

Ugh! Calomel Sickens; Salivates! Please Try Dodson's Liver Tonic

I am sincere! My medicine does not upset liver and bowels so you lose a day's work.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children as well.

IT IS HOT

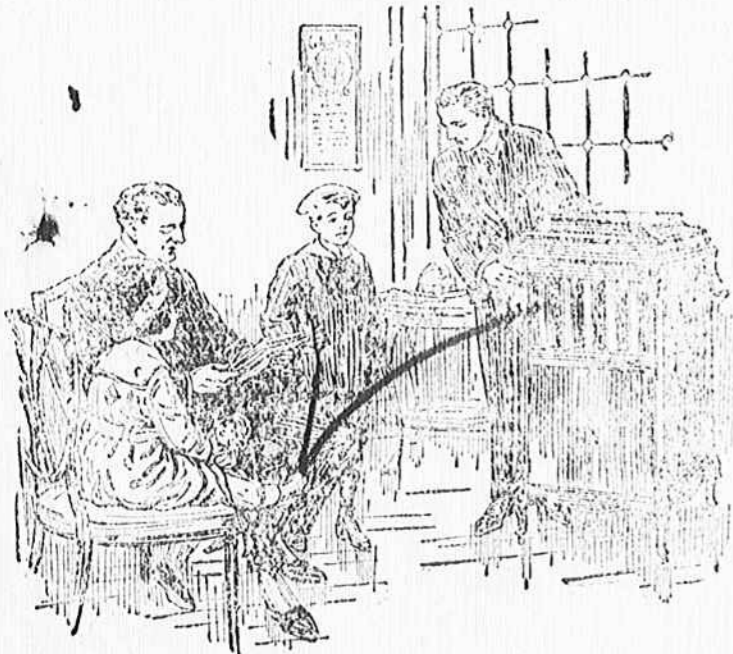

This is an expression heard without a dissenting voice. To fret and worry will only add to your discomfort. It is but a repetition of past seasons.

We suggest to apply the scissors and needle on some of these nice sheer fabrics either in colored or white: Linen, Batiste, Dotted Swiss or other light weight textures. The wearing of the same will relieve the situation.

Jelly Making.

A good jelly should be bright, of good color and clear. When removed from the glass it should retain the shape of the mold, should sparkle and be tender enough to quiver without breaking.

The best fruits for jelly making contain pectin and acid. Pectin, the fundamental jelly-making substance, does not exist in some fruits in sufficient amount to make jelly without the addition of pectin from some other source. The peach, strawberry and cherry contain acid but are lacking in pectin. The pear and quince contain pectin but are lacking in acid. The grape, apple, crabapple, blackberry and currant are best suited for making jelly.

Extracting the juice, the fruit should be cooked until tender, a small quantity of water being added to help extract the juice. As soon as the fruit is tender the liquid should be squeezed through a cheese-cloth and then allowed to drip without pressure, through a flannel jelly bag. Overcooking of the fruit is apt to result in a cloudy jelly. After cooling juice test it to determine the amount of pectin present. This test gives some idea of proper proportion of sugar to use. Add 1 tbs. of grain alcohol or lemon extract to an equal amount of cooled juice and shake gently. The effect of the alcohol is to bring together the pectin in jelly-like mass. If a large quantity of pectin is present it will appear in one mass or clot when poured from glass. This indicates that equal amounts of sugar and juice may be used. If pectin does not slip from glass in one mass, 2-4 cup of sugar to 1 cup of juice will be required. If pectin is thin and lumpy separated, 1-2 cup of sugar allowed for each cup of juice will be sufficient.

Quantity of juice to cook. The quantity of juice to be cooked at one time will depend upon the size of the vessel and the method of heating. The capacity of vessel should be four times as great as the volume of juice to be cooked. If the attempt is made to cook a large quantity of juice at one time over a slow flame, there will be loss of color and a decrease in the yield. When the juice begins to boil, add the sugar immediately and stir until sugar is dissolved. After the sugar has dissolved, the cooking should be as rapid as possible. Long cooking will tend to darken the product and destroy the pectin, which will cause the finished jelly to be less firm.

Dip a spoon or wooden paddle in the boiling mass, cool by moving back and forth for few seconds, and let drop from spoon. As long as there is syrup present it will run or drop from spoon. When the jelly point is reached, it will break from spoon in flashes or sheets. When this jelly stage is reached, remove from fire immediately and skim. Pour in hot glasses and seal, then cover with melted paraffin. Karo syrup or honey can be substituted for one-half the amount of sugar required in the jelly.

A GOOD FRIEND.

A good friend stands by you when you need him. Laurens people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have cured the case of Mrs. L. O. Hiers, 544 Higginson, Laurens, endorsed Doan's kidney pills and again confirms the story. Could you or her more convincing testimony?

"I have had weak kidneys ever since I can remember," says Mrs. Hiers. "About a year ago I was pretty bad and could hardly get out of bed in the morning. When I moved the pain would shoot up from the small of my back, and my kidneys didn't act a day's work. I had a dull ache in the back of my head and was troubled with black specks floating before my eyes. One of the ladies used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit so I got a box. I felt better from the first and in a short time I was completely cured." (Statement given November 24, 1914).

On March 26, 1918, Mrs. Hiers said: "I have just as much faith in Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I gave my previous endorsement. I haven't had to use a kidney remedy for some time and advise anyone suffering from kidney complaint to give Doan's a trial." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Burns' Letter.

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to the people of this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances:

Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few widows of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

Ice Cream Supper at J. R. Godfrey's.

DIAS NEWS.

Dias, July 1.—The crowning event of the past week was the reunion of the immediate family of Mrs. I. S. Brooks, which took place at the old homestead Tuesday, June 25th, the affair being in honor of the 51st birthday of Mrs. Brooks.

The annual celebration of this occasion is becoming quite an institution with the children, grand children, and great grandchildren of the homestead, and the 25th of June is eagerly looked forward to each year.

This year the day dawned bright and clear, and by 11 o'clock the last car containing the guests had arrived. At noon under the ancient trees on the spacious lawn, the dining table, beautiful in its simplicity of snowy draperies, was spread with all manner of good things calculated to please and tempt the human man. No Denver dishes were in evidence, and for once friend Hoover was forgotten.

When the appetites of all had been appeased the guests repaired to the spacious piazza where the time was pleasantly spent in conversational social intercourse interspersed with old and new songs rendered by the Virola.

Among the number present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Nators and children, of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Sullivan and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Childress and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wells Clardy, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Childress and little son, Mrs. Laura Babb, Miss Mary Bell Babb, Mr. Gus Babb, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harney and little daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Balle, Mr. George Balle, of Laurens; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray and family of Gray Court, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gray and little son of Simpsonville, Mrs. D. D. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Brooks and little Sarah Bell, and Mr. C. E. Brooks all of this place. Others present were Mrs. Ford of Simpsonville, Mrs. Harney, of Spartanburg, and Dr. Ferguson of Laurens.

The lawn fête and ice cream sociable given under the auspices of the local Red Cross Auxiliary at the school building Saturday evening was quite a success. Despite the inclemency of the weather a large crowd was in attendance and the affair proved entertaining as well as a lucrative one, a nice little sum being realized from the sale of the refreshments, the demand far exceeding the supply as only a small amount had been provided.

Lame Shoulder.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles. All that is needed is absolute rest and a few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment. Try it.

The European style of telephone is used in Theda Bara's new photodrama for William Fox, "The Rose of Blood." It required many days of search before such an instrument could be found in Los Angeles, where the film was made. "Rose of Blood" Friday.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

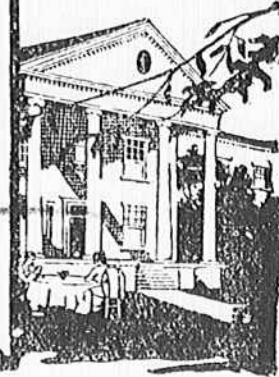

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHERRY TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Southern Hospitality includes Luzianne

CHERRY, whole-hearted, Southern hospitality—it's almost a magic phrase to many. But really it stands for honest friendship, cordiality and (you've guessed it) lots of delicious goodies.

Luzianne Coffee is always included in Southern hospitality because it tastes so good. Fragrant hot coffee for people who know what's good—that's Luzianne.

Good old Luzianne flavor—um-m-m—better try some quick. Your grocer has it—and if you aren't satisfied, he'll give back every cent—honest!
