BILL ARP ON A CRAZE.

He Pays His Respects to the Everiasting portance that We Endure.

[Atlanta Constitution.] and it's a fair compromise for me to two meals. In fact, I would enjoy the the biscuits brown on the bottom, but this morning they were as white as cotton and were blistered on top, and Mrs. Arp said it would take me two or fired up and an hour or two sooner so | tired paying $3 a hundred for flour," as to get properly hot in the lower and he hurried on to his work. And chamber. So I reckon I will have to so, Mr. Editor, I don't know what to rise with the chickens and flap my do. I would fix it all right if I could. wings and fire up. The children beg I would arrange matters so that every me to wake them up and let them do kills them to get up so soon, and she had rather do it herself. But it is most astonishing how late at night these children can set up at a party or frolic and still keep their healtn, and I have admired the alacrity with which they rise when they are going on an excursion or picnic and have to take an early start. There seems to be a power of stirring around this summer, considering the hard times, and I have thought that maybe all this going to and fro had something to do with the hard times. It don't cost so much to travel, but there is always some fixing up to do beforehand, and that costs money. My folks told me last summer that the excursion rate to St. Simon's and back was only $6, and the children had never seen the ocean, and it did look like we could afford that little sum and ought to embrace the golden opportunity. And so I surrendered, and prepared my finances for the S6 apiece and two or three days board, but they stayed ten days, and that with all the preliminary fixings, I never got over the golden op-

Old Dr. Kirk says that these excursions and conventions will break the the Masons to Macon, and the conductors to Gainesville, and the school teachers to Brunswick, and the military to Chickamauga, and the legislature to Salt Springs, and some more editors to Chicago, and the college boys and the college girls everywhere in squads, and then there are the Odd Fellows and the Knights of Honor and Knights of Pythias and Knights of Labor and Knights of Jericho and Scylla and Charybdis, and the baseball teams that are all on the go somewhere, and besides all these there are a big lot of women and girls and fancy fellows visiting the springs, and a heap of them dance and gamble and drink and carry on scandalous, and a heap of them don't, but it all costs money, and our young men haven't got it to spare, and they come home broke and don't lay up a dollar, and they can't marry, for they haven't got anything to marry on, but they flirt around amazing and make a mash and go home and brag about it. Why there are boys in all these towns that are clerking or working for thirty excursions, and they are not laying up a dollar, and the old man is kept bowed down and hard run to help them along, boys ought to put on the brakes and pect to have again.

And the good old doctor came down with his cane hard on the brick; and about this time old Uncle Simon Peter came along and took up the subject as the doctor left off and said: "Yes, they have got too many societies, and I used to be as big a fool as anybody and joined every one that came along-the Masons and Sons of Temperance, and Bible societies, and I don't know how many more, and what with preaching to reform the world and save the country, and so I joined, and I've been talking to them about whiskey and tobacco and extravagance and corruption at Washington, but my ideas don't seem to be popular, and they say my views are all right, but they are impracticable. There are $900,000,000 spent in a year for whiskey, and $600,000,000 for tobacco, and $100,000,000 wasted in extravagant salaries, and if the Alliance | dergo woman's severest trial we offer would just come down like an aval anche upon those three things and save that $2,600,000,000 a year, all that money would be put into useful and profitable industries, and it would get scattered among the people and make everybody comfortable and happy, and the farmers wouldn't need any subtreasury. Why, if they will just tackie the whiskey alone and stop every still and importation of spirits our courts would mighty nigh dry up for want of business, and our jails would be empty and our taxes be reduced 50 or 75 per cent. But the Alliance can't see it, for they want a little something for snake bites themselves, and the whiskey ring is a tremenous power in the nation, and so I have despaired of reforming the people by myself and have concluded to go along and preach the gospel and leave mankind to the Lord who made them." And the good old man gave a sigh and wat on his way.

And I met James Gilreath, another good man, and a good, industrious citizen he is, and he, too, belonged to the Alliance and is desperately in earnest, and he said the bottom was about to drop out of farming as a business, for everything he raised was below the cost of production. Said he, "Here "Sorrow endureth for a night, but joy I've got a carload of wheat right here con th in the morning." That is un- in town for sale, and all I can get is 77 les, the cook has quit and you have to cents a bushel, and I've kept an account rise before sunup and cook breakfast fair and square and it has cost me over yourself. But I don't mind it much 80 cents to raise it, and my cotton is worse than that, and I've worked cook breakfast and the girls to clean up harder last year and this than I ever after my messing and cook the other did in my life, and you can just look at my hands, and I tell you Major Arp frolic, if the cranky stove would bake there is no use in talking something has got to be done for the farmers-77 cents won't grow a bushel of wheat in this country."

Just then a carpenter came along and three days to get my hand in, and she said: "Well, I'm glad to hear wheat hinted that the old stove was about has come down. I hope now we will get burnt out anyhow and that it had to be flour a little cheaper. I'm getting mighty man could sell high and buy low; but I it all, but their mother says it nearly | don't see my way clear, and so, like Uncle Simon Peter, I believe I will give all people my benediction and leave these troubles with the Lord.

But these youngsters don't care a cent about the the price of flour nor the third party, nor where the money is to come from. They have about run away with the country. To-morrow there is to be another baseball match game. They have had three this week, and because I slip around the back way and get in the back ground and look on they say I'm in favor of it, but I ain't. If they woulden't play I wouldn't go; but I don't want to see Dalton of Cedartown or Marietta come up here and beat our boys, and so I slip around to do a little hollering and sick the boys on. The boys oughtent to lead an old man into temptation. They can't play much nohow. They don't hit one ball in ten, but we boys used to knock the old town ball a quarter of a mile, and if we ever missed one we were caught out crazy about tennis. They play all the shank of the afternoon, and sometimes don't get back in time to fix the table portunity and the strain for six months. But Mrs. Arp declares it was worth it, for supper, and my wife has got to go and she wouldn't mind going again down town nearly every evening for a this summer if I had the money to spool of thread or something, and I've spare, which I haven't and never ex- just found out she slips over to the tennis court to see young folks playnext thing I know she will be playing football. She takes rides with the country, and that nobody can stand it children and says they ought to have but the negroes. And here they go and some sport while they are young-somethere they go, like a fiddler's elbow- thing to look back to when they get the lawyers to Columbus, and the doc- old and full of care and trouble. It into notice by Mr. Alexander, an extors to Augusta, and the editors to New has been forty years," said she, "since tensive cotton planter of Richmund York, and the dentists to Atlanta, and I had any time to enjoy such things, | County, Georgia. the Royal Arcanum to Savannah, and for there was always a baby in the way, and now I am going when I feel like

> Well, let her go. I don't care. Let her mew her youth, as Milton says. She ought to have a pension right now as a confederate wldow; but she is spoiling these children. Whem I came home from Missouri I inquired for Carl, and she said he was at Chickamauga with the military. "How is that?" said I. "He diden't belong to any company." 'No," said she, "but he went over to Rome, and Captain Byrd took him in on the tail-end of his company, and he borrowed a uniform and I let him go. He has been studying very hard, you profiting by the Alliance. It has been know, and needed a rest." Well, I had entirely changed from its original For sale by W. E. PELHAM, Druggist. two grandsons up there-military boys right fresh from Auburn college-and they got into the company, too, and wanted to rest, and so I acquiesced and ruminated, and sung my old song: "Sorrow endureth for a night, but joy cometh in the morning."

"Well, it didn't cost a cent, for the State footed the bills, and the boys say they had a splendid time--never had or forty dollars a month, and it takes so much fun in all their lives. Two it all for clothes and buggy rides and of them belled a cow and rode her bareback through the camp one evening, and never got in the guard house for it. Only had to do double guard and its all wrong, all wrong, and the duty for two days, and that wasent nothing they said. A new company from the wiregrass got there one night about ten o'clock, and the cadets found out they were pretty green and met them at the depot and marched them a mile away and drilled and doublequicked them for two hours just as though they had orders to do it. They eat up all their own rations and stole everybody else's that were not under lock and key. They kept the whole camp in an uproar, and I'm afraid my lineal descendants were at the head of world was again pleasant to live in and travelling and the conference and it. Captain Phil Byrd, of "The Husall the societies I like to have never got I tler," had better mind how he attaches acquainted with my family, for I was the Arp family to his company. It out somewhere every night; and one has been 46 years since I helped to take day my wife saw a notice in the news- the clapper out of the college bell and paper that there was a new society hoist a billy goat into the tutor's room, just come for the protection of hen- and now the sins of my youth are bepecked husbands, and she called my ing vented upon me in the devilment attention to it and asked if I hadn't of my children and grandchildren, and better join it and run for president; and I the State and the governor and the that put me to thinking, and I quit for legislature and my wife are responsible a while, until it occurred to me not for it. But it's all right, I reckon, and long ago that I could do some good by all's well that ends well. "Sorrow enjoining the Alliance and helping them | dureth for a night, but joy cometh in

By All Odds

The most generally useful medicine is Ayer's Pills. As a remedy for the various diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, these Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be easy and pleasant to take, but preserves their medi-cinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, soldiers, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies

"In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medi-cine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but persuaded my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by mid-night began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. Okra Cotton.

[Chester Reporter.]

On a visit to Rossville last Friday we were shown, by Mr. W. S. Westbrook, an acre of a kind of improved cotton which he has cultivated for three years past. It is known as the "okra cotton" rom its strong resemblance, especially its leaves, to the okra plant. This piece of cotton was planted on the first day behind sure. And the girls are just as of June, and in just forty days, on the 10th of July, the first bloom appeared. When we saw it last Friday, blooms were thick all over the "patch."

Mr. Westbrook has nearly 200 acres of this okra cotton planted. He claims, as its advantages over other kinds of cotton, its quick growth and maturity, the ease with which it is picked from the bolls, and that it endures drouth longer and with less injury than other varieties of cotton. Mr. Westbrook says it also makes an excellent staple. The okra cotton was first brought

That Wedgefield Disbandment

[Anderson Journal.] The members of the Wedgefield sub-Alliance, at a regular meeting held last Saturday, unanimously resolved to disband and surrender the charter. This action was caused by the entry of the Alliance into politics and the arbitrary actions of the State and County Alliances against all who would not follow the behests of the coat-tail politicians. The humble members of the order are beginning to learn that only demagogues and third-rate politicians are

The Harmony Boat Club.

[Kingstree County Record.] Mr. W. J. Talbert says he and Governor Tillman "are in the same boat, and that try as they will, they can't get them both out." They may be in the same boat, but they are sailing under different colors before the people, and are trying to drown each other in the sub-treasury stream. A short time ago Mr. Talbert said that these who did not think as he did should get out of the boat he was manning.

Thereby Hangs a Tale

'And so, from hour to hour, we ripe, And then, from hour to hour, we ro and rot, And thereby hangs a tale.' And truly, "'tis a tale of woe," of one who had Catarrh in the Head, for many years, and who really had been "rotting," from hour to hour, until Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy came to his notice. He used it at first with slight signs of relief, but he persisted until a permanent cure was effected, and the From his awful suffering he was set free by the expenditure of a few dollars in that incomparable remedy.

AN EARTHQUAKE IN INDIANA

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 26 .- The most distinct shock of earthquake ever felt here occurred at 8.28 this evening It was preceded by a rumbling noise resembling distant thunder. A moment later a violent quaking occurred, lasting several seconds. The motion was lateral apparently from north to south. Windows rattled and buildings swayed perceptibly.

The people fled in affright into the streets. Every open store in the business centre and private residences were emptied of their occupants. Congregaby using Hall's Hair Renewer. Sculler was delivering his sermon in the United Presbyterian Church a sudden storm arose and the high steeple was truck and badly shattered by a thunderbolt. There were over three hundred peode in the church, and a panic followed that was only quelled by the pastor and cool heads demanding that no rush be made for the door. Many women screamed and fainted when the blinding flash was followed by the crashing of the steeple; but outside several slight shocks no one was injured. The congregation then joined in prayer and thanksgiving for their marvellous escape, and were distribled with a tremulous bene-
