For Weak Women

In use for over 40 years! Thousands of voluntary letters from women, telling of the good Cardui has done them. This is the best proof of the value of Cardui. It proves that Cardui is a good medicine for women.

There are no habit-forming drugs in Cardui. It is composed only of mild, medicinal ingredients, with no bad after-effects.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help. "I was taken sick, seemed to be . . .," writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk . . . just staggered around. . . . I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

FORTY-CENT LEVEL REACHED IN WEEK

Highest Price on Record Paid for Future Contract in Cotton Exchange.
New York, Dec. 5.—The only predicted forty cent level was realized by the advance in December contracts in the market for cotton futures here during the earlier part of the past week. This established the highest price ever paid for a future contract in the history of the New York Cotton Exchange and an advance of approximately five cents per pound from the low level of November 19th. It was due to urgent covering by trade and speculative shorts who evidently saw little prospect for sufficient deliveries of spot cotton to materially weaken the situation but a few December notices appeared later in the week, and it looked as though the demand from shorts had been pretty well supplied on the advance. At any rate, the appearance of the 40 cents lever proved a signal for more or less general realizing and the market since then has been nervous and unsettled owing to the uncertainty of the Mexican situation fears of a coal shortage, a tendency to increase estimates of the crop, and the weakness of foreign exchange rates. Trading in December has been comparatively quiet since the big advance but there has been quite an active business in later deliveries with today's prices showing reactions of over a cent a pound from the best on March and later deliveries. Private crop reports issued this week have suggested that the yield was turning out better than expected in some sections of the south. A prominent southern authority estimates ginning prior to December 1 at 8,993,999 bales and the lint yield at 11,120,000. This was the highest estimate published up to the close of business tonight but one or two other authorities have revised their crop figures upward and a canvass of New York cotton exchange members today showed an average expectation of 10,700,000 bales, excluding linters. Reports from the goods trade have indicated continued firmness with demand stimulated by apprehension that the coal shortage may restrict mill production while manufacturers have been slow to accept fresh orders and offerings from second hands have been little in evidence.

PUBLICITY CURE FOR "GET-RICH-QUICK"

Better than Conviction to Curb Orgy of Post-War Speculations, Houston Says.
New York, Dec. 5.—Publicity rather than conviction is the best means of curbing the thousands of "get-rich-quick" schemes that have sprung up in the orgy of post-war speculation according to Houston Thompson, federal trade commissioner, who addressed the Association of Life Insurance Presidents at today's session of its annual convention. "Conviction rarely helps," he declared. "Publicity is the effective remedy. From six years' experience in the department of justice and less than a year in the federal trade commission, I do not hesitate to affirm that the statute which, through publicity, seeks to prevent, is far more efficacious than the one which is parental and punitive." Asserting that "the fitful fever of speculation and waste invariably springs from war and runs its blighting career out to the end", Mr. Thompson said that after the world war the federal trade commission had been called upon to investigate every kind of scheme from methods of catching fish to colonizing plans for soldiers. The commission, he added, was concerned with "misrepresentation" not "speculation." "I do not believe in depriving an individual of his inalienable right to speculate," he declared. Speculative enterprises developed Cripple Creek, Gold Field, Leadville and some of our greatest industrial successes. To limit speculation would destroy individual initiative. It is not speculation but misrepresentation and the lack of information on the part of the prospective investor that must be eradicated.

SLOW PROGRESS ON RAIL BILL

Kellogg Charges Railway Administration with "Enormous Extravagances."
Washington, Dec. 5.—Little progress on the railroad bill was made in the senate today, most of the time being taken up with formal reading of the measure and a speech by Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota. Often there was difficulty in obtaining a quorum.
Senator Kellogg, who favored the bill's principal provisions, charged the railroad administration with "enormous extravagances" in the operation of the roads and with building up a great central organization which has "bounced the incentive and enterprise of every railroad organization." He declared that inequalities in wage awards had added "grossly" to the cost of operation and lowered the morale of the service. "So far as permanent betterments and improvements to railroads are concerned," Senator Kellogg added, "the administration has done better, although not all that the needs of the country demand."
Senator Kellogg endorsed the anti-strike provision which has been denounced by labor organizations and opposed by many senators.

ARCH ANARCHISTS AWAIT DEPARTURE

Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman Held for Deportation at Ellis Island.
New York, Dec. 5.—Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, America's two most notorious anarchists, spent tonight at Ellis Island. They were surrendered to the immigration authorities at noon upon demand of the department of labor to await deportation to Russia after preaching their doctrines in the United States for thirty years.
While they were on the way to the Island, accompanied on the government ferry boat by a few of their most devoted followers, their counsel, Harry Weinberger, was appearing before Federal Judge Meyer with a petition for writs of habeas corpus in a last effort to nullify the deportation decree. The writs were granted and are returnable Monday. Weinberger said he would insist that his clients be produced in court before Judge Mayer, who sentenced them to two-year terms for obstructing the draft law.
There was no way of determining tonight whether the legal proceedings would delay the departure of Berkman and Miss Goldman for Russia. The government has not announced when it expected to have a ship available to carry them away and Weinberger declined to state whether he would take their cases to the United States supreme court if the lower courts decided against them. It was pointed out, however, that the $30,000 in liberty bonds used as bail for them would be available to carry on a legal battle if it is considered worth while.
The habeas corpus petition was based upon the contention that Miss Goldman is an American citizen by marriage; that the constitutional right of free speech has brought within the pale of the law any radical utterances they may have made and that deportation to Soviet Russia would be illegal, because the United States has not recognized the Bolsheviks.
Meanwhile Berkman and Miss Goldman will be held at Ellis Island with 82 other radicals awaiting deportation. After they were surrendered today, searched and inspected by doctors, Berkman was put in a room with seven ring-leaders of the recent hunger and silence strike against deportation hearings, while Miss Goldman was sent to the quarters of two girl anarchists who had participated in the hunger strike.
Fearing immediate deportation of the two anarchists, half a dozen women radicals accompanied them on the ferry trip to Ellis Island and kissed them both farewell as the boat was passing the Statue of Liberty and again when they reached the island.
Berkman was fully equipped with new clothing for Russia. He carried three trips.
"Love and comradeship to all liberal and revolutionary people. We expect to be called back to Soviet Russia."
Both she and Berkman predicted a revolution in this country within five years.

BYRNES PROTESTS FUEL REGULATIONS

South Carolina Member Claims South is Unfairly Discriminated Against.
Washington, Dec. 5.—Representative Byrnes of South Carolina today appeared before the central coal committee and asked the reasons for the present discrimination in coal regulations against the south. Mr. Byrnes informed the committee that southern regions were entirely willing to comply with the regulations, provided similar regulations were to be issued in all other sections of the country. But did not feel that the south should be forced to suffer all the inconvenience and financial loss incident to compliance with these regulations. He called attention to the fact that in New England no such regulations were in effect and there was no reduction in the consumption of coal.
The committee advised Mr. Byrnes that in the Omaha district and in the Chicago district, regulations even more drastic than those announced for the southern states were now enforced. The reason for the restrictions in the South and in the West, they stated, is that in these sections there is no coal. In the East, there was a large supply of coal on hand before the strike was ordered and this coal is now being consumed in that territory.
The central coal committee, however, has placed an embargo upon shipment of any coal to New England states, and all coal that comes under the jurisdiction of that committee is being sent to the South and to the West. At the request of Mr. Byrnes they have instructed the regional committee at Atlanta to do all in its power to apply regulations so as to interfere as little as possible with the business of merchants and industrial plants in various sections.

YOUTH FOUND GUILTY

Cotman Convicted of Murder of Chauffeur.
Baltimore, Md., Dec. 5.—Clarence Cotman of Florida, a 20 year old white youth was found guilty here today of murdering John T. Weldon, a negro chauffeur who was driving Cotman and his wife, 18 years old, from Philadelphia to Baltimore last July. Robbery was the motive of the crime. The jury returned a verdict of "murder in the first degree without capital punishment," which carried with it life imprisonment.
Weldon was killed near Charles-town, Md. July 7th, Mrs. Cotman testifying that her husband shot him to get possession of his valuable diamond ring.
Cotman also was indicted in Montgomery county, Maryland, for the murder of Homer Jones, another negro chauffeur, whose car he is alleged to have stolen and is charged with kidnapping a nine year old girl in Baltimore and taking her to Florida.
Mrs. Cotman is held as accessory in these alleged crimes.

"Give me something to wear for Christmas"

Here's what a famous man says: "When I was a poor lad I always wanted a Christmas present I could wear, a stocking cap, a good suit, a nice warm overcoat—I've never gotten over it; if no one gives me something of the kind at Christmas time, I buy it myself."

HE had the right idea; he still has it. Most every man and every boy wants something he can wear; something useful. We have the things men and boys buy for themselves; and our mark in the merchandise tells them of your good judgment; they know our standard.

Here are some suggestions for gifts to the men in your family
