ANOTHER LETTER

From the Youngest Contestant and His Proposition.

It has been several weeks since wrote the Advertiser subscribers a letter, but I have not been idle by any means. Mother continues to work hard for the automobile, and she makes a report to us at home about twice a week. She has begun a campaign of making some central point head-quarters and work out from there each day returning for the night. Therefore, this accounts for her report home only about twice a week. When she reports though, it is worth reading.

Occasionally she is notified by a subscriber that he had a letter from so and so asking for his subscription. and she immediately notifies him that she could easily have done the same thing, but she knew from experience that letters by mail did not assist much in such a contest as we are having, and too, she thought inasmuch as the subscribers had no personal preference they should give their subscriptions to the contestant who valued his subscription enough to come in person and ask for it. And what do you reckon happens-she gets his subscription. The subscriber rightfully feels that he has met the situation on a fair basis

My Proposition.

Now, in order to give the subscribers a just ground for holding their subscriptions for Mother, I want to give you my proposition.

If I win the automobile, I propose to take the next three highest contestants who do not win any of the prizes on a trip to Greenville in my new car and entertain them to a real nice dinner at the Ottaray Hotel, all expenses paid, and if there is a good opera on hand that night we will go to it, returning home that night, all

You say! -- How can you afford such an inviting proposition? My answer is -1 am counting on your holding your subscription for Mother, and by doing so you not only aid me in getting the car, but you will aid in making happy three deserving confestants who have failed to secure one of the prizes.

Now, if you think that a fair proposition, kindly notify the other contestants that you are waiting for Mrs. Moorhead, as she is anxious to share my support with some others.

Some subscribers have asked Mother to have my picture put in the paper, and she has promised to do this, but not until I am the winner of the automobile. You see I am such a small boy Mother cannot take me about with her, as these hog-killing mornings are a little too severe for me.

If Mother fails to see you (which she does not intend to be the case if possible), won't you kindly send your subscription to The Advertiser office and direct them to place your votes to my credit? If you do this kindly notify me by postal card, as I wish to keep account jsut how many are will- eye. ing and anxious to assist in the joys of the three contestants who will not win any of the nice prizes.

By the way-My grandpa is helping me in this contest, and if he asks you for a subscription give it to him quick. His name is George Hopkins and weighs something less than 300 pounds.

With kind regards, Adv.-Wm. Hopkins Moorhead.

ISENHOWER CASE

nterest Manifested in Trial at York. Judge Rice Presides. Generally Believed that Defendants will be Tried Separately.

AT YORK COURT HOUSE

York, Dec. 6 .- With all plans comlete and court officials in readiness, he greatest interest is manifested toight all over York county in the trial f the cases resulting from the Winnsboro tragedy. Court will convene here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with Judge Hayne F. Rice presiding, and the first case called will be that of Ernest Isenhower, Jesse Morrison and im Rawls, charged with the murder of Sheriff A. D. Hood of Faireld county, his deputy sheriff, Raleigh Boulware, and Jules Smith, a negro in the custody of the law at the time of the shooting.

This is expected to be one of the most sensational cases ever heard in South Carolina. It is remembered that the sheriff and his deputies were about to carry their negro prisoner up the steps of the Fairfield county court house, where court of general sessions was sitting, when the shooting

Albert E. Hill of Spartanburg, solicitor of the seventh judicial circuit, arrived in York tonight to assist Solicitor Henry of this circuit in the prosecution, and Thomas F. McDow of the York bar has also been retained for the prosecution. C. L. Blease of Columbia, Wilson Hanahan of Winnsboro, A. L. Gaston of Chester and John R. Hart of the York bar will appear for the various defendants.

Ernest Isenhower is under three separate Indictments for muiller. charged with killing Hood, Boulware and the negro, while Morrison and Rawls are under indictments charging them with shooting Sheriff Hood and Smith, the negro.

It is generally believed here that the defendants will be tried separately, although no announcement has been made to that effect.

it is said that as quickly as all seats in the court house are filled, Judge Rice intends having the sheriff to lock all doors and permit no one to enter or leave the building. This precaution is taken to prevent any possibility of a repetition of the Fairfield county happening.
