NEWBERRY, S. C. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1891.

HOW IS THE FIGHT TO BE MADE?

The News and Courier and the Greenville News have been indulging in a little cross-firing as to the Ocala demands and Democracy, all of which has grown out of the question raised about fighting the Ocala demands inside the Democratic primaries.

We are inclined to think the Greenville News is right. The thing should be fought squarely out in the Democratic primaries.

We think if the issue is squarely and fairly met before the white people of this State a majority of the people will be opposed to most of these demands. Let the issue be squarely joined.

The Greenville News very well says, speaking of these demands and the way to meet them, the issue:

We are not good at splitting hairs or dwelling on fine points of logic. All we know is that a large number of men who are Democrats, members of Democratic clubs and entitled to vote in Democratic primaries and elections are...

What has become of the proposition for water works and electric lights for Newberry? A system of water works would be a great thing for Newberry.

Mr. Cleveland is making speeches in New York in behalf of the Democratic ticket.

Superintendent of Education Mayfield has been paying the teachers of Newberry County some very high compliments.

This is very nice in Mr. Mayfield and it is true. Newberry has a fine set of teachers and they are interested in their work.

This is the great need of the age. Good common schools in every community in the State within reach of all the children.

The teachers should keep up the high standard they have attained and aspire to still higher things.

Governor Tillman needs to be commended for his action in ordering the sheriff to return the negro who killed Mayor Hennehan back to the Spartanburg jail.

This is the thing of raising prisoners around over the country to avoid lynching does not speak well for the law-abiding spirit of the citizens of any community, and when it is once understood that sheriffs will protect their prisoners there will not be so much effort to lynch.

Building Towns and Cities. Every town is just what its citizens make it. There are its lifeblood. What its reputation, good or bad, it has been made by them.

This is a new paper, whose first number has the extra quoted above. The Express may live a long time and its editor write many articles, but he will never turn a paragraph with more sense and truth than the one we have just quoted above.

This is the doctrine The Herald and News has been preaching for years, and we will continue to preach it because it is sound and true.

There should be united effort in every town to build it up and all the citizens will reap the benefits. Without this the town must linger and linger must die.

Every town is what its citizens make it. True, every word of it. Then let us all get together and make our town the town.

Editor W. M. Jones has retired from the Spartanburg Herald and the paper is left in the hands of Editor J. C. Carlington. The Herald has been a success. We are sorry to lose Mr. Jones, but the interests of the Herald are in good hands.

Wife's Own Little Alliance. From the Orangeburg Enterprise and Alliance Monitor: Mr. William C. A NEEDED INDUSTRY

Newberry has built a cotton mill, an oil mill and fertilizer company, and no one has ever doubted the wisdom of the investment. They have been good things for the town and those who put their money in them.

The Herald and News believes that a roller mill here would be a paying investment. A good deal of talk is being had about our people growing their own bread at home and in our opinion it is the proper thing for them to do.

The writer was over at Gibsonville, in North Carolina, a few days ago and in that little town of 200 or 300 people, they have a roller mill and it is owned largely by the farmers, and it is a paying investment and a good thing for the community.

The Herald and News would like to hear from some of our farmers on this subject. A fifty barrel mill could be built and equipped for about $10,000. That sum could be easily secured and we believe there is nothing that would pay so well.

The farmers of Fish Dam, Union County, met last week and decided to plant only twelve acres of cotton to the acre next year and as a result will plant more small grain. This is a move in the right direction and if followed will do more to liberate the Southern farmer than anything else.

IMPRESSIONS OF FORT HILL.

Beautiful Location—Grand Institution Being Rapidly Pushed to Completion—Great Amount of Work Done and Being Done.

A short time ago we had occasion to visit the historic home of John C. Calhoun. We had read and heard of the work going on at Fort Hill, and had some idea, as we thought, of the magnitude of the enterprise; but our visit proved how far short was our idea of the enterprise.

The first thing that impresses one is the systematic order in which all business is carried on. Artisans, in common parlance, are doing their own work, and going as busy as bees, without any of the friction that is so characteristic of a master hand is at the helm.

The enumeration of the above buildings does not by any means convey an adequate idea of the work done. The stockade, several minor buildings, and the large amount of excavation necessary for foundations represent an immense deal of work.

Governor Tillman Has Mayor Hennehan's Murderer Taken Back to Spartanburg and the Morgan Rifles Ordered Out.

SHERRIFFS MUST DEFEND PRISONERS. GOV. TILLMAN FURTHER COMMENTING ON THE RETURN OF THE PRISONER SAID: "Yesterday morning before leaving here I gave instructions to Sheriff Rowan as to the manner in which he should deal with prisoners who are taken from the jail to the city and held there for trial."

THE ARRIVAL AT SPARTANBURG. SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 1.—John Williams, the slayer of Mayor Hennehan, was brought from Columbia today by a special train, and will be held in the city until he can be taken to the jail at Blacksburg, and from there on the Air Line to this place. At Clifton the Morgan Rifles, under the command of Maj. J. G. Wardlaw, Acting Capt. (Maj.) J. B. McDaniel, and Second Lieut. M. L. Mitchell, boarded the train and accompanied the prisoner to this city. It was feared that an attempt would be made to lynch Williams, so the governor ordered that the company to protect him there was a large crowd at the depot but no demonstration was made, and Williams is now safely lodged under Sheriff Nicholls' care.

THE END OF THE WORLD. A Charleston Newspaper Succumbs to Fate. Mr. F. S. Rodgers' 'Fate of Supporting a Costly Organ.' [Special to the State.] CHARLESTON, S. C., October 7, 4 a. m.—The Charleston World, in its city edition this (Wednesday) morning, announces, editorially, that today's issue will suspend publication indefinitely.

A whisper of the impending suspension was heard on the streets during yesterday afternoon, but the management kept the matter very quiet.

It is understood to be probable that the Sunday Budget Company, which is the publisher of the Charleston World, has been re-elected and controlled by Messrs. L. A. Bealy and Wilson G. Harvey, Jr., respectively ex-night editor and business manager of the World.

These young gentlemen are men of ability who are admirably equipped for such a venture.

Good Advice to Sub-Alliances. [From the Chrster Reporter.] It seems to us that it would be possible for every Sub-Alliance in South Carolina to have a school, the public funds to be supplemented with private funds.

The appalling fact exists that a large proportion of the agricultural population of the State cannot read. Many Alliance men will say that they are too poor to have their children receive a liberal education. The Alliance is now spending a great deal of money for political education; they can and should maintain literary education. There ought to be a general campaign to have approved schools. The Sub-Alliances can hold the key to popular education in the county districts.
