Mystifying Chemical Trick.
A plain blue handkerchief is shown to the audience. When the handkerchief is warmed it turns white and when cooled resumes its former color. Make a starch paste and add enough water to the paste to thin it. Then add sufficient tincture of iodine to color the liquid blue. A few drops will be enough. Dye a white handkerchief with this blue liquid, and when the handkerchief is dry it is ready for the trick.—Popular Science Monthly.

Wedding Thursday Night.
The Mock Wedding, with Miss Tee El Timmerman and Master R. Fleming Jones as the chief conspirators, will be put across the plate at the graded school building tomorrow evening, beginning at 8:30, if all the bridal party is present at that time. Judging from reports emanating from unbiased sources, the ceremony is going to be some swell affair and the price is going to be but ten and fifteen cents.

As is already known the entertainment is being given to raise funds for the war-stricken Belgians and the ladies promoting it are expecting a large number of people to come out and enjoy the fun and aid in the cause. In addition to the mock wedding a musical program will be rendered.

Franks-Anderson.
Social interest is centered today in the wedding ceremony to be performed in the First Baptist church at high noon, when Miss Rosalie Franks and Mr. Osie Anderson will be married. The church has been artistically decorated for the occasion and it is expected that the scene will be one of rare beauty and charm.

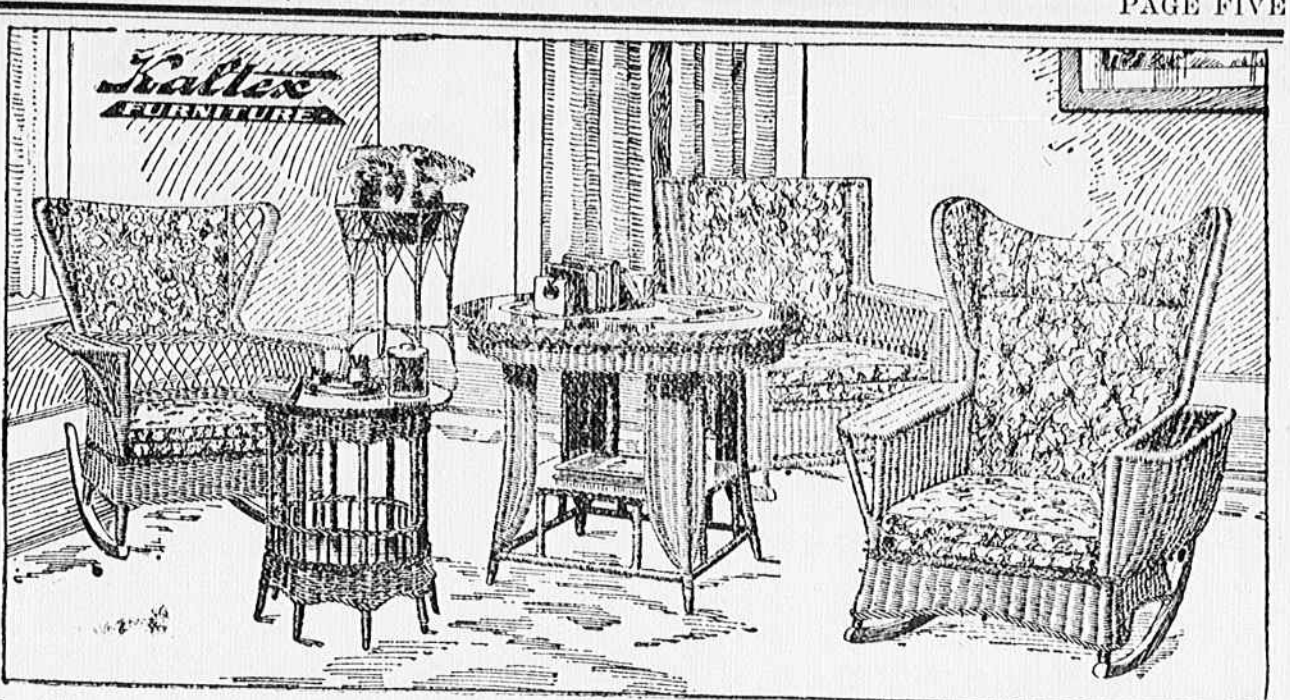

The out-of-town guests for the wedding are Miss Emmie Robertson, Clinton; Miss Frances Burgess, Crawfordville, Ga.; Mrs. S. A. Gaines, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. R. L. R. Bentz and Miss Hattie Bentz, Greenville; Mrs. J. L. Crawford, Clinton; Miss Rucia Wolff, Gray Court; Mrs. R. B. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Davis, of Spartanburg; Mrs. Sterling Stoudenmire, Sumter; Mrs. J. H. Maxwell, Elberton, Ga.

Brown-Byrd.
On Wednesday evening, June 7th, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sallie C. Brown, was solemnized the marriage of Miss Vinnie Brown and Rev. Robert Downs Byrd of Lexington, Va. The hall where the ceremony was performed was tastefully decorated with Southern smilax and daisies, and lighted tapers cast a soft radiance over the scene.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, rendered by Miss Margaret Byrd, the bridal party entered the hall. First came Miss Mary Brown, sister of the bride, dressed in blue crepe de chine and carrying pink carnations tied with pink tulle. She was followed by the dame of honor, Mrs. Wilson C. Brown, Jr., who wore her wedding dress of white charmeuse, with pearl trimmings and chiffon draperies; her bouquet was pink carnations, tied with pink tulle. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Ola Brown, another sister of the bride; she was daintily attired in a lovely dress of pink chiffon over taffeta, and carried white carnations. Then came the ring-bearers, little Mary Renwick and Williamson Brown, carrying the ring on a silver tray. Next came the groom and his best man, Mr. Lady Blakely. Just preceding the bride came little Helen Brown and Albert McCaughrin, scattering flowers in the pathway of the bride. The bride entered with her brother, Mr. W. T. Brown, by whom she was given in marriage. She was becomingly dressed in a lovely gown of white satin with lace over draperies. Her bouquet was bride's roses and ferns. The young couple stood beneath an interlocked heart of daisies and tulle, and took their marriage vows, Rev. J. W. Carson, assisted by Rev. I. N. Kennedy of Ora, officiating.

After the congratulations, the bridal party and their friends repaired to the dining-room, where a salad course, cream and cake and minths were served by a bevy of young girls. The bride's table, which occupied the centre of the room, was spread with a beautiful Chinese drawnwork piece having as a centerpiece a cutglass vase filled with carnations and ferns, reflecting its beauty in a circular mirror on which it stood.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Brown, and is a graduate of the Woman's college of Due west. The groom is a popular young minister of the A. R. P. church at Lexington, Va. Some of the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. T. C. Byrd, mother of the groom; his sisters, Misses Bessie and Margaret Byrd; his brothers, Messrs William and Samuel Byrd; Messrs

A Beam and a Mot.
The Columbia Record is crying because some bad papers are saying things about Governor Manning. It asserts that none of the Governor's friends are saying anything against Mr. Cooper.

How about the statement that Cooper will receive 15,000 votes in the State.

How about the publication of that as a news item?

How about the statement that Cooper would get no votes in the Jones section where he was "born and bred?" And the publication thereof?

How about the attempt to make the people believe the race is between Manning and Blaise?

It makes some difference whether the ox which is gored belongs to "our set".

Brethren, if you can't win sitting down, stand up and deal, and if you can't win then, die game. Let's not have any sniffling in the pit.—Abbeville Press and Banner.
