MUST SAVE FOOD

Herbert Hoover Now to Europe, and Hungry People Looking to America For Food.

Columbia.-With the declaration of the armistice and the constion of the fighting in Europe there is danger that we, in America who have been as fected so lightly by the was, as compared with the sufferings of the people of many European countries, may think our duty done and decrease out efforts toward food concervation.

This must not happen, says the Food Administration. The American people have before them a greater obligation than ever before because famine is threatening in many lands which have been opened up to the allied world by the evacuation of the enemy, and the millions of people, dependent upon the outside world for food until they can make a harvest, are looking hopefully to America.

Foreign Nations Urgent Call.

Columbia.-Nations liberated from the German yoke are daily and urgently calling upon the United States The pressure of this demand is emphasized in a cable recently received by the Food Administration from Herbert Hoover, who is TEST VOTE AGAINST now in Europe to survey the foreign situation. After a week in Europe, Mr. Hoover cabled that the situation did not then admit of the formulation of a definite program, but that Amer-ica should be firmly impressed with the necessity for continued conserva-tion, which is more needed now than at any time since the United States became aligned with the enemies of
