LEGISLATION LIKELY ON HORSE RACING

Next Session of Generally Assembly Will Most Probably Give It Considerable Attention.

Columbia, Nov. 18.—That some sort of legislation with reference to horse racing in South Carolina will be brought up at the next session of the general assembly is practically certain.

From the present condition, it would seem as if South Carolina was to have 130 days of racing with the fastest horses in the United States.

As has already been announced, the meet in Columbia will open on November 30 and the meet in Charleston late in January. The Columbia meet will continue for at least 30 days or longer and the horses are expected to be run in the City by the Sea for 100 days.

During the past several weeks, since the announcement that this state was to have racing, there has been some investigation on the part of attorneys as to the law on horse racing in South Carolina. So far no law has been found to cover the question and it is said that there is no law to prohibit the operation of a race track. Horse races are held at the state fair and at the county fairs each year.

Sentiment in South Carolina is divided on the question, and that it is just the reason that the question will be brought before the general assembly.

Apparently No Law.

It is argued that the promoters of the Charleston track would not expend $250,000 if there was a law against racing. The Columbia promoters say that if the race meet is held in Charleston, then there is no law against the meet here.

Attorney General Lyon has been investigating the question to see, if there is a law against racing or betting on races. He has made no official announcement as to what course he will pursue in the matter. The governor has not yet issued an official statement as to his opinion on the racing question.

The promoters of the racing in this state will not depend on the receipts from the entrance fees for their profit, but will make the profit by selling information to the pools in the larger cities of the country. Preparations are being made by the telegraph companies to run a number of wires to the state fair grounds where the races are to be held.

"Public sentiment seems to have progressed faster than legislation in all sections of the United States with reference to racing," said a well known Columbian today in discussing the situation. This statement was made in discussing the fact that there are few laws on the subject.

Gambling Prohibited.

The section of the act quoted below shows that while gambling on various kinds of games is prohibited with a penalty, yet there is nothing in the law that would suppress racing. The law prohibits the various games enumerated to be played on "race tracks," and yet says nothing of gambling on horse races. This brings about a perplexing question and one that the courts will very probably have to decide.

It is declared by those opposed to racing that the race tracks might be declared a "public nuisance" and then closed up under the injunction. There is certain to be some developments in connection with the situation and the developments will all depend on the next general assembly.

Several score fast horses have already arrived in Columbia and are quartered at the state fair grounds. About 500 horses are expected to arrive in a few days. These horses will be brought by special train from Washington, where they will be assembled from the various tracks now operating in the east.

Section of Code.

The following is Section 506 of the code of laws of South Carolina of 1902, volume 2, which provides a penalty for playing at certain games or betting on the side of those who do play:

"If any person or persons shall play, at any tavern, inn, store for the retail of spirituous liquors, or any house used as a place of gaming, or in any barn, kitchen, stable, or other outhouse, or in any street, highway, open wood, race field or open place, or at any games or games with cards or dice, or at any gaming table commonly called A. B. C., or E. O., or any gaming table known or distinguished by any other letters, or by any figure, or roly poly tables, or at rouge and noir, or at any faro bank under any denomination whatsoever (except the game of billiards, backgammon, bowls, chess, draughts or whist, when there is no betting on the said games), or shall bet on the sides of hands of such as do game—any magistrate may upon view or information or upon oath before him, bind over, to appear at the next court of sessions for the county in which such play shall be carried on, all and singular the said persons or persons, which shall so play or bet, and shall him or them to give good and sufficient security for his or their appearance thereat; and on his or their failure to give such security shall commit him or them to the common jail of said county; and shall also bind over the keeper or keepers of taverns to appear at the ensuing court of sessions; and every person or persons, being convicted thereof shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding 12 months, and shall forfeit a sum not exceeding $500, one-half for the use of the state and the other half for the use of the informer, upon the conviction of such offender; and every person so keeping such tavern shall upon being convicted thereof be imprisoned for a period not exceeding 12 months and forfeit a sum not exceeding $2,000 for each and every offense, one-half thereof for the state and the other half for the use of the informer."

In section 507 the penalty for keeping gaming places as enumerated in the above section upon being convicted is a fine of not more than $500 nor less than $200.
