Monument to Rev. Sidney T. Riser.

The congregation of Christ church, Staunton, Va., have recently erected a handsome monument over the grave of Rev. Sidney T. Riser, who died while pastor of the church about two years ago. The monument is pure white marble resting on a granite base. The dates of his birth and death are carved on the face, and is beneath the inscription "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." This is a fitting tribute to one who was greatly beloved by the people whom he faithfully served.— Lutheran Visitor.

A Stupendons Task.

The present cannot boast of things remarkable beyond precedent, for do we not read that when Alexandria was laid out "in the form of a plethrum, or military cloak," to an architect named Dinocrates was assigned the arrangement of the gardens, and he con-ceived the daring project of carving Mount Athos into a statue of Alexander, "with a city in the right hand and a reservoir in the left." But they knew not of the merits of the Cinchona tree of those yet undiscovered primeval forests, and fevers and ailments thinned the ranks of soldiers and slaves. A bottle of Dr. Westmoreland's Calisaya Tonic would have been as nectar to them. Its medicinal virtues that alleviate debility, prostration, restore lost appetite, cure dyspepsia, invigorate the system, eradicate blood and malarial poison and ward off chills and fevers, would have brought fresh laurels to the marches of those conquering legions. Annals of Newberry

THIS VALUABLE WORK IS I now going through the press, and will be ready for subscribers in No-

Besides the original Annals of Judge O'Neall, this book will contain the names of all the volunteers who went from Newberry District to the war with Mexico: it will contain the names of all from the County who were in the Confederate service in any capacitythat is, all whose names the compiler has been able to procure-with the casualties that happened to them; it will contain an accourt of the heroic death of Calvin Crozier, who died that another might live; it will contain a sketch of the trying times of the Reconstruction. It will contain some Revolutionary anecdotes and scraps of history, not nsually published in the histories of the State, or of the United States. It will tell of Emily Geiger and her perilous ride. It will contain sketches of different sections of the county, of the schools, of the celebrated Mount Bethel ous ride. It will contain sketches of schools, of the celebrated Mount Bethel Academy, of the religious denomina-tions, of benevolent societies, of Miss Galloway and her mission to Egypt, of changes in business and business firms, or descendants of families who long ago left this county. It will contain some account of War Times in Newberry during the late war between the States. Nor is the literature of the country be given; the history of the newspapers old times, as seen through the eyes of old men, will be given. It has been the aim of the compiler to make a book, valuable not only for the present time, but for generations to come-a standard work of reference in the history of Newberry County. And as the number of copies printed will be limited, it would be well for all persons who wish copies to give their names, at an early day, to Mr. John A.
