Dated July 15, 1920. 1-3t-A

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of THE LAURENS ADVERTISER

Published weekly at Laurens, S. C., for April 1, 1920.
State of South Carolina,
County of Laurens.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Alison Lee, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the editor of the Laurens Advertiser and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: Publisher: Advertiser Printing Co., Laurens, S. C.
Editor: Alison Lee, Laurens, S. C.
Managing Editor: None.
Business Manager: Alison Lee, Laurens, S. C.

2. That the owners are: Advertiser Printing Co., Laurens, S. C.
Arthur Lee, Greenwood, S. C.
Alison Lee, Laurens, S. C.
That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholders or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

ALISON LEE, Editor.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 26th day of July, 1920.

BILLY BUGLER STORY.

"I am so glad that the boys and girls like me," said Billy Bugler, "and I have heard that a good number did. Well, I am not conceited about it, for my missy tells me it is wrong to be conceited, but it does make me happy and she says that that is all right."

"She praises me up herself and tells me I'm a love of a dog and all sorts of things like that. How my little dog heart does go pitter-patter with joy when she tells me that."

"You know that I'm a Boston Bull with a white head and white chest and white paws."

"I must tell you of the pillow that was made for me."

"My missy was having some mattresses and some pillows fixed for the beds in the house. And she thought it would be nice for me to have a new pillow."

"So she ordered one to be made along with the mattresses and the pillows for the house."

"That was a nice way to treat a little dog, wasn't it? And how I love my pillow."

"It's just a nice square soft pillow and I can curl up and get on it and lie down so softly and so snugly, and then I can dream of my missy and my master and their kind words and their low voices."

"I love low voices, don't you? My missy has a very low voice and so has my master. I do hate people who're always saying at the top of their voices."

"Lie down, sir!"
"And 'Beg, sir!"

"I understand just as well when I am spoken to softly, and I fancy other dogs would too if they were taught that way and didn't hear people speaking so loudly."

"Sometimes they think people are only speaking to them when they do speak in loud tones and when they say things crossly."

"But that is different from my missy and my master."

"Well, my missy took me for a trip with her to the seashore. I live near a great big river but there is no sea near my home. The sea got tired, I believe, before it got as far as where we live. Not that we live way, way off, but it is fairly far from the sea, and as the sea seems strong enough at the seashore I think it must have thought the walk 'way back where my home is was even too much for it."

"It must be a very long walk. My missy and I take long walks. But we certainly didn't walk from our home to the seashore. No; we took a train."

"We had a beautiful time there, though some of the time I had to wear a muzzle and that is a fearful hard thing to do in the summer. Every dog perspires through his mouth. That isn't a very pretty thing to say, but it is the truth. And we pant with our mouths when it is hot. So that a muzzle for a dog in the summer time is a horrible thing—especially when small places think they're needed for the dogs of the place."

"In a city where there is such a terrific heat and where dogs can't get under trees and lie in the grass it is different. But not so in the country."

"However, I didn't have to wear my muzzle very often, I am thankful to say."

"I used to go swimming with my missy. She would go into the water and then she would whistle for me and I would jump along over the waves until it was beyond my depth, and then I would swim out to her."

"She would take me in her arms and give me a rest when I reached her, and then I would swim back home."

"Sometimes the water was chilly, and after I had been in once I would lie on the beach, and putting my head on one side I would beg off from going in a second time."

"But I did enjoy my swims, and the waves, when they were little ones, were lots of fun. There was just enough then for me, but when it was very rough my missy only had me paddle about and get my little feet with their white shoes wet! My white paws, I mean!"

"And when we were at the seashore we took my pillow along with me, that was made especially for me. I used to sleep on it and have a beautiful time. Wasn't it nice of my missy to bring my pillow along too? The very pillow that I love the best and that I feel the best on."

"But in case you don't know it I'd like to tell you that I'm enormously fond of bones and with a good bone—well, it's better than a good book or a dish of ice cream any day."

IS CITY OF CONTRADICTIONS

Irkutsk, Metropolis of Siberia, "Forty Hours From Anywhere," Remarkable for Its Peculiarities.

Irkutsk is 40 hours from anywhere, figuratively; five days from Petrograd, literally, in the best of times, and much further, in fact, from the Russian capital than is San Francisco from New York. The Siberian metropolis, too far removed to suffer more than pin pricks from the world war, finally fell to the bolsheviki.

"Among Siberian cities, Irkutsk is noted for its churches, orphanages, hospitals, schools, observatories and museums," Gen. A. W. Greely wrote after a visit to it about ten years ago. "It is a city of imposing buildings, beautiful homes, and is given to lavish hospitality, while its extended business operations are supplemented by all modern municipal equipment, including telephony and efficient fire service."

"It must be added that it has in summer nearly impassable streets, that the prevalence of unpunished crimes is notorious, while it is said by free-speaking Russians that the inefficiency of the police is only surpassed by the corruption of its officials."

The city's normal population is about that of Omaha, Neb., according to a bulletin of the National Geographic society, which adds:

"Irkutsk had its beginning from the station established there in 1052 for the collection of a fur tax from the Burjats. This curious people still dwells in the Balkal region. In them, it would seem, the ethnological east and west almost meet. Their business is akin to the herdsmen of our own western plains; their appearance, with shaven heads and pigtails, like that of the Chinese. In winter they dress like Eskimos, with sheepskins and furs; their summer attire is the oriental gown of silk and cotton."

"The horses the Burjats raise figure in the religion they cling to most tenaciously. This religion calls for sacrifice of the favorite steed at the owner's grave. The less faithful among the heirs, though, have been known to tie an animal with a tether so frayed that the horse soon broke away to join the herd."

"One of the peculiar customs which the traveler encountered at Irkutsk before the war was the closing of the railway ticket office for the sale of tickets two days prior to the departure of a train. He was not expected to decide to take a trip to Petrograd (3,792 miles), to Moscow (3,384 miles), or to Vladivostok (2,008 miles) on the spur of the moment."

Romance of Cotton.

The report that cotton has been discovered growing wild, in what was believed to be an Australian desert, opens vast possibilities of new fortunes. The history of cotton is strewn with El Dorados—except for some of those inventors whose ingenious machines of the eighteenth century have made riches for modern Lancashire. Arkwright is the most conspicuous instance of reward following merit. Most of them, like Hargraves, died in poverty. It is only in our own times that vast fluctuations in the price of cotton have taken place, and that, of course, is due to the amazing ingenuity of the men who made the human-like machines that now do the work of a thousand men. When machinery was first applied in Britain one of these more fortunate inventors boasted that he had reduced the price of a specially fine kind of cotton from $100 to $4 for a quantity sufficient to make a lady's dress. We need him now.

Utopia.

Gibraltar seems to fulfill all the conditions of a "desirable residence" for war-impoorished people. There are no taxes, except on alcoholic liquors and tobacco, and the revenue, mainly derived from customs and port dues, shows a handsome balance on the right side. The colony has no public debt, and the prosperity of its inhabitants is shown by the savings bank deposits, which doubled in a year, and at the end of 1918 gave an average of $250 for each depositor. At present the British civil population numbers about 16,000. There is room for a few more on "the Rock" because the census of 1911 enumerated nearly 17,000 besides Maltese and aliens, who have also diminished since then.

Coal of Africa.

Wherever there is coal in the earth it is more and more becoming man's urgent business to know it, whatever be the theoretical resources of such vast and unworked fields as may exist in China. So Africa has been under study and when international geologists in 1913 were reviewing the coal reserves of the world it was found that Africa as far as they could make out had less coal than any other continent, the total estimated reserve, being 57,539,000 tons, and the Union of South Africa, that is the federated British colonies, contain 97 per cent of this reserve.

COHEN'S DEPT. STORE

The Best of Health

Both of these men enjoy the best of health—the man on the girder because of his active out-of-door job, the man at the desk by a different means. He keeps fit by attention to personal hygiene—eats the right sort of food, gets a certain amount of exercise, but particularly—makes certain of securing regular bowel movements.

Nujol helps him. Nujol works on an entirely new principle. Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel movements at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger".
