Entertained in Atlanta

The following news story, taken from the society page of the Atlanta Journal, will be of interest to the friends of Miss Beatrice Babb, daughter of Col. and Mrs. R. E. Babb, who was one of the honor guests at this social function in Atlanta:

Mr. and Mrs. S. Linticum entertained at bridge Thanksgiving evening at their home on East Fifth street, in honor of their daughter, Miss Nancy Linticum and her guests, Miss Beatrice Babb, of Laurens, S. C.; Miss Dorothy Dove, of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Katherine Rollins, of Florence, S. C., who are Miss Linticum's schoolmates at Brenau college.

The reception rooms of the home were decorated with orange and black, the Brenau colors, and with quantities of white and yellow chrysanthemums. The table in the dining room, overlaid with a lace cover held for its central decoration a basket of these lovely flowers, surrounded with silver candlesticks holding orange and white tapers, burning unshaded. Yellow and white mints contained in silver comports were placed at intervals.

Mrs. Linticum was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. John G. Williams, Mrs. B. L. Cobbs and Mrs. W. L. Andrews.

Forty guests were entertained.

McClintock-Goodwin

Ora, Nov. 30.—Among the loveliest of the fall weddings was that solemnized in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John LaFayette McClintock at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Nov. 30, when they gave in marriage their daughter, Alice Isabel, to Edwin Abney Goodwin, of Union.

Simplicity was the keynote of the entire service. The hall and ceremony room were beautifully and artistically decorated with Southern smilax and white chrysanthemums. An improvised altar of Southern pine, which was crowned on either side by white pedestals adorned with white baskets of chrysanthemums, made a dainty background for the bride and her attendants.

In the gift room in which Misses Lizzie Craig and Elizabeth McClintock entertained, the note of yellow was predominant. Here numerous and valuable gifts were displayed, among them a handsome chest of silver from the bride's family.

The bride's book was presided over by Mrs. S. J. Craig, the grand-aunt of the bride, who was maid of honor in the bride's grandmother's wedding, dame of honor in the bride's mother's wedding and just as youthful and happy upon this as upon the previous occasions.

The guests were met and ushered into the ceremony room by Mesdames S. H. Fleming, D. M. McClintock and Miss Linda Hunter. To the strains of the wedding march from Mendelssohn, which were efficiently rendered by Mrs. L. J. Blakely, the bridal party entered. First came the little ribbon girls, Frances Louise Hunter and Grace McClintock, who were daintily dressed in white organdy-satin ribbons being used for trimmings—and who carried shower bouquets of baby chrysanthemums. Then came Rev. I. N. Kennedy, followed by the bride and groom. The bride was never more lovely than upon this occasion. She wore a gown of white broadcloth satin trimmed with real lace, ropes of pearls and orange blossoms. Her veil arranged in coronet effect with ucele bandeau, lace, and orange blossoms, the veil constituting the train. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley in shower effect. The impressive ring ceremony was used.

In the receiving line were the bride's mother, father, brother, John H. McClintock, the groom's mother, Mrs. S. R. Goodwin, sister, Miss Sadie Goodwin and brother, E. Goodwin.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held.

The guests were invited into the dining room in which the color scheme of pink and green were carried out, by Mrs. R. C. Gray, Misses Nan McClintock and Belle Craig. Mesdames J. Y. Bryson and W. E. McClintock presided over the refreshments which consisted of ices and mints gracefully served by Mrs. Clarence Link, Misses Janie Hunter and Rosabel Fleming. While the guests were being served sweet strains of music issued from the adjoining balcony and upon leaving the dining room Miss Sadie Sullivan pinned hand-painted favors upon each. As the bride slipped away to don her traveling costume of brown duvelane with accessories to match, she threw her bouquet which was caught by Miss Janie Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin then left by auto for Clinton where they boarded a train for Washington and other point of interest.

The bride is the only daughter and is widely known throughout the state, not only for her magnetic personality, but on account of her extensive family connection. She is the granddaughter of Capt. W. A. McClintock, who served for four years in the War of Secession, and is a graduate of the Woman's College of Due West. The groom is a popular young business man of Union, where he numbers his friends by the score.

Among the out-of-town guests at the marriage were: Mrs. S. R. Goodwin and E. Goodwin, of Greenville; Miss Sadie Goodwin, of Chester; Dr. F. P. Salley, L. J. Hames, S. S. Leake, of Union; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Minter, of Sedalia; Mrs. T. C. Petty, of Gaffney; Misses Nan and Elizabeth McClintock, of Spartanburg; Misses Sadie Sullivan, Irene Ray, Bettie Richards; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Link, Alison Lee, and Dr. J. H. Powe, of Laurens; Miss T. Craig Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Blakely, of Gray Court.

After returning from their bridal tour Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin will be at home to their friends in Union, S. C.

Thomas A. Lynch

Mt. Olive, Dec. 5.—Our rural mail man, Mr. Colton Chase, of Mountville, brought us the sad news a few days ago of the death of Mr. Thomas A. Lynch, one of the best citizens of Mountville, and a Confederate soldier. Mr. Lynch had been in feeble health for several months, partly due to his advanced age and partly to physical derangement. His condition gradually when death relieved him of his suffering. The funeral and burial rites were held at Mountville the following day conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. G. Wilson, of Cross Hill.

It was our good fortune to know Mr. Lynch for several years, and we wish to say to his memory that but few men excelled him in unassuming humility and consecrated Christianity. We count him one among the best men we ever knew, conscientious and true in all his associations with men and loyal to the Master whom he loved and served. No less true and exemplary was his life in the home as husband and father, where Christ was given the highest place and integrity and honor were ruling principles.

Mr. Lynch, born and reared at Cross Anchor, in Spartanburg county, moved to Mountville and settled on a farm more than 25 years ago. In 1912 he rented his farm, bought a house and lot in Mountville, and moved to town where he hoped to enjoy an easier and more convenient life. In the Confederate army he observed the same rigid honesty and true loyalty that controlled him in private life.

Mr. Lynch is survived by his wife, who was Miss Lanie Harris, of Waterloo, and one son, Walter Lynch, his only child, who is now engaged in business at Mountville. He leaves also many other relatives in this and other states. Many other things might be said of the life of this quiet citizen, spent in the service of his country and his God, but suffice it to add here that the community whose life has been touched and quickened by such a character must feel and say, "He was a man."

MR. ALSEY F. COLEMAN

Well Known Citizen Dies Suddenly at His Home Near City.

Mr. Alsey Fuller Coleman, aged sixty-five, was stricken Wednesday morning while walking about in his yard at his home near Watts Mills, and died before medical aid could be obtained. It is thought that heart failure was the cause of his sudden death. He had not been in good health for a year or more, it is stated.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Chestnut Ridge church.

The deceased was a native of this county, a member of a large and influential family. He resided in the city for several years, and later moved out to the Badget farm two miles north of town.

He is survived by his widow, who was before marriage a Miss Donaldson, and by three children: Haskell Coleman, of Laurens; Cleveland Coleman, of Spartanburg, and Mrs. Mary Coleman DuPre, wife of Dr. DuPre, of Simpsonville.

THE DOOR SLAMS ON HAPPINESS

Poor Blood Makes Bad Health—Then Comes the "Blues".

Once the vigor of red blood becomes sapped of its strength, the door to happiness is literally slammed. Weariness of body follows and it unfaillingly engenders depressed thoughts. To be reserved and cheerless becomes a habit. After a time there is an almost filmy dimness in the expression of the eyes and a pallor to the skin. Days seem dull and dark and difficult. A sense of insufferable gloom pervades the spirit.

Then it is that Gude's Pepto-Mangan is the great help. It is a red blood builder. It puts red into the blood—increases the number of corpuscles which make blood rich and red. When the blood is restored to its natural healthy state, the sensation of well-being returns. Instead of shuffling along carelessly, there is the firm and briny step, the bright lusterful eyes, the clear complexion, identified with the strength and vigor of good health. A druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.
