ENOREE NEWS.

Enoree, Dec. 20.—We presume you are aware that the present year is rapidly drawing to a close. A few more suns—provided the clouds lift—and the knell will be heard at the midnight hour. What has the year brought to us? And what has it received from us? The time of resolutions will soon be ours. It's funny how we resolute, and resolute about the dawn of the new year. There is nothing better if we would only remember the obligation. Alas! The clean, blank page presented to us at the beginning of the new year soon becomes besmirched with, at least, neglect of duty. How many precious moments, hours and even days running to waste that might be utilized for the permanent good of somebody. Many saw the dawning of this year of grace, who will witness its close from the eternal shore. Just two days ago a promising youth of seventeen summers, Russell Owens, by the accidental discharge of a gun, passed to the Beyond without a moment's warning.

We were just thinking what a change has come over the elements in the last twenty-four hours. Yesterday, though cold, the bright rays of the sun were falling athwart our pathways to gladden our hearts, but today the clouds obscure the sun, while the mist and rain is congealing on the trees around us. What a blessing that the miners have resumed their work.

Look out upon the public highways, especially in the direction of Laurens, and see how many Fords, to say nothing of the less consequential, are either out of commission or seeking the subways. Oh, well, time and good weather will retrieve them.

The mill authorities with a number of invited guests enjoyed an up-to-date turkey dinner in the basement of the new school building on the evening of the 12th inst. Mr. Graham, the president, was the host, and was quite careful to see that all enjoyed the hour. There were quite a number of short addresses after dinner, which contributed much to the pleasure of the evening.

For nearly two years substantial improvements have been going on in the town of Enoree, until the town is really a new town. There is much more work contemplated yet. The management, Mr. Graham, but more directly, Mr. Clifford, deserves the thanks of the people for the untiring efforts to promote the welfare of the people.

Christmas trees are in the air here and they will begin to materialize early next week. The school will close on Tuesday, 23rd, with a Christmas tree for the school and music and other attractions for the public. It is probable that the Sunday school will enjoy a tree later in the week.

All the teachers, who have been rendering such faithful and efficient services in the graded school will leave us on Christmas eve for their respective homes, to enjoy the holidays with homefolks. We all wish them a happy and restful week.

The work of putting electric lights in the homes which have not had them heretofore, and of improving the whole system, is nearing completion. We hear that it is the purpose of the management to give the people a day current and all night, instead of only a part of the early night hours and the early morning hours.

This has been a week of hog-killing in Enoree, and while we are and have been hogless, we, nevertheless, have shared liberally in the good things, for it has been coming our way in a stream. Many think for the thoughtfulness of our good neighbors.

On Wednesday, the 17th, the board of stewards and the Presiding Elder of the Enoree charge, dined with the pastor at the Methodist parsonage. They report an enjoyable day.

Mr. A. J. Lamb has completed his bungalow and he and Mrs. Lamb are happily installed.

Mr. Wyley C. Moore has his house almost completed. We would have been in it, but for the difficulty of labor and material.

Mr. C. J. Patton, the undertaker, has purchased, and is now operating a new up-to-date motor driven hearse.

BAND OF THIEVES

STEAL $1,000,000

New York Assistant District Attorney Believes That Dishonest Trustees are in Cahoot with Robbers.

New York, Dec. 20.—Information that an alliance exists between a band of thieves in the Field district which has stolen more than $1,000,000 worth of securities in the last six months and dishonest trustees is in possession of Assistant District Attorney Talley, he announced tonight. Several trustees of valuable estates, he declared, have taken good securities valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars from safe deposit vaults and replaced them with stolen securities obtained at very low figures.

"The theory upon which the exchanges are made," Mr. Talley said, "is that by the time the life of the trust expires and the estate is to be turned over to the heirs, the theft of the bonds and securities will have been forgotten and the vigilance relaxed, so that the securities with which the original papers were replaced can be brought out and negotiated with a reasonable degree of safety."

"For these stolen securities," he explained, "the trustees, according to my information, are paying from one-half to three-fourths their actual value. The real securities in the hands of the trustees are disposed of at the prevailing market prices, the trustees pocketing the difference between the amount realized by these sales and what they are required by the thieves to pay for the stolen securities."

Mr. Talley today recovered eight $1,000 New York city bonds stolen from a steaship company's office on November 3.

CAPTAIN JOHN ALCOCK DIES OF INJURY

First Aviator to Make Non-Stop Flight Across Atlantic Died Yesterday.

Rouen, France, Dec. 19.—Capt. Sir John Alcock, the first aviator to make a non-stop airplane flight across the Atlantic, died here this afternoon as a result of injuries he received when his plane crashed yesterday near Cotterville, department of Seine-Inferieure, Normandy.

Alcock, who was flying in a water-plane, was following the Seine at the time of accident, intending to alight on the river opposite the grand palace for an aviation exhibition.

Besides being the first flier to cross the Atlantic without a stop, Capt. Alcock also piloted the first British plane that bombed Constantinople and is credited with having dropped 20 tons of bombs on Adrinople in September, 1917, the explosions demolishing many hundreds of buildings.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

Organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.
