

Mrs. Benlah Martin Henderson
Whereas, our Heavenly Father, in His divine wisdom has taken from us our beloved friend and co-worker, Mrs. Walter Henderson; and,

Whereas, in her death our society, our church and our community have suffered a deep loss, we rejoice in the rich heritage she has left us, a life of beautiful Christian faith and Christ-like devotion. While she was devoted to home and family yet she was ever ready to respond to the needs of her community; therefore in token of our love and sympathy, we, the Woman's Missionary Union of Friendship church, offer these resolutions:

First, While we keenly feel the loss of her blessed influence, we bow in humble submission to God's will, knowing that He doeth all things well. Second, That our hearts go out in sympathy to the devoted members of her family.

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and a copy be published in the Laurens Advertiser and the Baptist Courier.

DIALS NEWS

Dials, June 12.—A very delightful occasion enjoyed by the members of the W. M. S. of Dials was that of Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Festus Curry of Gray Court, entertained from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock with a party at her handsome home on Church street. The spacious rooms thrown en-suite gay with vari-colored sweet peas and other cut flowers, presented an attractive setting for the happy guests assembled.

Contests and games were enjoyed. In the word contest Mrs. J. A. Curry was the successful winner and was presented with the prize, (something well worth having on a sultry summer day), Mr. Watson presenting it in his imitable and amusing way.

The guests were then asked if they would not like to meet "Miss Missionary Voice", every one declaring they would be delighted. Little Mavis Clare Curry, the attractive daughter of the hostess, then came forward clad in costume of "voices" showing the development of the "missionary voice" and recited a beautiful poem bearing on the same theme. Missionary sandwiches were then passed by this little maid, after which iced tea and cheese straws were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Curry.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the members were not out in full force, those however, who enjoyed Mrs. Curry's hospitality were Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Watson, Mesdames Suddie Owings, Florence Ropp, Townes Curry, Floyd Curry, Sallie McCall, Sam Curry, Jim Graydon, L. D. Curry, Willie Harris, Mary Curry, Eileen Peden, Conway Gray, W. C. Curry, William Brooks, J. A. Curry, and Misses Cecil Owings, Fannie and Sallie Brownlee, Emma Harris and Clara McCall. Also little Missens Nell Harris, Sara Alice and Ethel Curry, Billy Curry and Margaret Watson.

Miss Mary Catherine Davis, of Greenville, was the attractive guest of her aunt, Mrs. Haskell Gray, last week.

Jack Harris has as his guest this week, J. T. Gillespie, Jr., Greenville.

Miss Maggie D. Curry returned Wednesday from Winthrop college after having successfully completed the two-year course for teachers. Miss Curry has accepted a position with the Fairview school for the coming term, and her many friends predict for her much success in her chosen vocation.

Mr. John Simmons, Mrs. H. Y. Simmons, Miss Marie Simmons, Misses Farah Harris and Ethel Owings and Mr. Claud Harris composed a party that motored to Greenville Sunday where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffords.

Miss Cecil Owings will leave in a few days for Rock Hill where she will be in attendance at the summer school at Winthrop.

Rev. Dave Blackwell, of Quincy, Fla., accompanied by his daughter, Miss Martha May, a June graduate of Converse college, Spartanburg, spent a day and night with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Curry enroute to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Curry had as their recent guests Mrs. Plumer Curry and son, Graham, of Hendersonville, N. C.

SHOCKING STORY OF CANNIBALISM

Russians Eating Human Beings and Diseased Animals. Relief Worker Talks.

London, June 8.—A shocking story of despair, death and cannibalism in Russia was narrated to the Associated Press today by William Shafroth, son of former Governor Shafroth of Colorado, who has arrived in London after a year's work with the American relief administration in the Russian famine regions.

The desperate people are eating human beings, diseased horses, dogs and cats, he said. Cemeteries are being dug up and long buried bodies snatched as food. In their hunger madness the population are stealing bodies from morgues and hospitals to eat as food.

Mr. Shafroth, who had charge of 20,000 Russians working for the relief administration in the Camara district, is lean and emaciated after his arduous work among the starving, dying and shelterless Russians. But he gave ample proof that the famine sufferers did not try to seize him for culinary purposes, as had been reported while he was in Russia. He declared, however, that a Russian member of the American relief administration who died of typhus, was disinterred at night and eaten by the crazed inhabitants. This gave rise to the report that Mr. Shafroth had been devoured.

In some respects the young American's narrative is unequalled even by the tragic pictures in Daniel Defoe's journal of the plague year.

"I know one instance," said Shafroth, "where a distracted mother of five children killed the youngest in order to appease the pangs of the rest of her youngsters, but the oldest, a boy, cried bitterly when he saw his mother sever his little brother's head and place the body into a pot. He refused to eat the flesh."

In spite of these lamentable conditions in isolated districts, Mr. Shafroth said, the general situation throughout Russia has been greatly ameliorated as a result of the chafly enterprise of the American people. The health, moral and spirit of the population were much better, he said, since the American relief administration arrived ten months ago.

"America is a holy name in Russia and Americans are regarded as super-beings," said Mr. Shafroth. "People fall on their knees and kiss the earth upon which the relief workers walk. The United States can have a solemn feeling of pride in saving the Russian race from extinction."

Mr. Shafroth said he believed the Soviet government will all its faults had come to stay.

ROUGH SLEDDING YET FOR TOLBERT

Indications Point to Right to Prevent Confirmation.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—It now appears that Republican National Committeeman Joe Tolbert is to have rough sledding in the effort to be confirmed as marshal for the western district of South Carolina. No sooner was his name announced as the selection of Attorney General Daugherty and President Harding, that protests by wire and letter began to pour in on Senators Smith and Dial. Various charges are made in the letters, some of them of the severe kind, but there are no affidavits, and it takes affidavits when matters are to be presented to the senate judiciary committee. But for the present the nomination is tied up in the committee, and it is probable that there will be quite a delay before there is a report of any kind made. Senator Smith has gone to his home in South Carolina for a few days, and will go further into the case when he returns. In the meantime Senator Dial keeps in touch with the matter, and his view is that there will be much time passed before there is action.
