MEMBERS OF MOB TO BE PROSECUTED

Individuals who Assisted in the Storming of Spartanburg Jail Indicted by Grand Jury.

Spartanburg, Nov. 21.—Four alleged members of the mob who on the night of August 18th last dynamited the Spartanburg county jail in an effort to lynch Will Fair, a negro accused of assaulting a white woman not guilty, will be prosecuted. The grand jury urged Solicitor Albert E. Hill to institute criminal proceedings against the men and such other members of the lynching mob as may be apprehended. The accused members are W. R. Belcher, Jesse Wolfe, Robert Wilson and Robert Ward, and the grand jury presents them in the following language:

"After careful investigation into the assault on the jail on the night of August 18, 1913, we find that certain parties, utterly disregarding the lives of the officers and the county property, did make an assault on the jail, with the intent of taking the life of Will Fair. We present to the court W. R. Belcher, Jesse Wolfe, Bob Wilson and Robert Ward, and ask our solicitor to prosecute them."

Solicitor Hill wasted no time after the presentment was issued. At his request Judge DeVore issued bench warrants for the arrest of the four men.

The grand jury's action, which is without precedent in this county, came like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. The excitement attending the arrest of Fair, the attempted lynching, the trial and the negro's acquittal had long since died down and the whole affair was regarded as a closed incident. There has been some talk a month or two ago of a grand jury investigation of the near-lynching but after that body in its report at the July term of court merely thanked Sheriff W. J. White for upholding the majesty of the law by holding the mob at bay, it was supposed that nothing more would be done. In the meanwhile, however, detectives have been at work, it is reported, and they did not conclude their investigation until recently. W. G. Query, foreman of the grand jury, declined today, however, to divulge the method of procedure adopted in the search for the identity of the members of the mob. He explained that to make this public might interfere with the apprehension of other members of the mob whose names are yet unknown. It was announced that further developments were expected and as the necessary evidence is secured by the grand jury additional men will be presented.

Nothing certain had been learned up to late Thursday as to the vocations and residences of the four accused men, but Ward is thought to be an employee of the telephone company and one or more of the others are said to be mill workers.

The grand jury's move startled Spartanburg and has given delight to opponents of lynching.

The negro Fair, it will be remembered, was accused by a young woman of near White Stone, the wife of a farmer, of having assaulted her in her home in the absence of all other members of her family. Though she persisted in her story when Fair was brought to trial, the preponderance of the evidence was that it was a hallucination on her part. Physicians who examined her testified that they could find no evidence that she had been assaulted, and many negro witnesses testified that while Fair passed the woman's house he did not enter. Nevertheless Fair's acquittal in the face of the young woman's unequivocal accusation was regarded as epoch-making.

After the unsuccessful attempt to lynch Fair he was carried to the state penitentiary at Columbia for safe keeping and held there until a couple of days before his trial.

STOPPED HIS OWN FUNERAL.

Supposed Dead Man Walks in Just Before Funeral.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 21.—While relatives and friends surrounded a coffin in which lay the body of a young man identified as John Thompson, a victim of the recent storm on the Great Lakes, the real John Thompson rapped at the door and was admitted to the house. His mother collapsed and was made seriously ill.

Young Thompson's father did not know on what boat his son was employed and when he read of the finding of the body of a John Thompson, fireman on the lost steamer Carruthers, he went to Kettle Point and identified it as that of his son.

The body was shipped to the parents' home in this city and preparation were being made for the funeral when the young man suddenly returned very much alive. He explained he had been in Montreal during the great storm and had just heard of his reported death.

Before going to his home Thompson stopped at a hotel conducted by James Duffy. Duffy who had been at the Thompson home and seen the body there, fell in a faint, thinking he had seen a ghost.
