Pool-Harling

Quite a surprise to their many friends throughout the county and state was the marriage of Miss Mattie Bobo Pool, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Poole, of Laurens, and Mr. John Perry Harling, formerly of Edgefield, but now superintendent of the DeSaussure state farm near Hagood. The ceremony was performed in Columbia last Thursday, July 20th, at two o'clock by the Rev. T. C. Skinner, pastor of the First Baptist church of that city. The happy young couple went immediately to their new home at Hagood to begin housekeeping. They have the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends who wish them every joy and happiness.

The bride is a graduate of Lander college and has taught in the county for a year, during which time she has by her charming personality endeared herself to many friends who will regret that her marriage will take her away from the county. The groom is a very popular and successful business man having been connected with the state farm for a number of years.

Tumblin-Davis

The following account of the marriage of Rev. J. A. Tumblin formerly of this county, which occurred in Newport News, Va., last week, will be read with interest by his many friends in the county:

A pretty marriage was celebrated Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Arcatt Avenue Baptist church, when Miss Marrow Davis became the bride of Rev. J. A. Tumblin, of Laurens, S. C. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Harry J. Goodwin, assisted by Rev. William E. Stuart, of Hampton. The church was effectively decorated with potted palms, evergreen and cut flowers of varied colors. Preceding the ceremony Misses Mabel and Marlon West, nieces of the bride, who wore dainty frocks of pink and blue georgette crepe, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Miss Evelyn Davis, who wore a gown of green canton crepe presided at the organ.

The bride, who entered the church with her brother, A. L. Davis, wore a gown of white canton crepe with hat and accessories to match. She carried a shower bouquet of white astors and small garden flowers. Miss Sarah Davis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an orchid colored gown of crepe de chine with picture hat and her flowers were an arm bunch of astors in pastel shades. Master Russel Fox carried the ring in the heart of a rose and the flower girl was little Miss Beulah Fox, who wore a frock of blue organdie and carried a basket of garden roses. The groom had as his best man, Rev. Clyde Hickerson, of South Norfolk; and the ushers were L. S. Davis, P. A. Curtis and R. D. West.

Mr. and Mrs. Tumblin left on the Washington steamer for Washington and will later go to South Carolina to visit Mr. Tumblin's parents. On their return they will immediately complete preparations for taking up their work in Brazil where they were recently assigned as missionaries by the Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. T. H. Davis, of East Orange, N. J.; Mrs. Mae Cooper and children, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. A. E. Chapman, of Richmond; Mrs. W. E. Nicholson, of Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barclay, Miss Mary Hill, Mrs. Mary M. Bailey and Mrs. Smith, all of Virginia Beach.

Wedding at Whitmire

Of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the state was the marriage of Miss Frances C. Jeter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Jeter, and A. Rhett Martin, at the home of the bride's parents in Whitmire, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by the Rev. J. P. Simpson.

On account of the recent death of a sister of the groom, the marriage was a very quiet affair. The occasion was one of sacred associations and simple beauty. No invitations had been issued and the marriage was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a lovely traveling suit of fawn-colored tricotine embroidered in harmonizing colors with accessories to match.

The young couple left immediately by auto and will spend their honeymoon, touring the mountains of western Carolina. Upon their return they will be at home at Gray Court.

The bride is one of the most popular young women being a graduate of the Womans College of Due West and has taken a special course in the University of Virginia. She taught the past year at Gray Court, where her sweet disposition won her many friends.

The groom is the son of Mr. Alvin Martin and is one of Gray Court's most successful business men. He is a popular young man with splendid business ability.

Sullivan-Davis

A wedding of interest in this section and in the state was that of Miss Harriet Humbert Sullivan, of Laurens, and Mr. Harold Davis, of Benwick, Pa., which was solemnized Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride on South Harper street. The Sullivan home was artistically decorated with baskets of summer flowers, giving a beautiful effect. In the hall the stately gladiolus was used; in the ceremony room an altar had been improvised—ferns were used as a background and on either side a tall, ivy-twined pedestal held a graceful basket of shasta daisies while overhead a wedding bell made of white roses was suspended by white tulle and ivy. Crystal baskets holding white roses stood on the mantel.

In the dining room, crepe myrtle, pink roses and ferns were used effectively and the centerpiece for the table was a beautiful wedding cake. In the living room where punch was served, baskets of yellow daisies, zinnias and sunflowers were used with good effect. Over all the light of many candles shed a soft glow.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Hattie Gray, accompanied by Miss Mary Wyatt, of Easley, sang "Because," and at the appointed hour to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Wyatt, the bridal party descended the stairs and entered the ceremony room. Little Misses Margaret Culberson, as flower girl, and Margaret Miller, as flower girl, were the first to enter. They were followed by the dame of honor, Mrs. D. Herbert Sullivan, of Abbeville, who wore a crepe dress of green and white with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. Next came little Miss Kathryn Switzer, who carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Gowned in a dress of champagne canton crepe and Spanish lace with accessories to match and carrying a shower bouquet of brides' roses the bride entered the ceremony room on the arm of her sister, Miss Anna Sullivan, the maid of honor. She was attired in an orchid tulle and lace dress with hat to match and she also carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses. As the bride entered the groom and his best man, Mr. D. Herbert Sullivan, brother of the bride entered from the opposite door and met at the altar.

Here in the presence of near relatives and a few friends the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Samuel W.

Templeman, pastor of the First Baptist church, using the impressive ring ceremony.

After the ceremony there followed an informal reception. The bridal couple left later by motor car for a visit to the mountains of North Carolina.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sullivan and is a popular and accomplished young woman. She received her degree from Winthrop in 1919, and in June of this year she graduated from the Biblical Seminary, New York city.

The bridegroom is a Pennsylvanian and he is also a graduate of the seminary.

They will reside in Princeton, N. J., during the coming session of the university, and after that expect to engage in foreign missionary work, probably in China.

Here for the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sullivan, of Tumbling Shoals; Miss Irene Hudson, of Columbia; Mrs. Lou Hunter, Miss Janie Hunter and Miss Linda Hunter, of Ora; Mrs. C. P. Vincent, Varnville; Walter and Miss Jeanette Clatwo by, Florence Path; Mrs. Emma Howell, Aclanta; Miss Katherine O'Neal, Dr. and Mrs. C. Q. West, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Chewing, Mrs. W. L. Miller and Miss Marianna Miller, Miss Jeanette Miller, Mrs. Zelene Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Algenon Culberson, Mrs. Davis Furman, Mrs. Albert Barnes, Mr. Romayne Barnes, Miss Mary West, Miss Mary Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McKelvey, Mr. A. H. Donaldson and Miss Russell, all of Greenville, and Mr. R. O. Sullivan and Miss Marie Sullivan, of Tumbling Shoals.

Famous Old Drama on Screen

Movie fans and those who are fond of the classics of the American stage are in for a treat when the famous old melodrama, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is shown at the Princess Theatre on Thursday and Friday, August 10th and 11th. This famous old play has been made into a super special. The story of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is familiar to almost everyone, as it enjoyed great success both as a novel and play. It has been on the boards for over sixty years and is said to have played in every city and town in the country.

Therefore, it is not surprising that the always enterprising movie producers found in it splendid material for a most unusual feature. L. Case Russell, who wrote the scenario, has followed the story faithfully, only making such changes in the original story as the dictates of the screen required. Of course the wide range of the photography permits of a much more elaborate version than the stage could give. Such scenes as the log jam in a raging current, culminating in a thrilling climax in the rapids and the burning of the Inn are only possible since the advent of motion pictures. Even the most elaborate stage presentation could not hope to touch them for realism. Scenes such as these take months to make and cost a small fortune.

All of the old favorites are there, Joe Morgan, Simon Slade, Little Mary, Harvey Green, Willie Hammond and all the rest. And an excellent cast brings them to life with all their joys and sorrows. John Lowell plays Joe Morgan, while Baby Ivy Ward is Little Mary. Others are Nell Clark Keller, Charles Mackay, James Phillips, Ethel Dwyer, Charles Beyer, Kempton Green, Lillian Kembell, Robert Hamilton, and many others.
