Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourne, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings, and making weak women strong and well. During this time, thousands of women have written, like Mrs. McPherson, to tell of the really surprising results they obtained by the use of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

Cardui strengthens, builds, restores, and relieves or prevents unnecessary pain and suffering from womanly troubles. If you are a woman, begin taking Cardui, today.

GOVERNMENT TO AID IN CROP MOVEMENT

Treasurer McAdoo Orders Twenty-five to Fifty Millions of Dollars Deposited in Western and Southern Banks to Aid in Moving Crops.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Secretary McAdoo Friday concentrated the efforts of the treasury department upon the collection of information for use in the distribution of the promised twenty-five to fifty million dollars government funds to agricultural regions in the south and west. The relative needs of the various sections where harvests are under way will be canvassed. Treasury officials are confident today that the plan will be effective in relieving prospective tightness of money characteristic of the crop moving season.

Twenty-five to fifty million dollars of government funds will be deposited in the national banks of the south and west at once by Secretary McAdoo to facilitate the movement of crops. Federal, state and municipal bonds and prime commercial paper will be accepted as security for the money, upon which the banks will pay two per cent interest.

The motive of Secretary McAdoo in establishing this new policy is to anticipate the money stringency in the late summer and fall, which invariably accompanies the marketing and movement of crops, especially when the crops are unusually large, as the harvest now beginning forecasts. He intends to take time by the forelock and prevent or minimize the usual tightness of money. In a statement Thursday night the secretary made the significant answer that government bonds would be accepted at par as security for the new deposits and that the additional money would be placed only with banks which have taken out at least forty per cent of their authorized circulation.

United States two per cent bond, serving as security for most of the national bank circulation, have been depressed recently to new low market records, dropping to 95 3/4 during the past few days. The secretary's willingness to accept these bonds at par as security for the twenty-five to fifty millions of promised deposits and the inducement to the national banks to increase their circulation up to the forty per cent limit is expected to help in restoring the parity of the depressed 2's, by creating a new market for them.

To Make Deposits Available.
For the first time in history the government will accept prime commercial paper as security for deposits. This privilege will be granted, announced the secretary, in order to make these special deposits available to the banks on securities readily within their reach.

"The commercial paper submitted," added Mr. McAdoo, "shall first be passed upon and approved by the clearing house committees of the cities in which the banks offering such paper may be located. All commercial paper and bonds must finally be passed upon and accepted by the secretary."

Approved commercial paper will be accepted as security for the deposits at 65 per cent of its face value and high class state, municipal and other bonds, exclusive of government bonds, at 75 per cent of their market value.

The additional deposits will be placed with the national banks in the two or three principal cities in each of the states where harvesting now is in progress and where the demands for money for moving the crops most conveniently can be met. The secretary said it would not be practicable to scatter the deposits among the smaller cities, especially in view of the character of securities necessary.

The banks will be repaid to return the money to the public treasury when the crops have been moved. The present suggestion Mr. McAdoo said is that 14 per cent be repaid in December, 30 per cent in January, 30 per cent in February and 25 per cent in March next.

To be Promptly Available.
"Steps are now being taken to carry out the plan," added the secretary, "so that the funds may be promptly available for the movement of crops." Names of the banks to receive the deposits and other details of the arrangement will be announced later.

This new policy is the antithesis of that adopted by former secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, who a year ago declined to make government deposits to relieve the tight money market on the ground that the moderate surplus of federal funds at that time should be held as a reserve to be utilized at some possible critical stage.

With the net balance in the general fund today amounting to nearly $132,000,000 Secretary McAdoo has taken the stand that the government should anticipate the situation by placing deposits where and at the time they are needed.

If the full $50,000,000 is deposited this step will temporarily almost double the government's deposits with the banks which now hold $28,000,000 of federal funds.

Just as Secretary McAdoo was announcing his plan Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, was issuing a statement declaring that unless congress acted quickly to provide an emergency currency the cotton planter of the south would lose a hundred million dollars through inability to get money to move their crops.
