The New Jail Cells.

In company with our popular sheriff, we paid a visit to the jail on last Monday and examined the cells, which have just been put in. There are four of them, and they are placed on the third floor of the jail at a cost of $1,000, $250 from injuries received by being each, by a Philadelphia firm. The cells are bolted from the outside by two levers, each lever bolting the two doors on its side; the levers are inclosed in iron boxes and locked with combination locks. Besides this, each cell has a lock, so that by unlocking this lock first, then working the lever from the outside, the jailer can let the prisoner into the passage without coming in contact with him. ibia, Newberry and Laureus Railroad between Prosperity and Columbia was ridden over to-day by an inspecting sirty, consisting of Mr. A. DeCardene, of Charleston, the resident engineer of he South Carolina Railway, Mr. H. C. Moseley, Senator Sligh and Mr. L. C Boland. The party arrived in Columbia his evening, having ridden about forty miles since leaving Prosperity this morn-

Mr. DeCaradene, when asked his pinion as an engineer in regard to the roposed route, expressed himself as benear the ridge of the two slopes or water shed-, falling on one side to Broad River and the other to the Saluda. Mr. DeCaradenc went on to say that the country traversed in his ride to-day is one of the finest and most prosperous o the State, that the farms are models of cultivation, the people are all busy satisfied and thrifty, and with plenty of children all full of health. The engineer considers the land as the most favorable for grape culture. The route traverses a fine section of untapped timber, and also fine oak and hickory timber. The other members of the party expressed the iselves equally as pleased with the prosp et as the engineer. The finely wooded country attracted the attention of all. The lands are spoken of as rich and the people prosperous and self-sustaining. In the Lexington Fork, through which the road will run, there are 6,000 inhabitants, and nearly threefourths of them are whites. Township No. 9, in Newberry County, is ready to vote a tax of $15,000 to grade and lay the ties on nine miles of this road from Prosperity to the Lexington line. Six housand dollars more has b en raised here by subscriptions. The townships a Lexington are moving to levy a simiar tax to grade the road through the Fork.—N. G. G. in News and Courier,

We are glad to find that the friends of Railroad are moving on successfully with this valuable enterprise, and we believe that the road will be built at an early day. The right men and the right road have taken hold of it, and we are confident that they will carry it through. The three townships of Lexington County through which it is proposed to build the road, return real and personal property as follows: Broad River, $282,-

350.00; Fork $269,900.00; Saluda $197.-640.00. Total $749,890.00. Nearly 3 of a million, and this does not include the railroad property in Broad River township. I think if South Carolina ows any man in the State a debt it is him. With his intellect, fair mindedness and devotion to the party South Carolina should feel honored with such a representative.

Honor and Humble Pie. On two occasions within the past three weeks the people of South Carolina have been addressed by their representatives in Congress upon questions of great public interest and importance. The letter of Congressman Tillan to the chairman of the executive committee of the Free Trade Association of South Carolina was published on April 27th. The address of Senator Butler before the survivors of the Charleston Light Dragoons was published last Tuesday. In both the letter and the address there are allusions to the present relations of the Southern people to their fellow-citizens in the National Union, and the duty they owe to themselves and to their common coun-Different lines of thought and gressman and Senator respectively, and

I must be pardoned for expressing the pinion that it is exceedingly unwise in South Carolina, either by a State association, or by leading individuals, at this time to be conspicuously clamoring for any kind of reform in Federal taxation or Federal legislation.

Even the appearance of attempting leadership by South Carolina in national affairs will be resented by both North and South. Politics is very analogous to war-in fact, it is mimic war; and just as the best soldiers do not like to follow a defeated general into battle a second time, so the conquered South has had enough of South Carolina generalship for some time to come. It has not been long since our State was the recognized leader of both the South and the National Democratic party, and that leadership ended in war, defeat and ruin. Shall we of the Palmetto State always e self-idolatrous Bourbons, never forgetting, never learning anything?

Then why oppose the inevitable? It is as true now as it ever was that whoever spits against the wind spits in his own face; and considering that South Carolina's policy led to the war which forced the government to contract a debt of nearly three thousand million dollars, the payment of the interest and principal of which, together with prodding for current expenses and pensions, requires an annual revenue of nearly three hundred million dollars, is it becoming in South Carolina to prate about free trade? * * * * Hence, as there is probably no way to

Those of us who were less conspicu-ous in the great conflict have a priceless example in the self-respecting dignity and heroic fortitude of the two great men who represented the civil and military heads of the Confederate Government-Jefferson Davis and Robert E.
