ROSS D. YOUNG, County Treasurer. 40,000 WORKING IN FRENCH MILLS

Textife Industries that Were Damaged by German Shells are Now in Full

Operations. Lille, France, Dec. 24,-Forty thousand persons are at work in the French textile mills which only a few months ago were razed or looted by the Germans of their wonderfully delicate machinery. The correspondent of the Associated Press was given the facts with reference to this industry today by French authorities who have arranged a trip to show him the strides made by the nation in recon-

Within a year, government officials and manufacturers agree, production of textiles will reach half of the prewar total, and within two years, these men forecast, the 1914 output will be surpassed.

The wool industry is said to be recovering most rapidly, with cotton in second place. Linen weaving is reported to be slowest in getting back to normal because of the shortage of flax, formerly obtained from Russia.

In Lille and the adjoining cities of Roubaix and Turcoing, where the textile manufacturers are centered, it is estimated '0,000 men, women and children now are busied with combing, spinning and weaving, and approximately 10,000 are employed in the smaller mills of surrounding towns where proxress is slower but is being pushed with equal vigor.

Statistics compiled by the government from necessarily accurate statements, upon which factories are paid reconstruction indemnities, show that in the Lille district on October 1st, last, there were 36,384 persons working in 162 textile plants compared with 106,066 employed before the war tween the ages of 21 and 60 years of in 265 factories. In all of the 491 age are liable to pay a poll lax of textile mills of the liberated region $1.00, except old soldiers, who are there were employed in August of this year only 21,027 of the 152,948 persons at work four years ago.

Reconstruction of the textile indusry was declared by manufacturers a few months ago to be almost a hopeless task. At least they said, it would be so slow that France would lose her world trade in textiles. Now, however, a brighter view is being taken, and governemnt figures show the industry has reached two-fifths of normal production. Manufacturers themselves concede that the output is at least one-third of that before the war. All agree that rehabilitation is proceeding more rapidly each month as the looted machinery is being returned from Germany or new installations are coming from England and the United States.

Some of the equipment was not removed, but merely damaged by the Germans, and this is being repaired.

This industrial recovery which seemed unimposing at first, has been made through the combined efforts of the government and plant owners against difficulties that appear mo o formidable the closer they are examined.

Direct damage to the textile industry is estimated by the ministry of reconstruction at 20,000,000,000 francs
