If Cross, feverish, sick, bilious, give fruit laxative at once.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue Mother! When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomachache, diarrhea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers love "California Syrup of Figs," handy, they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. ## AMERICAN FLAG FLIES OVER FLEET OF ALLIED NAVIES

Vice Admiral Sims Appointed to Command Allied Naval Forces in Irish Waters During Absence of Commander. Great Responsibilities Placed on his Shoulders.

Washington, June 19.—A brief message from London today brought the navy department its first news of the appointment of Vice Admiral Sims to command the allied naval forces in Irish waters during the absence of the commander of that district. The department had no other information as to the new responsibilities placed on the American officer.

The Washington government has given Admiral Sims wide powers to enable him to meet any situation that may arise. Because of the distance from Washington to the scene of operations, no effort was made to hamper the officer with requirements that he report for orders. The admiral has full authority to act on his own initiative in disposing the forces at his command so as to secure the greatest co-operation with the French and British navies and also the maximum efficiency in the battle against German submarines.

Much of his time has been spent in London and Paris and today's advices are the first to indicate that having been at sea with his ships, it was said at the department, however, that the officer determined for himself the best course to pursue and would spend all his time abroad if he regarded that as advisable.

The statement that Admiral Sims had hoisted his flag as senior allied naval officer, in Irish waters, led to much speculation as to what American warship he might be using as a flagship, as presumably he would hoist his flag only aboard an American vessel. The only facts disclosed by the department as to vessels now in European waters have been that destroyers have been sent to British ports and the naval cruiser Jupiter to a French port with supplies.

Tremendous responsibilities have been placed on Admiral Sims' shoulders. The tale or torpedo ships in Irish waters is an often repeated one. It has been said that even without the American vessels, the British have had thousands of destroyers, submarine chasers of all sizes and kinds, mine sweepers, aircraft and every other known method of combatting submarines posted in these waters in the effort to keep open the shipping lanes.

All of these forces are now under Admiral Sims. On him, also, rests probably the duty of arranging for the arrival and departure of commercial vessels, both trans-Atlantic and coastwise, that ply Irish waters. The British admiralty exercises rigid control over all ship movements and no vessel leaves port until the naval commander renews the seas free of the enemy.

In some quarters it was pointed out that the announcement that the American officer had been placed, even temporarily, in command of British forces greatly superior to those under the American flag in those waters, might have a political effect in Ireland, where the situation is turbulent with the approach of the Irish convention period. It might tend to show beyond question, it was suggested, that the British and American governments were in perfect accord.

A large number of scholarships are available. Graduates of colleges in this state receive free tuition in all courses except to the school of law. For full particulars write to
