County Board of Control Meet and Appoint R. C. Maybin Dispenser-Has He a Majority of the Freehold Voters to His Petition?

The county board of control for Newberry County held a meeting last Friday and appointed R. C. Maybin the ispenser of liquors for this place. The Herald and Newsstated two weeks ago that he did not have a majority of the free-hold voters to his list, and we have no reason to change the opinion then expressed. No doubt that the board thinks otherwise, for we believe they ntended to act in accordance with the

The board held its session with closed doors, or rather would not let but one person appear before them at a time. Several persons had requested that their names be taken from the petition, and in some cases Mr. Maybin had been given notice before the petition, was filed, and in one case he had promised to take the name off, but the petition was filed with all the names as originally signed, and the board said they had an opinion from the Attorney-General that a name could to some persons to be a little more careful in the matter of signing petitions. The following is a paper presented to the board at the meeting last Friday: THEY ASK THESE NAMES WITHDRAWN.

THEY ASK THESE NAMES WITHDRAWN.

To the Board of Control for Newberry County—Gentlemen: You will find our names on one or both of the applications for the appointment of a Dispenser for Newberry. We placed our names there under a misapprehension, and we respectfully ask that they be erased, as we are not willing to be regarded as signers when you come to pass upon the applications.

A good many persons signed the petition of Mr. Maybin thinking that it was not also a petition for the establishment of a dispensary. Mr. Epting says that Mr. Maybin promised him that he would take his name off, but did not do it. They were all needed to make the requisite number, and then if the board had gotten a full and cor-rect list of the freehold voters of the town he would not have the number, even leaving on all the names that were requested to be erased.

Governor if any fee would be allowed for looking up the correct list, and was told that there was no provision for any such allowance, but that the books of the town clerk and county auditor were the places from which to secure a correct list of the freehold voters. No one can blame the clerk for not caring to look up the matter without pay, for t involves a good deal of labor. But in order to act intelligently it was necessary for the board to have a correct They took and acted upon the list procured from Mr. Fair, the town clerk. That list, which we publish below, contains 141 names. It is the list gotton from Mr. Fair's book. It is not complete and the board was told of two or three names of freehold voters hat are not on it, but we presume that

The Herald and News cares very little about the matter one way or the other, but it seems to us that the board should have exhausted every available means of procuring a complete and correct list of the freehold voters, and neitner petition had the requsite number should have followed the law and let Newberry have prohibition plain and simple, for it would have een just as lawful under the act as to have a dispensary. Mr. Perry's petition seems not to have been considered

There are many people curious to know just how the board reached their decision, so we publish again this week the list of freehold voters upon which the board based their action, and also Mr. Maybin's petition, as it was before the board. On his petition are ninetythree names. Of these ninety-three we find that on their list of freehold voters twenty-two of them do not appear. They are the following:
