WHAT IT MEANS.

This is no time for ugly names or unpleasant and unkind epithets. There is no need for any one to be hurt. The issue is not one of individuals or personalities. It is not Haskell nor Tillman. The principle involved is that of Democracy. These principles cannot be maintained nor propagated except by a party organization.

Let every Democrat and every white man and every lover of home rule and honest government turn out next Tuesday and cast his ballot for the regular Democratic nominees. The principles of Democracy and the integrity of the party are involved.

A TRAVELLING MAN'S FIGURES.

A well known traveling man who is a supporter of Judge Haskell has made an estimate of the result of the coming State election. He gives Judge Haskell and his ticket a majority of 10,000 and arrives at his estimate as follows: Of the 110,000 negro votes in the State he takes off 10,000 who will vote for Tillman, 25,000 that are not registered and 25,000 that won't vote, leaving 50,000 Republican voters for Haskell. Then he gives Haskell 20,000 of the Democratic vote of the State, making a total of 70,000. Of the 80,000 white voters he puts 10,000 as unregistered and 20,000 for Haskell, leaving Tillman a white vote of 30,000. Adding 10,000 negro votes to this gives Tillman 60,000.—Greenville News.

We do not agree with these figures. We do not believe that the Haskell ticket will get 20,000 Democratic votes. But we have only placed these figures and this estimate before the Democratic readers of this paper to show how it is possible for the independent ticket to win even when you take from it over half of the negro votes. Every Democrat should look up his registration ticket and go to the polls and cast his vote for the Democratic party and white supremacy. Remember, too, that the polls open at seven o'clock in the morning and close at four o'clock in the afternoon.

HASKELL MADE A MISTAKE.

Gen. Hampton's Opinion of the New Movement, the Position of the Gallant Old Soldier in the Present Crisis in the State. [Special to the News and Courier.] COLUMBIA, Oct. 24.—Senator Hampton has addressed the following letter to Col. J. L. M. Irby. It will not satisfy extremists on either side, perhaps, but it will meet the approval of all other citizens. COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 23, 1890.—Col. J. L. M. Irby—My Dear Sir: When I wrote a personal letter to you recently my intention was to remain silent until I could give my views to you more fully than I then did; but since my return home so many friends have asked of me an expression of opinion on the condition of political affairs that I gave a brief statement to the press a few days since. This, perhaps, rendered it unnecessary for me to address you again; but with various communications and invitations to speak at public meetings have reached me I take this method of making my views known to those who have done me the honor to write to me.

Another reason that induces me to take this course is the fact that my position regarding political matters here misrepresented in some quarters, and I desire that my fellow-citizens be fully informed as to both, so that they may judge aright. When my old constituents of this county, who had often trusted and loved me in the past, invited me to address them in June last, I came, having but one object in view, and that was to appeal to you people for harmony, for conciliation and for peace. I expressly disclaimed any intention of interfering in any way with the canvass for Governor, and I neither advocated any candidate nor opposed any. I said that the people were to elect their proper judges in the selection of their officials and that from their verdict there should be no appeal. In order that there might be a full and free expression of their wishes as to selection of candidates, I urged that primary elections be held, and had this plan been adopted the present deplorable condition of affairs would not have existed. Other courses prevailed, and the result is a divided party and a wretchedly unwise and unwise policy of maintaining the supremacy of our party and to promote the welfare of our State.

No one deplores the unhappy dissensions in our party more than myself, but I would willingly make any sacrifice to heal them were it in my power to do so. But the only remedy that can be applied must come from the conservatism and the patriotism of the people themselves, and we can only hope that by the exercise of these virtues the dangers threatening us may be averted. It was the conviction of my inability to reform our broken ranks and to induce me to decline to take part in any public discussion on the hustings. My judgment is clear that public meetings at this juncture would be unwise; that they would only tend to widen the existing breach in our party and to make it irreconcilable. We want no further excitement; we have had already too much of that, and of a perilous character; the issues involved are fully understood by the people, who are entirely competent to decide them.

But whilst I shall not speak again in this canvass, I shall support the ticket nominated by the Convention, and in so doing I am doing the best I can for the good of the State. My judgment is clear that public meetings at this juncture would be unwise; that they would only tend to widen the existing breach in our party and to make it irreconcilable. We want no further excitement; we have had already too much of that, and of a perilous character; the issues involved are fully understood by the people, who are entirely competent to decide them.

I am compelled to support the September ticket because it was nominated by the Democratic convention, and because the other ticket lacks that endorsement. I regret deeply that the latter ticket has been brought out, though I have the greatest respect for the gentlemen composing it, and I do not, for one moment, question the motives of those who nominated it. For the gallant and distinguished general, who has done so much for his country, I cannot forget his eminent services to the State, in peace and in war. To him we were largely indebted for the success which crowned our efforts in 1875, and for the gift of the State to the people, which I would not earnestly and cordially support him were he endorsed by the recognized authority of the Democratic party. All-remembering the great services which I shall not deny to the man who was one of our ablest and bravest officers in my command, and who was my trusted friend and adviser in '75.

I do not propose to offer advice to my fellow-citizens, for my last honest effort to do so fell unheeded; but I do appeal to them, by the glorious memories of '75, by all our hopes for the enduring prosperity of the State, to avoid all semblance of violence in their conduct, and to abstain from any act that would not only tarnish the fair fame of the State, but it would place in the hands of our political opponents the most powerful weapon that we possess, and it would furnish the strongest argument for the enactment of the odious Federal election bill now pending before Congress.

Let every man who holds the honor of our State dear, constitute himself a peace officer, and let us prove to those who traduce us that whatever differences may exist in our party we can settle them at the ballot-box, without resorting to intimidation and to violence. Then we may confidently cherish the hope that the bitterness engendered by the present unhappy strife has died out and we shall see again a united party and a prosperous people—a return to the time.

When none was for a party. When all were for the State. In the brave days of old. I am very respectfully, WADE HAMPTON. Against Dr. Woodrow. CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 25.—The South Carolina syndicate at Yorkville yesterday sustained the secretary of the Charleston Presbytery in refusing to admit Rev. Dr. Jas. Woodrow to membership in the Presbytery by a vote of 70 yeas to 52 nays.

Three Inches of Snow. SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Snow fell to a depth of three inches in Greenfield, two miles from here, last night. Early Snow in the Mountains of Tennessee. NASHVILLE, TENN., October 25.—A special from Knoxville says: "A considerable quantity of snow fell on the mountains last night. Two to four inches is reported at Cranberry. This is about two or more weeks earlier than usual for snow in the mountains. In some places snow has fallen on green leaves."

POLITICS IN COLUMBIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD AND NEWS.—If, at the approaching State election, the negro vote counts, the Anglo-Saxon race in sufficient strength to carry to victory for the Independent ticket, internecine war will not unlike be the result. Is the bitter lesson of blood, sorrow and degradation of the race we belong to soon to be forgotten? After nearly thirty years that atrocious element whose oriflamme bears the imperious motto, Non me tempore, again commits the heinous crime of a session, entered into an unholy league with negroes and throws the State into revolution, eye into blood, rather than submit to the will of the people.

Like Lucifer, the arch-heretic, some men would reign in hell that might reign in heaven. The whitened bones of brave Confederate dead appeal in vain to such men. The cold form of our beloved chief, rebuked, by a life of patient, heroic endurance, this arrogant, self-seeking, more supreme than the peace of homes or the welfare of our State. Clans of Carolina, arm you for the fray! Again redeem our commonwealth from this threatened negro domination. Follow brave Butler and Hampton, as in '75, and rout this enemy, more insidious, because disguised by names once honored in our history. Crushed now, this hydra-headed monster, independently, we will not permit it to rise again. Carolinians, by the sacred memory of widowed hearts, the cry of helpless orphanage, and the tears of women, who suffered all the pangs of the bitter past under negro rule and ruin, we charge you to vote for white supremacy, the safety of your homes, the peace and prosperity of your State—or, by your vote, bring the opprobrium of the civilized world upon the once-honored name of South CAROLINA.

The Lyles or Haskell committee say that they are receiving very encouraging news, and that with a free election will win the day. A member of the committee said that information had been received that Capt. Tillman's supporters were employing colored men to work up the Republican ticket, and that the Democrats were confident that deals for that vote were proposed, but would prove ineffectual. The claims of the Democratic committee were ridiculed as preposterous. BRATTON DOWN ON BOLTERS.
