LAURENS, S. C., OCTOBER 11, 1911.

The Advertiser will be glad to receive the local news of all the communities in the county. Correspondents are requested to sign their name to the contributions. Letters should not be mailed later than Monday morning.

With Clinton, Laurens, Belton and Anderson linked together and with the intervening territory developed, through the medium of a steam or trolley line between these points, a rich country would be opened up and each of the four cities would be mutually benefited to an enormous degree.

With the large number of glass blowers on the streets and with their families coming in on many of the trains, Laurens is taking on an air of growth. The signs now are healthy for a steady improvement in every direction. Confidence in our town and cooperation among ourselves will do wonders. Gassing doesn't count for much.

Some steps ought to be taken to make our new citizens feel at home. They should be given cordial receptions on every hand. They should be shown some real interest other than that of gaining their trade. Our churches, especially, should exert every energy towards making them feel that they are in our thoughts. And then, too, sometimes the best of men go astray when they are allowed to go without that brotherly fellowship being shown which they have a right to expect when in a strange place.

On account of the late hour at which we went to press last night we were forced to leave out several letters of some of our most valued correspondents. A few little "sentiments" which usually find place in this column also found themselves still on the hook when the call sounded to lock the forms. After a very strenuous day we did not feel willing to ask "our boys" to work longer in setting up these things. We hope, however, that our subscribers will feel amply repaid after going through the news columns and the offerings of the merchants.

The Herald has joined with The Advertiser in discussing the feasibility of building a railroad from here to Belton. We are glad to note the cordial spirit which it joined with us on that proposition and now we hope that somebody else besides the newspapers will have something to say on the subject. We would like to hear this question discussed thoroughly. We have often heard this plan suggested as a rather expensive one but it has never been looked into. If anybody has any doubts about the practicability of the plan, let them speak out. Being practical and outspoken is not being backward by any means. Do not be afraid of being called a croaker. Adverse criticism will be better than none at all. Let us have any kind of a discussion to show that we are at least interested.

SEED SELECTION.

To those who are ambitious in the selection of their seed corn we would direct attention to the article in this issue headed "Selection of Seed Corn." At this time, when progressive methods of agriculture are being followed so closely and so successfully, we cannot afford to overlook the most important item in the culture of our crops. An unsound seed is productive of an unsound product. Equally is it true that a sound seed corn will produce, if properly cultivated, a sound ear of corn. The importance of seed selection has been stressed on every hand and at every opportunity by our agricultural leaders and now that every one has become convinced that the sound seed is the first consideration in successful planting, they are now telling us how to get that soundness. The article is a short one and to the point. Just plain common sense throughout.

LAURENS HORSE WINNING.

Proves Sensation at the Winston-Salem Fair, Taking all four Heats of a Brilliant Race.

The Winston-Salem (N. C.) Journal had a great deal complimentary to say about "Linda" a little chestnut mare owned by Mr. G. Pope Irby of this city. The little mare has won several big purses in fast races recently and promises to do even better. Last week she won two races at Roanoke and this week she has won another. In fact she has not been beaten at all since the 26th of September, so says Mr. Irby. Soon after the close of the Winston-Salem meet, Mr. Irby says he will carry her further north and get on the faster tracks, where the purses are larger and where she will be more in her own class.

The following is what the North Carolina paper had to say about the race in particular:

The Races.

The undoubted feature of the whole program yesterday were the races.

$4.50 Horse Won.

Lindy, the pretty little chestnut mare owned by Mr. G. P. Irby, of South Carolina, proved the sensational racer yesterday, winning the three straight heats in the race which she catered. Likewise she won the race Tuesday.

The 2:18 Pace.

Four horses were entered for the second race of the afternoon, this being the 2:18 pace. In the first heat Little Joe took a fine lead and the others followed in one, two, three order, with Little Lindy far in the rear. Before the first half of the first lap was completed Little Lindy had been passed in one, two, three order by Rover Queen and Alice Parrish, but Lindy lagged and everybody wondered what could be the matter with the heroine of the day before.

So the race continued until the last half of the last lap. Then something seemed to whisper to Lindy, her little form took on new life. She sprang forward like the rust of the wind, passed Little Joe, shot by Alice Parrish and reached within two lengths of Rover Queen. Then Lindy seemed to take delight in showing the cheering multitude what was in her. Her little form seemed almost to leave the earth and while the whole grandstand was alive with waving hats and canes and yelling people Lindy sped by Rover Queen just to the niche of time and finished the race as winner with a half length to spare. Time, 2:19 1-2.

Lindy did not lag an instant in the second heat. She took the lead from the sound of the bell and kept it magnificently. It looked as if nothing could pass her. Rover Queen, however, maintained a good second throughout the heat. The only feature of this event was the home-stretch spurt of Little Joe, who had lagged behind until the last half of the last lap. Then he began to take on new life and finished the heat but a neck behind Alice Parrish, the third in the race. Time, 2:17 3-4. The better time in this heat was undoubtedly due to the fact that Lindy set the pace for the whole of the two laps.

In the third and final heat of this race Little Lindy again took the lead with Little Joe following for a whole lap and more a close second. But in the last half of the second lap, Little Joe lost ground and gave his place to Rover Queen, who finished second, Lindy, of course, going under the wire first by two lengths and more. Time 2:18.

2:18 Pace, Purse $300.

Lindy—Cannon 1 1
Rover Queen—Reaves 2 2
Alice Parrish—Shore 3 3
Little Joe—Shartzler 4 4
Time—2:19 1-2; 2:17 3-4; 2:18.

Graustark Coming.

To those who have read George Barr McCutcheon's romantic novel "Graustark," it is all the more pleasing as a play. It makes a strong appeal to the lovers of mock heroics, tells a thrilling story of love and romance and reveals in thrilling scenes dramatic situations. Messrs. Baker & Castle, the producers have selected a competent company and have staged the play with a lavish hand. "Graustark" will be one of the early attractions here.

Lecture on China.

Rev. Homer Owings, a returned missionary, will lecture on China at the Chestnut Ridge Baptist church next Sunday, Oct. 15th. Mr. Owings is an interesting talker and knows his subject thoroughly. Everyone is invited to be present.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by all dealers.

Another Silo.

Among others in the county who have stated that they will build silos within the next few months, is Mr. Ben Copeland, of Renno. Mr. Copeland will most probably build one of brick material, making a structure that will last indefinitely. Considerable interesting is being stirred up now over the matter of forage for cattle in the county and doubtless at an early date a number of these silos will be built.

Lame back is one of the most common firms of muscular rheumatism. A few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment will give relief. For sale by all dealers.

All Day Service.

A notice has been sent to The Advertiser by Rev. B. P. Mitchell to the effect that two services will be held at the Poplar Springs church on the third Sunday. Rev. Mr. Mitchell's entire notice will be published next week.

LAURENS COUNTY MEN DETERMINED TO HOLD

would ever remain in the rut that they are in today. He urged them to put intelligence in their business, band together to hold cotton, build warehouses to hold it in, if necessary form insurance companies to insure it in and then when this was done the farmer could stand up like a man and demand his rights along with the other business men of the world.

Senator Smith said that in the next session of the United States Congress he intended to introduce a bill to require the census department to publish an accurate record of the number of bales being kept in ware houses and mills at the same time that they publish the other cotton reports. He proposed to have such a report gotten out so that the producers of the cotton would know how much cotton is in the hands of the mills just as the mills now are able to judge how much cotton is in the hands of the farmers. In this way, he hopes to place the farmers and spinners on an equal basis as regards actual knowledge of the amount of cotton available.

In closing Senator Smith urged the farmers to stick together in this state and all over the south and, if they did, that victory would crown their efforts. At the close of his speech he was loudly cheered and a vote of thanks was tendered him by the convention.

A number of other men made addresses at the meeting. Mr. B. F. Kelly, vice president of the State Farmers Union, made a stirring appeal to the farmers to stick together. Judge O. G. Thompson, Mr. W. L. Gray and Mr. N. B. Dial were among those from this city who spoke. Mr. Dial suggested that a plan such as the whiskey dealers utilized, be discussed. According to this plan cotton could be placed in bonded warehouses and the certificates carried to the Clerk of Court who would certify as to their being free from any claims and these certificates then would be honored anywhere and money gotten on them. This would aid the farmers in holding their cotton and at the same time allow them to meet their obligation.

Mr. F. P. McGowan offered resolutions thanking Senator Smith for his address to the farmers and Judge Thompson offered one of wide-scope thanking him for his struggle in behalf of the southern farmers. Judge Thompson also offered resolutions thanking Capt. Richey for the use of the Armory.

It was also decided, through a resolution offered by Judge Thompson, to make the organization a permanent body and that the present officers should remain for one year.
