Mt. Gallagher, passed away at the family home Monday morning, November 8th. On the following day the funeral exercises, conducted by the pastor of the deceased, Rev. G. M. Sexton of Greenville, and the Rev. J. M. Dallas of Ware Shoals, were held at Poplar Springs Baptist church with a large concourse of friends and relatives in attendance.

Miss Henderson was a modest, refined young lady, a consecrated Christian and loved and admired by an extended circle of friends who sincerely regret her death and truly sympathize with the bereaved family.

The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Wilmet Smith and a niece of Mr. Jas. A. Chardy and Mrs. O. B. Simmons, all of this city, and has a large family connection throughout the county.

Sick Headache.

This distressing disease results from a disordered condition of the stomach, and can be cured by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Get free sample at Laurens Drug Company's drugstore and try it.

DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN.

Willie Mc. Langston son of the Late Edgar Langston.

Mr. Willie Mc. Langston, the 18 year old son of the late G. Edgar and Mrs. Ella Watts Langston, died at the home of his uncle, Mr. J. Marvin Langston, near Landford, and was buried in the Landford Methodist Church cemetery on Saturday, Nov. 6. A large company of friends and relatives were present to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of this noble youth who was just verging into manhood's estate when the cycle of death claimed him and bore his spirit to that unknown country.
