Another Running 50 Miles an Bour.

Mr. Robert Norris had a narrow 'scape with his life yesterday afternoon. He is a student of Newberry College, and left Newberry for his home yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, walking the railroad track. About one and a half miles below Newberry towards Pros-perity he met a freight train on the Southern Railway and stepped off the track to give the freight room to pass, but in doing so stepped, almost as it were, into the very jaws of death, for he had hardly gotten out of the way of, the freight before the down passenger hour, and when Engineer Graham saw Mr. Norris he was only about forty yards from the engine on the track. On account of the noise of the freight the young man did not hear the passenger train, and was all unconscious of the imminent danger that he was in. Engineer Graham blew his whistle and reversed his engine, but before he had time to do this the engine was on the young man without slacking in the least its swift speed. He was struck on the right side of the spinal column just below the shoulder and thrown some four feet in the air and headlong down said he would have given his right arm to have stopped his engine, but it was of no avail. Of course he supposed the young man was killed. The train was stopped and Capt. Webb had the young man taken up and he and proper medical attention was given him. Dr. Houseal says no bones are broken, but he could not tell how severe the injuries were last night. The shock was terrible. We hope he will recover. He lives about four miles in the country, and is a member of the Freshman class in Newberry College.

Almost a Fire

Last Thursday night about ten o'clock Mr. J. Wm. Smith, of No. 6 Township, discovered his gin house on fire. There were about six bales of cotton in the house at the time. The fire seemed to have started at a hole under the gin that was made for the dust and dirt to escape, and Mr. Smith feels sure that it was an attempt at indiscovered about as soon as started, and the lint cotton had been taken out of the room and put in the press. He had a barrel or two of water in the house and the fire was soon under conhouse and the fire was soon under control, and very little damage was done. A Remarkable Cure by Leo. the Wonderful -4 Case of Rheumatism of Four Years' Standing Dispelled as if by Magic-Only Thirteen and a Half Minutes for the Operation.

The fame of Mr. John Leo is now spread throughout the borders of Newberry, for on Saturday he performed a most remarkable cure in the presence of an immense crowd of people from all sections of the county, and Edgefield was also well represented.

The patient upon whom this most wonderful cure was effected is Lonnie Griffin, son of Mr. Isaac Griffin, who lives near Prosperity. The young man has been severely afflicted with rheumatism in the knees and ankles for the past four years, during which time he has not been able to put on his shoes, and could not even walk without great difficulty by the use of crutches. It must have taken him at least fifteen minutes to walk from the hotel to Mr. Leo's platform, with the assistance of Mr. Leo and his father.

On arriving at the stand the young man had to be carried upon the platform and assisted to a chair. Everybody could see that he was sorely afflicted. After Mr. Leo had made all his preliminaries, he began rubbing his liniment upon the young man's feet and limbs. The reporter does not think that the rubbing process was more vig-orous than gentle, for Mr. Leo possesses the touch of woman's hand. His movements were rapid, however, and in seven minutes one himb had been rubbed, and the young man was able to move his knee and ankle joints. In six and a half minutes more, the other limb had been rubbed and Lonnie on the C. N. & L. came bulging around be sold on November 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 Griffin was actually able to put on his hour and when Engineer Greham and 16, good to November 17, and will be honored on all regular trains as well had not done in four years. The swelling had been so reduced that the unshapely No. 8 shoes were discarded and Lonnie Griffin put on a new pair—No. 7—furnished by Mr. Leo. He then rose upon his feet, and wonderful to relate, walked with almost unfaltering step the full length of the platform, amid the encouraging shouts of the crowd. His crutches hung discarded upon the end of the platform. He walked up and down the platform again, and again, improving each

Mr. Leo not only performed this re man's vote at Hendrix box. Watch what I say, we are all Democrats and will support no independent. The reporter conversed with a number of Mr. Isaac Griffin's neighbors around the stand and they all bore the same testimony in regard to his severe affliction during the past four years. They all marveled at the wonderful cure Mr. Leo had wrought and rejoiced in Lonnie Griffin's restoration of the most prosperous farmers in this community, he always has some-thing to sell and nothing to buy. More of the power of walking with pleasure

Mr. Griffin and his son were in town of us should follow his example. H. on Monday. The young man had no more need of crutches.

SOME MORE WONDERFUL CURES. On Monday Mr. Leo performed two more almost miraculous cures. Mrs. White of the Factory Hill had been paralyzed in her right arm for ten years. She had been unable to grasp anything with or to use it. Mr. Leo said he could cure her, and sure enough he did. He applied his wonderful liniment for about ten minutes and told her to raise her arm. At first she seemed to think she could not, but on a second effort she raised it without apparent trouble and could grasp with her hand. After shaking hands and bending her arms she took hold of a heavy wood chair and raised it from the floor with her paralytic hand and

The other patient was a seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Konkle, who was affected very much in the same way. After the cure in this case Mr. Leo took up a subscription for the boy and headed the list himsel. He makes no charge for any of the cures-he only sells his medicine, and he says nothing affords him more pleasurethan to be able thus to relieve suffer ing humanity.

It is wonderful. We do not understand it. We do not pretend to explain it. All we know is, what we have seen and related here is true. The lame have been made to walk and the paralytic given the use of their limbs. What it is or how it is done we will not pretend to say. All we know is that it is done. If you do not believe it, come and see for yourself.

BY THE HOME TREATMENT. Below is a testimonial from one of our Newberry boys as to the efficacy of Leo's liuiment: Having been benefited by the remedies of Mr. Leo, I desire to voluntarily and gratefully add my testimonial to the many letters that have been published from a thankful people regarding this famous man and his wonderful medicines. As the public well knows I was knocked down by a street car in Washington two months ago, from which I sustained severe and serious injuries, having fallen under the car and been considerably twisted and doubled up by it, my back receiving the greatest injury. After being con-fined to my bed for six weeks, I was able to come home on furlough; still, however, having to use crutches. Hearing of Mr. Leo and witnessing some of his miraculous cures, I determined to try his remedies. I secured some of his liniment and was relieved by the first application, and immediately laid aside my crutches. Before I applied the liniment I could not stoop sufficiently to wash my face. A few appli-cations made me feel like a new man and put me on the road to entire re-covery, and I shall be able next week to return to my work at Washington. But I could not leave Newberry without thanking Mr. Leo for the great benefit his medicine has done me. W. H. HUNTER.

"LA BELLE MARGUERITE."

This is a charming operatic comedy, the scenes of which are laid in France. The heroine, Marguerite the beile of the village, is much sought after by the village beaus and the students on account of her beauty, grace and amiability. She loves Marcel, a supposed student, but who is in reality a baronet. A number of the nobility, friends of Marcel, visit the village and one of them, a Duchess, recognizes Marcel in spite of his students disguise. She engages him in conversation and Marguerite entering upon the scene becomes lea ous of her at once, Marcel dare not displease the Luchess for fear that she will unmask him and also fears that if he does not explain matters to Marguerite, she will throw him over. The Duchess leads him away and Marguerite determines to revenge herself for the supposed slight. It is the day of a grand fete, and in the village it is customary that the young man who has the first dance with a girl becomes her escort for the evening. In order to tease Marcel Marguerite gives the first dance to all whe ask for it, and each student and villager is eager for the honor, she soon has them in a pretty tangle. Act second is the scene of the fete and is devoted to ensemble dances and to making matters more complicated. Act third finds every thing in a state of chaos, but as the act progresses things are gradually explained and the curialn finally drops on a happy denoument.

The comedy is furnished by "Colledean" (an inn keeper), "Pierre" (a hungry boarder), "Mad. Pomponon" (a giddy old maid), and of cou se "Marguerite," the life of the play. La Belle Marguerite is from the pens of two of the best known writers in their lines. The musical score being written by Miss Emma E. Steiner, and the dialogue of librette by Jas. Anderson Russell, both of New York. The melodies are catchy, and the lines full of keen humor.

In Agony

Mood's Sarsaparilla Cave a Perfect Cure.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is an excellent medicine. I had eczema in my left leg for fifteen years. Part of the time my leg was one mass of scabs, and about every week corruption would gather under the skin and the scabs would slough off.

ation made me suffer indescribable agonie I spent a great deal of money for different remedies but did not get relief. About a year ago, leading physicians advised me to take Hood's Sarzaparilis. I did so and have taken five bot-
