

Happiness For All Women—“For some time I have been using Hagan's Magnolia Balm and now my friends are asking what has happened to me, that I look so well. I have been afflicted with freckles, blemishes and sallow complexion for the last four or five years, but now my complexion is wonderfully improved. Magnolia Balm means happiness in a lovely complexion. Respectfully, (Signed) Nonie Bentley, Nankipoo, Tenn.” All women should use this liquid face and toilet powder—Brunette, white, pink, rose-red. 75 cents at druggists or by mail. Lyon Mfg. Co., 42 So. Fifth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.—Adv

Lydia Citizens Co-operate
Lydia Mill citizens went “over the top” on their quota of $25.00 for the National Democratic Party, Mr. B. A. Sullivan, chairman for this county during the drive, announced. Other communities, Mr. Sullivan stated, have not yet been heard from, but he hopes that the excellent showing made by Lydia Mills, Ora, Wat's Mills and other communities will be an incentive to those who have thus far failed to help raise the quota of $650.00 for the county.

STONE AGE IN CANADA

Existed in British Columbia as Late as Century Ago.

Archaeologists Make Interesting Discoveries While Exploring Old Community Sites, Mounds and Aboriginal Graves.

Victoria, P. C.—The stone age, which, scientists say, came to an end in western Europe about 1700 B. C., was carried on for more than 3,000 years later, and in its most characteristic form existed in British Columbia up until as late as a century ago. In some districts, according to findings of archaeologists who have been exploring some of the old community sites, mounds and aboriginal graves along the coast and the interior of the province.

The stone age in British Columbia has for many years been the study of scientists of note, who have been working to build up the story of the evolution of the prehistoric civilization as exemplified in the tribes which worked out their existence between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific. Valuable collections have been obtained.

It was only recently, however, that British Columbia, in an effective way, turned its attention to the past. Under the direction of Premier John Oliver, the provincial museum has been partly rebuilt and the collections put on exhibition.

The aboriginal occupants of the country belonged to the neolithic, or new stone age, scientists determined from the specimens obtained from old villages and burying places. Stone and bone tools were in common use when the first white explorers visited the north Pacific, although iron and copper in small quantities were found almost everywhere.

In some instances the native races had developed a degree of art. One of the exhibits in the museum is a copy of a seated human figure holding a bowl. It was chipped from a solid block of stone and then polished. There are two of these specimens very much alike. One was discovered near Departure Bay, Nanaimo, and the other in North Saanich, on Vancouver Island.

Perhaps the most characteristic of the stone age are the stone axes and hammers discovered in many places. They are almost identical with the tools of the neolithic man found in Europe.

The stone weapons include daggers and war clubs. There are many examples of stone dishes, hewn from small boulders. With what appear to have been rolling pins of somewhat angular design the prehistoric woman of this coast seems to have been well supplied.

Primitive man in British Columbia apparently did a little smoking now and then. Old shell mounds on the Thompson and Fraser rivers have yielded what appear to have been stone pipes. The early explorers found the native races using a true tobacco, nicotine attenuated, which grows wild in the Thompson river country and was smoked alone or mixed with grease and kinnikinnick.

THIS “MEDICINE MAN” IS 132

Buenos Aires Centenarian, Made Slave While Child, Holds Job and Drinks Liquor.

Buenos Aires.—Antonio Rosas, a negro who is reputed to be one hundred and thirty-two years old, earns a living here as a medicine man and ticket seller.

He was not too old to put up a fight when three men held him up and robbed him a few days ago, but told a reporter he would have made a better showing if he had not “taken a drop too much.”

Antonio claims to have been captured in the Congo when a child, by French slave traders. The French ship was captured by an English vessel and taken to Madeira. He was brought to Argentina at the age of eighty.

Squirrel Wintered in Cushion.

Bangor, Me.—Octave Gamache of Brunswick, Me., has discovered that a family of squirrels spent a cozy winter in the cushion of the back seat of his automobile. He thinks it will be some job to collect the rent, to say nothing of the repairs on the cushions and the time it took him to pick up the acorn shells. The squirrels took their eviction with great indignation.

Fell Giant Beech Tree.

Geneva.—At Montherod (Vaud) a giant beech tree was recently felled, which was eighteen feet round at the base and eighty-nine feet high. Its branches yielding 2,600 cubic feet of firewood.

Michigan Man's Whiskers 9 Feet From Chin to Tip

Brighton, Mich.—This town claims the champion beard grower of the world in John J. Tanner, eighty-four years old, whose whiskers measure more than nine feet from chin to tip. Mr. Tanner controls his beard by tucking the ends in his trousers leg. He says he started on the beard race 50 years ago, with three feet of it. The record bearer aims to make his whiskers hit 12 feet before he's ninety.

If You Don't Aim

at anything: particular you are not apt to hit anything of any consequence. COLLINS' DEPARTMENT STORE has one very particular aim. We aim to buy at under price so as to save you money on every purchase.

We use an ammunition called Spot Cash, and when Shoes, Hats and Clothing are placed as targets by assignees of bankrupt stocks, and the public takes a shot, the guns at COLLINS' DEPARTMENT STORE aims with such accuracy as to make the bull's eye ring at every crack of our Gatling guns.

The last target at which we shot landed a big stock of Men's Khaki Pants which we offer today at 95c.

Would you use motor oil for salad dressing?

Ridiculous of course! Neither would you put olive oil in your crankcase. Yet both are oils—but what a tremendous difference!

SUNOCO is a motor oil, but it's not just “ordinary oil.” When more car owners recognize this difference, there will be more cars in service and fewer laid up for repairs.

We sell SUNOCO lubrication—not just “oil.” Try it and you'll be astonished at the difference in your engine power, gasoline mileage and repair costs.

Stealing Is a Trained Profession

You may not know it, but it takes less than 30 minutes for the trained burglar to go through your home—from cellar to garret.

This means that from the time you leave the house until the car discharges you down town, Your Home May Be Robbed.

By the time you return, Mr. Thief has made his get-a-way with your savings unless they are in a bank like ours. That for which you were keeping money in the house, could have been paid by a check.

Cheat the cheater by opening an account for safety, if for no other reason.
