THE ELECTION YESTERDAY.

The Herald and News had the returns about all in from the primary yesterday by eleven o'clock last night and our extra was out. So far as we have heard everything passed off quietly and pleasantly. There were two or three little fights at Newberry but they did not amount to much and no one was seriously hurt.

The result is not just as we would have had it if it had been left to us, but the Herald and News accepts the situation and will stand by the nominations.

The ring kept the boys in line for the legislative ticket, but when it came to county officers there was a general scattering, and every one seems to have voted as he pleased.

The vote is smaller than it was two years ago. For delegates to the State convention and for Congress not many more than half of the voters voted.

The Herald and News hopes there will be no effort to go into the general election. We can see no good that it will do, and it will only intensify the situation. All things come to him who waits.

BUTLER WITHDRAWS HIS PLEDGE.

The political situation in this State at this time seems to be all chaos and confusion. No one seems to know who is who or what is what. The primary is just over, but as the Reformers had held a preliminary affair and fixed everything up and dried, a great many people took no interest in the election yesterday.

Really there was no use for the Conservatives to take any hand in it as they had been ruled out, the very object of the Reform convention being to keep their vote from having any influence on the result of the primary yesterday.

In some counties there was no legislative ticket out in the primary at all, and many of them already say they intend to make the fight at the general election in November. The provocation has been great. The whole purpose of the ring inside the ranks of the Reformers seems to have been to ignore and run roughshod over the Conservatives; and such Reformers as were not on the inside of the ring to do anything and everything that would keep the white people divided and drive away every vestige of peace and unity. The Herald and News has used its influence to keep the white people together. We have tried to reason with the men of all factions to be fair and just and to remember that they were dealing with white men who could not and would not bear anything. We still hope that an amicable adjustment may be made. We are not willing to see the white people further divided. The great question is, whether it is better to bear the ills we have than to flee to others we know not of.

Many developments and changes may take place, and that shortly. We cannot advise or encourage an appeal to the general election. We doubt the wisdom of it, and very seriously question whether it would help matters. But as the Reformers are the ones who are in revolt, we shall await developments. Things political will take shape very soon. As to Gen. Butler's letter it looks very much as if he desired to be free for the general election but as a matter of fact he does not come before the primary any way and there was no need for him ever to have submitted a pledge after the executive committee refused to allow a separate box for Senator. The Legislature elects a Senator and the people have nothing to do with it after they elect the members of the Legislature and neither Senator Butler nor Gov. Tillman have anything to do with the primary. The Conservatives, as a rule, have refrained from voting for delegates to the State convention, and there was no need of it unless they desired to confirm what the ring had done. In Newberry, for instance, the executive committee had all the tickets printed with Evans delegates printed on them as if they had already been agreed upon as the delegates to represent the entire county in the State convention.

The whole thing just now is badly mixed, and there is no telling what a day may bring forth. The Observer complains that we did not give it credit for furnishing part of the proceedings of the convention. Why bless its dear life, we would not do an injustice for any amount or take any credit that belongs to it, and we beg pardon for anything that has that appearance. We only stated a fact, and the portion of the report written by the editor of The Herald and News himself was more than printed by any other paper. But we now make acknowledgment to the Observer for any information it furnished.

Any one but a simpleton and John T. Duncan knows that The Herald and News has not and does not give encouragement or endorsement to Republicans or to their registering negroes to vote against white people. When he undertook to make political capital out of a little local that appeared in The Herald and News he was getting hard up for something with which to arouse the boys, but it didn't stir much. And when he says or insinuates that The Herald and News is giving encouragement or sympathy to Republicans he simply says or insinuates what is untrue, and the editor of The Herald and News has already told him so. We must believe that he knew he was misrepresenting The Herald and News when he put that construction on the local to question. Such construction required a great stretch of the imagination.

The tariff law passed by Congress has become law without the signature of President Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland says it is an improvement on the McKinley tariff and therefore would not veto it, but could not approve it with his signature, but would let it become law without his signature.

THE STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Last week I made only brief mention of the annual meeting of the State Press Association at Pawley's Island. As stated, the meeting was not largely attended by the editors, though it was the consensus of opinion of those who were present that the meeting was one of the most delightful ever held. The trip was made by Charleston and on the steamer Planter from there to Georgetown. Our party boarded the vessel the night before it was to leave, though there was but little sleeping. We were booked to leave at 3 o'clock in the morning, and most of us desired to be awake so as to feel the first rock of the waves of the sea when we had passed over the bar, and also to behold a sunrise on the ocean. I had never made an ocean trip. Capt. J. T. Hubbard, of the Planter, was exceedingly kind and attentive to us, and I feel sure the entire party fully appreciate his attentions. We had three ladies in our party—Mrs. H. M. Ayer, Mrs. Virginia D. Young and Miss Nannie Luhn—and their presence added much to the pleasures of the trip. We were disappointed in not having enough roll in the ocean to rock the steamer sufficiently to make any one sea sick. The captain said it was the most quiet and peaceful sea that he had seen in months. We glided along so smoothly as it was possible, being almost impossible to observe the motion of the vessel. This may have been accounted for on the ground that these editors were just from a turbulent political sea whose waves have been lashing them to and fro so fearfully that old ocean determined to have compassion on them and give them one quiet and peaceful sail of a few hours. But withal it was a most delightful trip. A very appetizing breakfast was served on board, and the editors all seemed to have sufficient relish for it to do even justice and credit to themselves as storehouses for palatable viands. The editors were also disappointed in not seeing a sunrise upon the ocean, as it was cloudy until something like 5 o'clock.

There are many places of historic interest along the coast which Capt. Hubbard took pleasure in pointing out and explaining. Just before reaching Georgetown we were met by Mr. Josiah Deor of the Georgetown Times, and he was taken aboard and given a hearty greeting. All the members of the association who were fortunate enough to attend the meeting at Georgetown a few years ago remember with pleasure the hospitality of these good people, and it went without saying that when Bro. Deor said that Mayor Morgan and President Ehrlich, of the Board of Trade, with other citizens of Georgetown, had arranged an excursion down the beautiful Winyah bay for the benefit of the editors, and that we would go on to the island next morning, we agreed to turn ourselves over to the Georgetown people. The day and evening were pleasantly spent and next morning we boarded the Bertie in charge of Capt. A. A. Springs, and after a two hours' ride we were at Waverly Mills where hacks met us and we were taken to beautiful Pawley's Island.

The hotel is in charge of Mrs. Winthrop Williams, the process of charming hostesses, and the editors soon found themselves very much at home. Two business sessions only were held. Good papers were read from Messrs. J. T. Jaynes, S. A. Nettles and H. G. Osteen. Mr. Osteen was the only one of the three present. The other papers were read by the president.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. H. Aull, Herald and News, Newberry. 1st Vice-President, H. M. Ayer, Post, Charleston. 2nd Vice-President, H. G. Osteen, Watchman and Southron, Sumter. Secretary, C. C. Langston, Intelligence, Anderson. Treasurer, F. Melchers, Zeitung, Charleston. Chaplain, Rev. Sidi H. Browne, Christian Neighbor, Columbia. Executive Committee, the officers above; and N. G. Gonzales, The State; A. J. Clark, Enterprise, Lancaster; G. P. Brown, Peoples Advocate, Anderson.

The editors were more bent on enjoying sea bathing and fishing and crabbing and eating fish and oysters and crabs than in attending business sessions.

The sea bathing was fine and we all enjoyed it to the full. Before breakfast and before dinner and after supper we were all riding the waves and getting the benefit of the salt water. It was all very fine. Sleep, eat and bathe. There are no mosquitoes there to disturb the serenity of your slumbers.

Mrs. Williams was untiring in her efforts for the pleasure and comfort of her guests and if one wants a good quiet and pleasant place to spend the summer I can recommend the Pawley Island hotel as kept by Mrs. Williams. Several of our party left on Sunday afternoon for Georgetown, and we came down in a little yacht in charge of Capt. Springs. It was the most charming and delightful ride of the trip. The sun was behind the clouds and the waters of the Waccamaw were placid and charming and the wind was bracing. We reached Georgetown a little later for supper but Mr. and Mrs. Butler, of the Winyah hotel, soon improvised a good spread for us and we were stored away to dream of the many pleasant things we had left behind.

Altogether it was a most delightful trip. Next year we are to meet in the bustling town of Sumter, and the officers hope to arrange a pleasant trip, and we want every member of the association to arrange his affairs to attend the meeting. E. H. AULL.

Last Friday Mr. Frank Moon of this county announced to the editor of The Herald and News that he intended to enter the race for Governor and would stay in to the finish. He was in town yesterday and was at work on his address to the voters of South Carolina which will be issued soon. The Herald and News was mistaken in stating that the county convention should have elected a member of the State Executive Committee. That is done by the delegates to the State convention.

And Dr. Pope withdraws from the race for Governor and advised everybody not to vote for delegates in the primary. We expected that he would withdraw. He concludes also that the Conservatives have been outrageously treated. Well, it took him a long time to find that out. His withdrawal card is printed on the first page.

The Daily Herald was first to champion the cause of John Langston, and he was. A few days ago we threw out the hint that E. H. Aull would make a capital president for the South Carolina Press Association, and he has been elected to that high and honorable office.—Spartanburg Herald.

Now, brother, this is cruel. Please do not mention our name or office on the same day or in the same connection as that of Governor. It is way above that of Governor.

SENATOR BUTLER WITHDRAWS HIS PLEDGE.

Does He Mean to Appeal to the General Election—His Telegram and his Letter.

The following is a copy of a telegram sent to D. H. Tompkins, secretary of the State Executive Democratic Committee, by Senator Butler: "D. C. Aug. 27.—I hereby withdraw my letter filed with you on the 16th June, announcing my candidacy for the United States Senate."

The following is a copy of the letter filed. The public can judge what it all means. The pertinence of the withdrawal is to be found in the last sentence but one in Senator Butler's letter. Does it mean that he will appeal to the general election?

"To Mr. D. H. Tompkins, Secretary Democratic Executive Committee, Columbia, S. C. "Dear Sir: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4th, 1895. I presume the candidates for the Legislature which will elect the United States Senator will submit the result of the primaries set for August 28th next. I hereby request that a separate box be provided by the State Executive Committee at each and every voting precinct in the State in which each voter may express his ballot his preference for United States Senator; said separate boxes to be managed under the same rules as other ballot boxes in the primaries, and I hereby pledge myself to abide by the result of the vote thus cast in at the said primary. An early reply will oblige very truly, M. C. BUTLER."

WHAT DOES IT MEAN? [Special to News and Courier.] COLUMBIA, S. C., August 28.—With a view at getting at the real significance of the telegram and withdrawal of the letter, and with the idea of the doing no one any wrong, I asked Capt. John G. Capers for his view of the telegram. A copy of the telegram was shown to Capt. Capers, who is familiar with the campaign, and he said: "The telegram must speak for itself. Certain it is, however, that it places Gen. Butler entirely independent of the result of the primary, and that you will know a great deal before ten days elapse, and you can rest assured that Senator Butler is still a most active factor in state and national politics."

As Capt. Capers says, it is, perhaps, best to let the telegram "speak for itself." Some have even suggested that it might be construed to mean that Senator Butler has withdrawn from the race. That is altogether too far fetched. It is improbable as it is unreasonable. Those who are on the inside know that Gen. Butler or his friends have no idea of giving up the fight, but on the other hand are confident of success. It is understood that Legislative candidates will be nominated in November who will support Butler. It is further said that Gen. Butler, if defeated by Governor Tillman, will make a contest before the United States Senate, contending that the registration laws of the State are illegal, and that if a full vote could have been polled Butler legislators would have been elected.

Senator Butler, in a telegram to the Columbia Register, says: "I beg to say, in withdrawing the paper filed by me with Tompkins, secretary Democratic executive committee, that I am following the footsteps of distinguished Reformers, who are unwilling to submit their claims to a primary where everything, from corner up has been cut, dried, packed and salted down by the ring; when the result is stated and known by the ring before a vote has been put to the ballot-box."

Several counties have already taken action and nominated candidates opposed to Tillman, and there is likely to be a bitter political fight in the State in consequence of Senator Butler's actions. "REFORMERS FEEL CALM." The nearer the primary election comes the less the interest in that affair. Its one-sidedness has made it an excessively tame and un-exciting event. The Reformers will have for once in their political lives had a primary, no matter what it will amount to, pretty much their own way. In a majority of the counties there will be no opposition whatever to the dominant element. They will be allowed to go through the formula with an electoral ticket, which and Legislative candidates, without any interference. There are many Reformers who think that this is almost too good a thing to last and are fearful that their real opposition will come later on. Of that one is in a position to speak with any degree of authority. It looks something like it from the action taken in Fairfield and the symptoms in other counties.

During the hot weather impurities in the blood may seriously annoy you. Expel them by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

RESULT OF THE PRIMARY ELECTION, AUGUST 28, 1894.

Nominated: Wyche, Duncan, Hardy for the Legislature; For Probate Judge, Fellers. For Treasurer, Boyd. For Auditor, W. C. Cromer. To run over: Higgins and Kibler for School Commissioner. Hill and Wertz for Supervisor. No return in from Walton, but this will not likely change the result.

Bachman Chapel and Union Academy Chaps.

Mr. Editor, we are in no fix for picking up chips at this time. After suffering four or five days with a very severe cold, which many persons would have determined a case of la grippe, our heads feel almost the size of a four barrel. But so long as our chips receive the proper attention we will try and gather up a few.

There has been some sickness in our section since our last writing. Among the sick so far as we could learn, are Messrs. Thos. Epps, M. L. and E. T. Strauss, H. T. and M. L. Long, Robert Taylor and J. J. Kinard, together with two of Mr. J. P. Kinard's children, Mr. S. A. Rikard's little two year old boy and our own little Herman. The maladies are bilious and remittent fevers—some of them severe and protracted, as in our own family—severe cold, carbuncle, etc. I fear, S. J. Kinard's family are sore eyes in addition to bad colds. If I have failed to mention any of the sick it is not intentional, but I am glad to know they are all on the mend.

Mrs. Lizzie Hunter is on a few weeks' visit to her daughter Mrs. Richard Martin of No. 6, near Longshore's. Mrs. Mary Wilson was visiting her son and family in the Sads section. Mr. Willie Sloan and family of Slixhs, was the guest of J. K. Epps last Saturday and Sunday.

Our primary election will come off down here to-morrow, the 28th, if a rain storm or base ball does not prevent. Base call takes the lead now of any other organization I have ever heard of. It is the only thing now going that hasn't got a long and long history with it. Our people, both young and old, have gone perfectly wild over the matter, and I see no earthly chance of stopping the thing now until the Legislature meets and passes a law not to allow but "99" days out of a week for the crossing of bats.

We have made a right fair crop, but how is it to be gathered? For don't you know the negroes have gone to betting, too, and when they start the jig is up. After to-morrow a few of the candidates will enter into their rest as good and faithful servants, but we will say to all the rest weep not, for your time is not over. You have one consolation, and that is, you are in the majority, and misery loves company.

A little more fruit from monkeying with a pistol. About two weeks ago Noah Editt, a negro boy, in fooling with a loaded pistol discharged it. Noah was lucky, the ball through his hand could as easily have gone through his head.

Mr. H. Baird has moved from his home place to what is known as his Street place. Thanks to our friend E. L. Strauss for three of his fine, delicious melons. We took in the Jolly Street campaign meeting last Thursday and thought we would load up a little campaign gun to fire off this week, but our friend "Needle," of the Herald and News force, came in later and relieved us of that trouble. Now we hope to be excused for being brief when we say, for we never do like to butt against so sharp a thing as a needle.

But, in short, we must have a few words to say for old Jolly Street. She is always noted to have a pretty good crowd at all of her gatherings, and a crowd that sticks as tight together as a leech to a dead cooter. The candidates knowing this fact, always make a capital speech on the subject of the match game of baseball at Prosperity. Dr. Wertz and Bill Hill stayed and tried to amuse the few that were left. But the crowd was so weak. Take everything into the account, we were at an advantage, and the few of us left were soon found on our way back home.

Now, friend Needle, we shall ever hold you responsible for breaking it up. Rev. J. D. Bowles' pulpit at Bachman chapel last Sunday evening.

The council of St. Paul's church has given Rev. J. A. Sligh a vacation of one month. Rev. and Mrs. Sligh will take some recreation at Glenn Springs and around the mountains.

Dr. Sampson Pope has caused much wonder and surprise, especially among the Reformers of Newberry County and the State in general, by his withdrawal from the race for Governor. We have always known the doctor to be a little fickle, full of notions and high-tempered. He has always been very enthusiastic in everything he went into, and has shown that he possesses a full share of sound sense. If any man had told me four months ago that the doctor should have gone back so quick upon the very plans that he always advocated in the reform ranks, I would have been forced to denounce it as a falsehood.

The Herald and News has caused no little comment by its late editorial trials in showing up the doctor in his present shape. It was generally supposed that after the doctor found that his chances were gone among the Reformers, he had thrown himself into the arms of the Conservatives for protection, there would have been a great big whoop and a shout of hurrahs from all of the newspapers that were denouncing the Conservatives, and the half of the doctor; but to a great many people's surprise, the Herald and News has come square out and said it cannot stand by Dr. Pope in his present shape.

Now, Mr. Editor, you have received this editorial, for it is entirely contrary to the plans laid out by John G. Capers. He says to the Conservatives to watch T. Wyche, made one of the best speeches of his life which was well received. Mr. H. M. Dominick, made a few broken remarks, after the meeting adjourned.

Messrs. L. D. Morris, Sim Cotney and Fed Frazier furnished the music on the violin, and Miss Hattie Connelly on the organ. The music was excellent. So credit a pleasant and profitable occasion at Fairview, and a day that will be cherished in the minds of the people of that community for some time. The speeches were very lengthy, but they did not tire the crowd. All those that spoke did so well, and everything was carried on so nicely that the day was a day of success and pleasure to the writer, and will be long remembered by him. G. B. D.

CHIPS. Darlington Farmers Go to the General Election.

[Special to News and Courier.] DARTINGTON, August 27.—The opposition ticket in the Reform ranks have withdrawn their names from the primary election and proposes not to be bound by the primary, but to go to the November election. This step was taken at a meeting of the "Reformers" held last Saturday. This meeting was held for the purpose of allowing candidates to declare themselves. These men have refused to abide by the nomination of the ringsters of the "Reform" party. This bold and outspoken action means a great deal, as it is taken by representative farmers who are among the best men in our county.
