TAX COLLECTORS

PLAN CAMPAIGN

Intensive Effort to Round Up Delinquent Duties.

An intensive drive for the collection of delinquent sales and other miscellaneous taxes, such as the so-called luxury tax, the soft drink tax, the admission tax, the manufacturers tax, tax on jewelry and works of art and the tax on toilet articles and proprietary medicines, will be conducted during the next two months according to a statement issued a few days ago by D. C. Heyward, collector internal revenue. A similar campaign is being inaugurated throughout the entire country. The following bulletin has been given out:

"Information from the sales tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue is that many dealers in soft drinks and ice cream either are keeping no record of the amount of tax collections from such sales, or that the record is insufficient or incorrect.

"To remedy this condition, Commissioner William M. Williams has assigned to the work of investigation 175 special revenue officers. These men will compose flying squadrons which will visit every large city in the United States, cooperating with assistant supervisors and field deputies. The total force numbers 2,000.

"The drive will be under the immediate supervision of collectors of internal revenue, and is expected to result in the collection of millions of dollars in delinquent taxes and penalties.

"Special attention will be directed to the collection of this tax as well as to the tax on toilet articles and proprietary medicines. Through the failure of retailers to collect in full the tax of one cent for each 25 cents or fraction thereof of the amount for which toilet articles and proprietary medicines are sold, it is estimated the government is losing several millions of dollars annually. The tax is collected by means of stamps ranging from one to 40 cents, which the law provides shall be affixed by the dealer and cancelled.

"It is the intention to conduct as thorough and effective a campaign as possible in such a way as to bring to justice willful violators, and cause no embarrassment to merchants and business men who honestly are endeavoring to comply with the revenue laws. Discovery of evidence to show willful tax evasion will be followed by prosecutions. In flagrant cases, the bureau will urge the imposition of extreme penalties. For willful refusal to collect and pay the tax the penalty is a fine or not more than $10,000 or one year's imprisonment, or both, together with an added assessment equal to the amount of tax evaded. For failure to make return the penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000.

"Persons desiring to file amended returns of tax collections for which they are responsible should do so before government investigation, in which case the policy of the bureau will be one of leniency. There is great difference between the self discovered tax delinquent and the tax evader discovered by the bureau."

WINTHROP ACTION

BRINGS PROTEST

State Suffrage President Writes Trustees Concerning Alleged Injustice Towards Teachers.

Following is a letter written to the trustees of Winthrop college by the president of the State Suffrage league: "The South Carolina Equal Suffrage league, of which I have the honor to be president, finds difficulty in giving adequate expression to its chagrin and disappointment that, because of their demands for equal pay for equal work certain women members of the faculty of Winthrop college have been in effect discharged. We feel that we should be remiss in our duty if we did not, as an organization which has always upheld the principle of 'equal pay for equal work,' acquaint you with our feelings in the matter, that a great injustice has been done these women, that it has been without warrant, and that the action of the trustees reflects credit neither upon Winthrop college nor upon the state. We desire likewise to advise you that in order that the people of South Carolina may know the sentiment of the suffrage organization in the matter, we are providing copies of the enclosed resolution to the press of the state. Without reference to whether or not discharged women members of the Winthrop faculty were suffragist, this is a matter, we feel, involving a most vital principle and it is, therefore, not to be glossed over nor permitted to pass without our most vigorous protest that anything of the kind should happen in South Carolina, and particularly in a school for girls and young women. Eulalie Salley, Aiken.

THE FRIGATE BIRDS.

"Well," said Mrs. Frigate Bird, "here we are, much further North than we were. And here is the water right beside us."

"Gracious but how many of the family did come with us!"

"We're all a sociable lot and we enjoy traveling in great numbers," said Mr. Frigate Bird.

"It is really very nice here for it is fine to be near the water," he continued. "For creatures who love the water so, it seems absurd that we're not better swimmers. Still we can fly and oh, how high we sometimes go."

"They say that our only rivals in the air are the albatross family. 'Of course I don't know whether one would call albatross rivals or not.' 'I don't believe so,' said Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"We don't believe so," said the other frigate birds.

"Then I don't think I'll believe so," said Mr. Frigate Bird.

"Ah," he continued, "my eye is Fine to Be Near the Water.

brown, or rather both my eyes are brown."

"I was wondering why you were only speaking of one eye," said Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"My bill is long and rather thin," said Mr. Frigate Bird, after smiling at Mrs. Frigate Bird's remark.

"It is of a brownish, tannish, pinkish color as far as I can tell."

"Gracious," said Mrs. Frigate Bird, "don't you know the color of your own bill?"

"Well, you know how it is," said Mr. Frigate Bird, "I do know the color but it is hard for me to describe it. Just as it is hard for boys to describe what their sisters wore to parties and yet it isn't in the least hard for the sisters to describe what other sisters wear."

"Your point is well taken," said Mrs. Frigate Bird.

"What do you mean by that?" asked Mr. Frigate Bird.

"I mean that you gave a good reason for not being able to describe your bill better."

"So that is what it means when you say my point was well taken."

"Yes," said Mrs. Frigate Bird, "when you give your reason or explain why or give an example to show what you mean and it is a good one, I say your point is well taken."

"Ah yes," said Mr. Frigate Bird, "now I understand."

"Go on with your description," said Mrs. Frigate Bird. "I like to hear it."

"But you do know it as well as I do," said Mr. Frigate Bird. "Still I like to tell it so that boys and girls and men and women will know about us, too. It's nice to have folks know you, isn't it?"

"It is," agreed Mrs. Frigate Bird. "For we are a sociable lot. We show that by the way we all travel together and go about in such large colonies."

"We like the water and we like to be by it as I said before, but we're not much on swimming. Our wings are very wide and fine and they make us fly splendidly."

"Yes," said Mr. Frigate Bird, "I will tell some more. Under my bill I have a little orange sac which you have, too. Your colors, of course, are dull compared to mine, but you're a nice frigate bird for all that!"

"We don't walk very well for our feet are so small and so delicate with no strength to them at all. Our four toes upon each foot are joined by webs and our tails are also a hindrance when we walk."

"We like fish to eat better than anything, and can dive down and catch fish from other sea birds before they've had a chance to eat their meal. That is a very good joke."

All the frigate birds laughed hard. "And," added Mrs. Frigate Bird, "we only lay one egg in the spring, the early, early spring. "Our nest was on top of a bush and was made of a little layer of sticks. "I guess we've told about all, about all," she ended.

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration.

Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of a tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

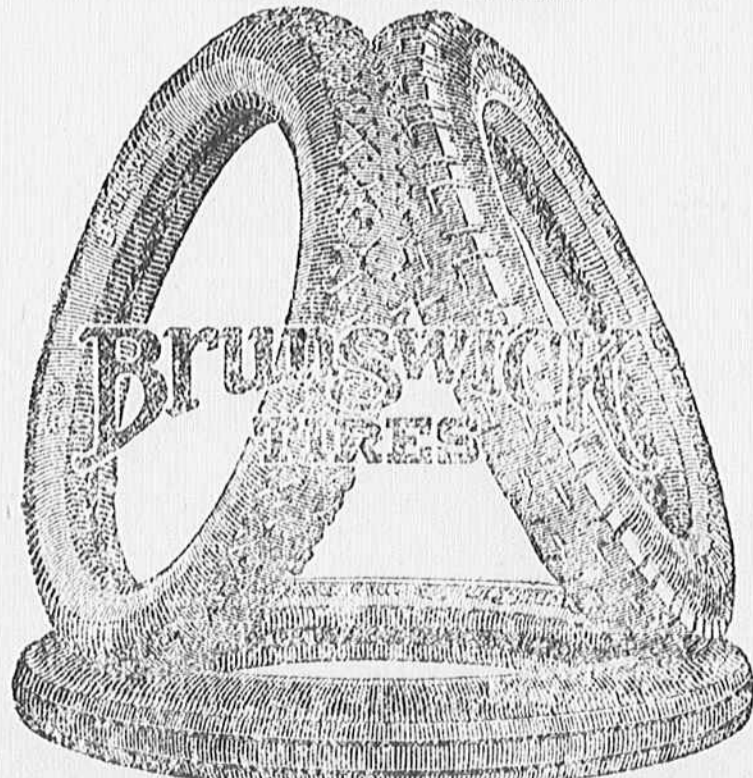

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.
