STRENGTHENING OF CHARACTER.

We take up a good deal of space this week in the publication of an address on this subject, delivered by the Rev. Bartow B. Ramage at the Commencement of Newberry College last June.

Mr. Ramage is a native Newberrian, but now a resident of Nashville, Tenn. The fact that he is a native Newberrian boy will make the address of interest to his former friends and acquaintances, but not on that account do we present it to our readers, but on account of its intrinsic merit and worth.

It will well repay you for a careful and thoughtful perusal. It is well written and contains many truths that it will be well for us to meditate on and learn lessons from and thus be profited and benefited.

True, as Mr. Ramage says, it is not high birth, wealth or intellectual attainments that make a man truly great. Not even genius itself does this for man, but after all it is the possession of a right and true heart in man that makes true greatness. And often this is found in the man of humble origin or poor attainments intellectually, and possessed of but few of this world's goods.

Let us impress the advice of Barn's father: "Be bad as a manly part. Though I had never a farthing. For without an honest manly heart, No man was worth regarding."

We fear, in this utilitarian age, this attainment is too much overlooked and neglected. More heart culture, more sentiment, if you please; more of that greatest of Christian virtues, charity, love of fellowman, is needed in this age. These cannot be attained without heart culture and heart development.

Permit us to quote here one paragraph from this address and then beg that you read the whole: "There has never been a time in the history of this country when there was greater need than at present of men of sound and spotless character. The cry of demand of to-day is for strong, resolute men of energetic will and unflinching moral courage; men of manly hearts, imbued with high purposes, governed by sound principles, and solemn responsibilities of the present age. Not that men are worse now than ever before. Such a pessimistic view is unjust, unwarranted and untrue. What is meant is this: Modern progress and achievements have been so wonderful and rapid, the future is filled with possibilities so bewildering to contemplate, that the share allotted to the present generations, in working out the grand destiny awaiting our nation, far exceeds in value and importance any part taken by our forefathers; and is fraught with difficulties and dangers never before experienced."

We fear sometimes men do not appreciate aright the responsibility of living. There is no need for the bitterness and strife, the enmities and jealousies so often found in life. These come from giving rope and latitude to the baser instincts of our natures. With the proper aim of life before us and the proper appreciation of the duties and responsibilities of life, with a proper cultivation and development of our letter selves, many of the rough places might be made smooth and we would be better prepared for that life which is to come.

We need to develop more our better natures, cultivate the courtesies and amenities of life, and this would be made the better and the happier by so doing. It is not so much what people think of us as what we ourselves really are. Let us take more thought for the building of character and the world will soon place the proper estimate upon us.

IS THIS TRUE? It is stated that the Hon. Ben Terrell, the great alliance lecturer of Texas, is coming to South Carolina in October to deliver a series of lectures. In this connection the following press dispatch has been published:

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 26.—A special from Washington says: South Carolina has another sensation. Concomitant with the reform ranks here when it was stated by a Texas Congressman that the celebrated Ben Terrell was on his way to South Carolina for the purpose of conferring with the reform leaders in that State to mature plans for the launching of a third party movement there.

It is positively stated, also, that Senator Irby left here night before last in order to be present at the confab. This rumor is largely substantiated by the fact that Mr. Irby leaves his seat in the Senate at this particular moment when a crisis is at hand and a hard battle is being fought, when the free silver men are rallying all their support for a final death struggle, and every free silver vote is needed.

The reform members of Congress from South Carolina are all aware that Mr. Terrell is going to the Palmetto State, or that they know anything of his purpose or intentions they affect entire ignorance.

Mr. Terrell may be coming, but we do not believe that his coming had anything to do with the coming home of Senator Irby. He would hardly just yet go to organizing another party. The end of his present term in the senate is too far away yet. Mr. Irby seems to have gotten home for other reasons, but just what they may do now since he is home under these peculiar circumstances, we will not pretend to say.

WITHOUT CLEARING HOUSE CERTIFICATES.

There is one thing for which Newberry should be proud. By the wise and careful management of Mr. McCaughrin and those associated with him, and of President McIntosh and Wheeler & Mosely, Bankers, of Prosperity, Newberry County has managed to pull through the worst of the financial stringency without resorting to the use of clearing house certificates. It has been a heavy strain on the banks as well as individuals, but we have reached the cotton crop and it is being paid for without the use of clearing house certificates, and in good and sound money. Those who are in the habit of flippantly abusing the banks and those in charge of them do not appreciate the strain these gentlemen have undergone to keep this portion of the commercial world moving. The merchants as well as the farmers had to get money from the banks in order that the people might be furnished with provisions to make the crop, and then money had to be had with which to move the crop, and it has all been done here in Newberry County with good and regular money. Let us hope for better times very soon. Cotton has an upward tendency and we believe the farmers will realize a fair price for their cotton.

Mr. Bob Harris has been confirmed as postmaster at Union in spite of the protest of Senator Irby. Maybe that is the cause of the pitiable condition of Senator Irby when he came through Columbia the other day. It is a great pity that Senator Irby made such an exhibition of himself. If he wanted to drown his sorrows in that way it would have been tenfold better if he had done so in private. This would have been better for the honor and reputation of South Carolina. And also better for those who put him in his present position by their votes. Poor South Carolina and poor Mr. Irby, both have our profound sympathy. A great many very learned men and men who hold high and honorable positions have been known on occasions to take too much of the stuff which maketh merry, and it must be said not to their credit, but we do not remember to have heard of their making such an exhibition of themselves. Certainly no South Carolinian.

We agree with the Greenville News in the opinion that it would have been much better not to have given such wide publicity to the doings of the Senator in that condition, and if the matter had been left to us we would have kept it out of the newspapers, but now it has been published from one end of this country to the other.

The Laurens Herald does not believe that Senator Irby was under the influence of whiskey when he appeared in Columbia last week as reported in the newspapers. Well, the Herald may not think so, but the evidence seems to be too strong to make many other people think with our contemporary, and we do not believe that Senator Irby will corroborate the statement himself. It is a very sad occurrence, but it cannot be gotten out of by denial. True, many other great men have, on occasion, taken too much of the merry making stuff, but we do not remember of their making such an exhibition of themselves, and even if they did, a reform statesman should not follow in the footsteps of the old oligarchy. We have been taught to think better of reform, and reform leaders.

The Baptist church of Timmonsville is after State liquor Dispenser Traxler for holding the position he does, while at the same time being a prominent member in the aforementioned church. Mr. Traxler says he is in favor of the law and hopes it will be a success in reducing the amount of liquor consumed. When he finds that as much as sold was under the old plan of license then he will resign, for in that event he cannot see how it will help the cause of temperance. If the law prove a success from Mr. Traxler's way of counting it a success, it will scarcely be a financial success. He seems to be in the business for the good he can do.

We are no prophet, but if Mr. Traxler's idea is carried out we do not believe it will be long before the law is repealed by our Legislature. We may be mistaken, but we fear it was more the desire to make money than to promote temperance, that gave rise to the Dispensary law.

That was a terrible affair in Roanoke, Va., last week. It is had that citizens should have to sacrifice their lives and all about a negro who mercilessly beaten an aged white bad woman for the purpose of robbery. But the mob that wanted to lynch him was wrong. He was in the hands of the law and would have been duly punished for his crime. The mob was warned to desist but instead they fired on the soldiers who were guarding the jail and the fire was returned with a terrible result. The mob was wrong, yet we cannot but feel what a pity it is that so many good and useful citizens should have to die over a worthless and brutal negro. Still, mob law must have a place to stop, or our laws and courts will be useless machinery, and the life and liberty of none of our citizens will be safe. The woman was not fatally injured and will recover.

The Senate is still debating the Sherman act. The Lodge election bill was talked to death in the same body, and the idea of the silver men who oppose the repeal of the Sherman law, though in the minority, seems to be to do the same thing now.

With this sort of rule one or two men who had the physical endurance could defeat the passage of any law. And nearly all those who are fighting the repeal favor repeal, but they want to make conditions. If it is a bad law and should be repealed, we see no reason for delay, and then go to work and pass the needed new legislation. The Democratic platform declares for the coinage of both silver and gold, and all branches of the government have a majority elected on that platform.

That was an ugly affair at Roanoke. A committee of citizens has asked Mayor Trout to return to the city in the interest of law and order.

THERE SEEMS TO BE NO END OF THE LITIGATION WHICH THE STATE IS GETTING INTO FROM ITS BEING IN THE WHISKEY BUSINESS.

The State has taken out a wholesale license and retail licenses for the sale of liquors, but Dr. Ensor, who is a United States Deputy Marshal, says he shall seize the first barrel of dispensary whiskey he finds without the stamp. It is now a matter of stamps. If we understand the law it requires a dealer who ships five gallons or more in one package to put a United States stamp on it. The State has been shipping to the counties whiskey in barrels without this stamp.

The State, we presume, will take the position that it is shipping to itself; that the county establishments are only branches of the big State tree in Columbia. But that will not stop the lawsuit if Dr. Ensor finds any whiskey and carries out his purpose.

Dr. Ensor has since written to Mr. Traxler that upon examination he does not consider the shipments a violation of the revenue laws.

The Swan case, one of the State constables who was fined for contempt of court by Judge Simonton, has been taken on habeas corpus proceedings to the Supreme Court of the United States. More lawyers and lawsuits. It is no wonder that State taxes have to be increased.

There seems to have been nothing in the report that there was a breach between Senator Irby and Governor Tillman. The papers tell us that the Senator was taken immediately to the Governor's mansion on his arrival in Columbia last week, and that he had had news to communicate. What this bad news was are not told, even if there was any bad news at all.

Mr. W. H. Wallace, who has for sixteen years been connected with the newspaper press of Newberry, last week retired from editorial work, and has gone to Columbia to follow the more pleasant duty of teaching young ladies. The Herald and News regrets the departure from Newberry of such good citizens as Mr. and Mrs. Wallace. Mr. Wallace has adorned the profession of journalism and his retirement is a loss to the profession. Our best wishes attend him in his new field.

The Observer will be continued by Mr. J. H. M. Kinard, who was one of its founders, and is a practical newspaper man. He will be assisted by Mr. John W. Earheart, who has been with the paper for several years.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE IN COLUMBIA. The State and the Journal to be Under the Same Management, but Edited Independently of Each Other. [Special to Sunday News.] COLUMBIA, September 23.—There was a report current this afternoon that the State Publishing Company had purchased the Columbia Journal. Mr. H. P. Clarke, the president of the Journal, was seen about the matter and said the report was true, and that the State Publishing Company was buying the Journal together with its plant and good will. The paper will be continued under its present name. This makes Mr. H. P. Clarke one of the largest owners in the State Company. Mr. Ambrose E. Gonzales will continue as the president and business manager of the State Publishing Company and Mr. N. G. Gonzales as editor and manager. The State Company's office will be in the building on the two papers, the State and the Journal.

The State has just put in four line-type setting machines which will be used in the printing of the two papers. Mr. W. W. Price, of the Journal, will be retained by the new management. Capt. John G. Capers, who has done creditable work as editor of the Journal, will give his entire time to his law practice. A portion of his time to editorial work, but prefers to devote his entire time to the law. The Journal will be moved to the State office in a few days. The papers will be edited independently of each other editorially. Mr. N. G. Gonzales will continue the editorship of the State, but who will edit the Journal has not yet been determined.

TILLMAN'S MEN HAD WARRANTS. But Uncle Sam Had Already Seized the Thirteen Barrels of "Peppercorns." CHARLESTON, Sept. 21.—The United States took a hand to-day in the Dispensary law war raging here, and the Internal Revenue Department is tonight ahead of the game. On Tuesday last the State constable arrested James E. Edgerly, agent of the Clyde line of New York and Charlotte steamships, on a charge of bringing liquor into the State against the Dispensary law. The liquor in question consisted of thirteen barrels labeled peppercorns. It was suspected as liquor for the "billion tigers" of Charleston. The constable attempted to seize the consignment, but didn't have the necessary papers, and the barrels remained in the custody of the steamship agents. To-day the constabulary received the warrant of seizure and proceeded to seize it, but were surprised on their arrival to find the thirteen barrels in the custody of a deputy internal revenue collector. The goods were seized under section 3449, Revised Statutes, which confiscates all spirituous and fermented liquors or wines which shall be found under any other than the proper name or brand known to the trade.

There are now two claimants for the goods in the field, the State and Federal Governments, and both mean to fight for the prize. Meantime the thirteen barrels are in the possession of the Federal Government. Their contents will be examined to-morrow. These who know Gov. Tillman are confident that he will direct his constables to seize the property in spite of the possession of the revenue department.

FLORENCE HAS ANOTHER FIRE. A Church, Two Parsonages and Three Private Residences Destroyed. FLORENCE, S. C., September 25.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock this morning. It originated in the Mansion House, an unfinished three-story building. The loss on this house is $6,500; insurance, $4,000. The other losses are: District Presiding Elder J. B. Wilson's residence, $6,000; insurance, $3,500; St. John's Episcopal Parsonage, $300; insurance unknown. A half dozen other residences were damaged to the amount of $500. A second alarm was given at 1 o'clock. Several outbuildings were burned.

Jewelry and Watches repaired and guaranteed by C. W. Collings. If You Wish to Enjoy the Spring and Summer weather and the probably present long spell of fever, cleanse your system and purify your blood by the use of the Harris Lithia Water. It has no equal.

SOMETHING TO INTEREST YOU.

The Property We Own and the Taxes We Pay—More This Year Than Last Year. Examine the Figures—They Are Official. There is an old saying that runs something like this: "The way to reach a man's heart is through his pocket." The more we see of the world, however, the more strongly we are driven towards the conclusion that most pockets have very small and shriveled hearts, if they have any at all. The one thing, however, that must come to all pockets whether they have hearts or not, and that is taxes. It is certain and there is no escaping it.

During the past few years we have heard a great deal about high taxes, a reduction of taxation, the extravagance in the handling of the people's money, and the necessity for reform—oh, that great word, what a wonderful thing it is, and what great things are done for the people in its name. Well, we have had reform for three years now, and we can begin to get a faint glimmer of what it is and what it all means. The people, you see, bear the burdens of taxation, and whether the article costs much or little, they have demanded reform and must have it. The cost does not make any difference to the State. But we propose to give some figures from the official documents and let the people see what it all costs and how it is reforming.

The auditor has just completed his abstract showing the amount of taxes to be collected this year for the various purposes. Some time ago we gave the amount of taxable property as assessed on the auditor's books, but it will be of interest to repeat the totals. These fiscal years always mix up every more or less, and in order that they may be understood, we will not deal in anything but the plainest of English. The taxes for which the State taxes were collected last year was as follows: For State Taxes..... 44 mills, For County taxes..... 24 mills, Constitutional School tax..... 2 mills.

Total..... 70 mills. For this year, and upon which the treasurer will begin his collection on 15th of October, is: For State Taxes..... 54 mills, For County taxes..... 24 mills, Constitutional School taxes..... 2 mills.

Total..... 80 mills. This does not include the special taxes for fire and other special school taxes. These come only in certain townships. It will be seen that the levy for State taxes is one mill more this year than last year. The total amount of taxable property assessed on the treasurer's books for last year was $4,830,370. This year the amount is $4,826,966. This shows a total decrease of $3,404. These amounts include all the property—railroad, real estate and personal. But we have stated that there has been an increase in the total assessments and so there has, leaving off the railroads, and you know the railroads are not the property of the people. The total railroad assessment last year was..... $696,040 This year it is..... 675,730

A decrease of..... $20,310. Leaving a property out of the calculation, it will be seen that the total increase in the assessments of other property amounts to $16,906. The number of taxable polls last year was 3,883, and this year, showing an increase of 157 from this source. The abstract of last year shows an aggregate of taxes for all purposes of $48,866.34. The amount on the abstract for this year is $52,936.10. The people will have to pay $6,069.76 more taxes this year than they did last year. We mean, of course, the people of Newberry County. These amounts include the special school taxes of the county. There are two school districts this year that were not included last year, and their aggregate is only $431.07. The greatest increase is of course in the State tax. Last year Newberry contributed to the State..... $21,736,666 This year the amount is..... 26,548,313

An increase of..... $4,811,647. The ordinary county tax for this year is..... $12,067,415 Last year it was..... 12,075,924. A decrease of..... 8,509. The constitutionality of the tax for this year amounts to $9,653,932 Last year it was..... 9,660,740. A decrease of..... 6,808. The special school tax last year was..... $3,939,120 Newberry Graded Schools..... 166,740 Rutherford School District..... $4,105,860

Total..... $4,033,761 Newberry Graded Schools..... 157,900 Rutherford School District..... 165,080 Utopia School District..... 266,990 Johnstone School District..... $4,623,631. The special railroad tax for interest on bonds last year was: Township No. 1..... $ 389,261 Township No. 9..... 739,207

Total..... $1,128,468. For the same purpose this year: Township No. 1..... 779,70 Township No. 9..... 1,012,26 Total..... $1,791,96. There is an increase here of $663,500. The railroads themselves, in these two townships, contributed last year for this purpose as follows: Columbia & Greenville..... $ 70,875 Columbia, Newberry & Laurens..... 87,813

Total..... $158,688. This year for the same purpose: Columbia & Greenville..... $117,225 Columbia, Newberry & Laurens..... 132,625 Total..... $249,850. It must be remembered that the assessment of the railroad property includes the increase in it, but the increase was not collected last year and the year before. The Columbia & Greenville railroad paid on an assessment of $7,000 road board taxes by the railroads, and it appears on the abstract of the Auditor, as given herewith, at this rate. This makes a difference in the assessment of taxable property for the county of about $88,000. The ordinary county tax and the constitutional 2-mill tax, it will be observed, are in the aggregate a fraction below what they were last year, but when we take off the increase in the assessment of the railroad property it will be seen that the burden on the other taxpayers of the county, for these two purposes, is also increased.

Next year the ordinary county tax will have to be materially increased for the county treasury has been out of money for two months or more already. This deficiency will have to be made up and the levy to meet the current expenses will be increased. We hope the taxpayers will give these figures a careful study. They contain information that every taxpayer should be in possession of.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

A Child Shot While Playing With an Old Pistol. [Special to The State.] PROSPERITY, Sept. 21.—A painful and most probably fatal accident occurred here yesterday. It is the old story of the unloaded pistol. The children of Mr. J. A. Baker were playing in the cotton field near where some negroes were picking cotton, and found a pistol which had been left or lost on the ground by one of the negroes. The children began playing with the pistol, revolving and snapping it. They finally went to the house, taking their pistol with them, and still toying with it after they got into the house, and while in the presence of the family and after continuous revolving and snapping, one chamber was discharged, the ball entering the head above the left ear of a little five-year-old sister. The ball ranged upward, penetrating the brain. Drs. Langford and Julian were called to attend the little sufferer. They found the ball lodged between the tables of the skull, from where they extracted it. The pistol was in hands of a fourteen-year-old brother when discharged. Upon examination it was found that one chamber was loaded when found. The little girl is in a critical condition, and probably will die.

HAVE YOU ANY DEBTS WHICH YOU CAN'T COLLECT? THEN READ THIS LETTER AND PROFIT BY IT. Be assured, "there's money in it." Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 9th, 1892. J. C. Day, Esq., Manager, Detroit, Michigan. Dear Sir:—I beg leave to acknowledge receipt of the Equitable Life Assurance Society's check in settlement of policy No. 432,233 on the life of Charles H. Plummer, deceased. The payment of this claim within three days after presentation of proofs is an agreeable surprise to me and the other beneficiaries under the policy, as I was not aware that the Equitable had departed from the usual rule of life companies in taking from sixty to ninety days in settlement of their policies after receipt of satisfactory proofs of death. Mr. Plummer's purpose in taking out this policy was to strengthen his credit, as it was well known in business circles that he at times took great chances in his dealings.

In his suggestion, about two years since the policy was assigned to me as security for an indebtedness. Soon after this he became embarrassed and was unable to pay the premiums. When the value of the contract was explained to me (it being a 15 year Tontine), I decided to pay the future premiums, at least until the assured's financial condition would permit him to return me the money I had paid out. The wisdom of my decision in this case is now clearly proven, as the proceeds of the policy will not only liquidate all my claims, but it is presumed will leave a handsome balance for the estate.

I cannot say too much in expressing my admiration for the company and its methods; neither can I too highly recommend it to other capitalists who from time to time take chances on men engaged in business whose transactions are on a large scale and at times precarious, as should death occur when there is a large indebtedness, their estate would be much embarrassed, or possibly insolvent. Yours truly, Daniel Harding.
