The State, 23d.7 It was last Monday that The State said that the political pot of reform in this State was boiling merrily, that some surprising things were going on and that probably before the end of the present week some of them, showing a remarkable condition of affairs, would be made public. It was impossible then to tell anything definite, although the representatives of The State were well informed and are better informed now of the moves and counter-moves that have been made and are being

At any rate, the latter faction, headed by Mr. Bowden, came out strongly demand-2 00 ing a March or April convention. Irby 25 00 and his men, after a conference in Washington, declared just as strongly against the holding of such a convention, and Governor Tillman did the 25 00 same. But he soon saw his error, glanced around, noticed which way the wind was blowing and clambered up 20 00 on the fence. Well, now, it can be 25 00 | stated as a fact that this convention, 25 00 which the Alliance faction demanded, is going to be held during the first or second week of April-not later. And it may surprise the public to know that Governor Tillman has at last decided which faction he will affiliate with, for he will either directly or indirectly issue this call. It will appear that some

Serious Practical Joke.

ITHACA, N. Y., February 22 .- A large number of students of Cornell University are leaving town as a result of the sophomore's practical joke on the freshmen last night. While the freshmen's annual banquet was in progress, behind locked doors in the large hall formerly occupied by the Masonic Fraternity, the room was flooded with the wind is blowing, and the rest is left chloride gas. A colored woman, employed as a cook died from the effects of the gas and about thirty students were made ill but will all probably recover. Two students named McNeil and MsCulloch were reported dead, but they are still alive though very ill. Some person had entered a room under the kitchen attached to the hall and bored two holes in the ceiling above. On a table stood a large jug, corked, but in the cork were two rubber tubes, which ran nearly up to the ceiling where they were connected with two glass tubes which ran through the holes in the floor, thus spreading in the room above, the gas generated from the phatically declined last spring in a let- jug, which was found to be chlorine, a mixture of salt and sulphuric acid. There was, however, no clue to the party who had been guilty of this dastardly piece of business. The coroner has taken the matter in hand since the exodus of students.
