

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Grace Simmons delightfully entertained her friends of the Mysterious Twenty-two club at her home, on Ivy avenue. Miss Simmons was assisted in receiving by her sister, Miss Louise Simmons. "Fishing for Hearts" was the game that delighted the guests for the afternoon, an ingenious design of cradles, both hearts and hooks. The hostess served a salad course with coffee. Those present were Mesdames H. Douglas Gray and S. E. Boney, and Misses Kate Wright, Nell Miller, Light Jones, Rosalie Franks, Laura Lee Simpson, of Elberton Ga., Zehne Gray, Daisy Sullivan, Mary Todd, Josie Sullivan, Josephine Fuller and Elizabeth Shell.

Mrs. Clarence E. Gray was hostess on Wednesday morning to a number of friends at Gray's hotel, at a most delightful bridge party. There were four tables of players and when the scores were made up, Mrs. W. D. Ferguson was declared winner of the prize, a dainty lace handkerchief. After cards a salad course with coffee was served. Mrs. Gray's guests were: Mesdames J. J. Adams, J. H. Teague, W. H. Anderson, T. D. Darlington, M. L. Copeland, W. D. Ferguson, J. Adger Smith, Jr., S. E. Boney, C. Featherstone, R. E. Hughes, Dancy Cosby, of Virginia, W. H. Washington, W. E. Lucas, H. K. Aiken, A. D. Gray, Hosea Dean, and Misses Willie Jones and Josie Sullivan.

Miss Josie Sullivan entertained a few friends at bridge at her home on West Main street Saturday evening. Those invited were Misses Gladys Huff Mae Kinlock, of Barnwell, Dorcas Calmes, Nell Miller, Mary Todd, Jennie Stoney, and Harry Bronson, and Messrs F. K. Spatt, J. W. Dunklin, W. G. Lancaster, L. G. Balle, J. A. Simmons, Albert Dial, T. C. Montgomery, B. L. Parkinson and O. E. Anderson.

On Friday evening of this week, Mrs. W. E. Lucas entertained a number of friends, repeating her musical program, "An Evening with Chopin," as rendered two weeks ago; this, after repeated solicitations. The occasion was decidedly one of the events of social importance during the week. As a musician, Mrs. Lucas has no superior in this city, and her interpretation of Chopin's difficult and beautiful compositions is marvellous. Those present declared the program the most artistic ever heard in Laurens.

An announcement of considerable interest in Laurens is that of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lyl Mae Bailey to Mr. DeWitt Marvin Norwood. Invitations to the marriage, which is to be on the second day of December, have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Preston Bee Bailey, parents of the bride-elect. Mr. Bailey is a prominent citizen of the county, residing about three miles from the city; Miss Bailey, his accomplished and beautiful daughter is a graduate of Limestone college, and has a host of friends in various parts of the state.

Mr. Norwood is one of the assistants in the local postoffice, and is unusually popular in this his adopted home. He is originally from Chatham county, North Carolina. The marriage will take place at the home of the bride.

Mrs. H. K. Aiken was twice hostess to a large number of friends on Thursday afternoon and Thursday evening of this week. In the afternoon the members of the Fortnightly social club were entertained at nations, the menu of the club. A salad course, fruit salad, with coffee, was served. Mrs. Aiken being assisted by Mesdames Teague, Anderson, Jones, Clarke and Miss Meng. On both occasions the score cards were beautiful designs, scenes of Yellowstone Park, secured by Mrs. Aiken this summer on her Western trip. In the evening Mrs. Aiken entertained the teachers of the city schools, and their escorts. The game of "Travel" was played with amusement, dice with letters being used, and the guests being allowed to throw in an effort to spell the word "travel." As prizes in this interesting contest, were given two dainty trunks, all ready and packed for travel. Misses Emily Meng and Frances Mae Thames tied for the ladies' prize, Miss Meng winning on the cut, and Messrs Simmons and Medlock tied for the gentlemen's prize, Mr. Simmons winning. Mrs. Aiken's guests for the evening were Misses Tallulah Neville, of Clinton, Harry Bronson, Emily Meng, Bessie Oeatross, Ella Roland, Bessie Barnett, Dorcas Calmes, Jennie Stoney, Laura Barksdale, Mary Simpson, Irene Ray, Frances Mae Thames, Lila Hart, Josephine Fuller and Willie Mae Childress, and Messrs J. A. Simmons, B. L. Parkinson, T. C. Montgomery, B. L. Jones, R. F. Fleming, W. B. Sloan, L. G. Balle, J. W. Dunklin, R. V. Irbey, Earle Wilson, F. K. Spratt, O. E. Anderson, J. E. Medlock, W. G. Lancaster and S. M. Wilkes.

The Wednesday Literary club met with Mrs. Perry A. Simpson on Wednesday afternoon, of this week. The subject for discussion at this meeting was "Pacific Coast Writers," and those discussed were Francis Bret Harte, Joaquin Miller and Helen Hunt Jackson. An interesting sketch of the lives of these three was read by Mrs. Simpson, while selections from their writings were read by Mrs. M. L. Copeland. The ladies were delightfully entertained by a number of piano selections by Mrs. Hosea Dean, niece of Mrs. Simpson. After these features of the afternoon, delightful refreshments were served.

Mrs. W. A. Shands and Mrs. J. W. Copeland, Sr., of Clinton visited the family of Mrs. B. W. Ball Saturday.

Mrs. J. B. Humbert of Princeton, returning from a two weeks' visit to friends and relatives in Newberry and Orangeburg, stopped over in the city for a few days with her son, Mr. H. B. Humbert.

Mrs. William A. Martin left Monday for her home in Charleston, South Carolina, after spending a month with her cousin Mrs. J. J. Pluss. She was surprised and very much pleased to see the many improvements made in Laurens since her last visit a few years ago and was charmed with the many delightful people she met and the many social attentions paid her.
