COURT CLOSURES.

Sentences Imposed—Carter Fredrick Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

When we went to press on Friday the court was engaged in the trial of Carter Frederick, charged with murder.

This case occupied the court to Saturday noon. In consequence the case against Andrew Horton, charged with murder, had to be continued, as the Judge had to be at Laurens on Monday morning. Carter Frederick was defended by Johnstone & Welch, and the Solicitor was assisted by Col. O. L. Schumpert. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The court then imposed the sentences on those convicted: Jno. Wheeler for assault and battery with intent to kill was given $40 or six months on the county chain gang.

Geo. L. Neal for assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature was given $75 or three months in county jail. A petition was presented to the court in this case asking for leniency. On motion of Johnstone & Welch, the execution of the sentence was stayed for sixty days.

Asbury Suber and Will Saber for riot and assault and battery with intent to kill were given $100 each or six months in county chain gang.

Bunk Adams for violating the dispensary law, on motion of O. L. Schumpert, was granted a new trial.

Solicitor Sease presented his general order in the usual form, and the following special order in the matter of questions presented by the grand jury:

That a copy of so much of the presentment of the grand jury as relates to the condition of roads, bridges and ferries and public buildings and pampers and the master's office and furniture be served upon the supervisor for his action and consideration thereon.

The court then adjourned until a day.

A CORRECTION. In the publication of the presentment of the grand jury the omission of the word "dispensary" made the report say what the jury did not intend. It was the useless bringing of dispensary cases that the jury wanted to avoid. This part of the report should read as follows:

"The grand jury would, however, state that in their judgment the county is put to a very great and, as we think, unnecessary expense in the number of State's witnesses brought into court in the cases brought by the State against violators of the dispensary law, who when brought before us do not know anything about the cases."

It seems that many trivial cases with an array of witnesses are brought before the grand jury, and the county is thus put to a useless expense.

Kind Words Which Are Appreciated.

A letter received a few days ago from a friend and subscriber to The Herald and News in a distant State from which we copy the following, though the letter was not intended for publication. We appreciate the kind words contained because we know they are honest and sincere and come from an unprejudiced and unbiased source, but one who has watched the progress of Newberry. We take pleasure in copying these words because people who are in the midst of success often forget who bore the brunt and heat of the battle in order to make success sure.

"I want to congratulate you upon the results of your advocacy of various projects for the material development of dear old Newberry I refer to the water and light plants now building. To you more than to any one man is due the credit. I remember well that for several years your paper has stood prominent for progress, for enlarged activity, for the upbuilding of your town and county. What benefits the town benefits the surrounding country and vice versa. At first you seemed to have championed a hopeless cause, but by 'everlastingly keeping at it' you have won the victory and will soon enjoy the full fruition of your hopes and the reward of your efforts. You deserve the 'well done' of all lovers of progress. I am glad to see Newberry forging her way to the front. While the conveniences of electricity for illuminating and motive purposes is desirable and almost a necessity in this rushing, bustling evening of the 19th century, the advantages of a water system, even though limited as yours must be at present, cannot be estimated. I was greatly surprised at the remarkably low per centum of mortality for the last ten months as shown by report of your health officer. I expect to see even this low rate lowered when the sewerage is perfected and the citizens of Newberry drink pure artesian water."

We are glad to note this interest in Newberry by a former resident.

But it is a fact wherever the sons of Newberry may roam their thoughts always turn to the dear old place. There is no other like it.

There will be communion services at Bachman Chapel on the second Sunday in August, with preparatory services on Saturday previous. Also communion at St. Philips on the first Sunday, with preparatory services on Saturday previous.

We had a splendid season last Saturday, and crops are on a boom.

Mr. J. E. Long still remains in feeble health.

We notice in the presentment of the grand jury in last week's Herald and News that they recommended our county commissioners to make some provisions for two ladies living in No. 11 Township, who are destitute of means and are really suffering want rather than to go to the county home.

During the last administration of the county government prior to the one now in charge, they pensioned a few poor old paupers, who didn't care to spend their last days at the county home, to the small amount of about $2.50 per month. This action of the county board we heartily approved.

But our commissioners now in power at one of their meetings last spring, seem fit to discontinue this arrangement, and said that only those who would go and become inmates of the county home would receive any help from the public funds. But before I go any further I want to say that I mean no reflections whatever upon the supervisor nor any one of his board. But I believe that they did wrong by discontinuing this small amount to those poor people. I have believed it so strong that I have asked at least fifty taxpayers of our county what they thought concerning the matter, and I have failed to find one who was in favor of this last action of the board.

While I am not directly concerned in the matter, yet my sympathies go out for poor old needy people. I will go into some details of a poor old woman whom I have under my observation. I have known this old lady in mention all my life. She has lived to the good old ripe age of a little more than four score years. While she is unfortunate in the way of means to subsist upon at this time, yet she has always labored for her living. But now her physical strength is too near exhausted to insure her a support. She has only one child and he, like a good many others, is unfortunate with about as big a load on his shoulders as he can well carry with his own family. Now this poor old mother, with the assistance of this $2.50 per month, was enabled to stay in the country, where she was born and reared, and enjoy the pleasure of being with her people who felt more for her age and strength, will not be many. But she, like a good many others, will suffer want rather than spend her last days at the county home. But the question we should consider is it right to let her suffer or to compel her to leave her people and go to the county home, which, beyond the shadow of a doubt, would shorten her days. No, good people, God loves charitable givers, and it will certainly be a hard heart that would say, under such circumstances, that I am unwilling to bear my part of the burden, which would only be a very small sum even to our largest taxpayers. Now with no reflections intended upon any one, we hope that our county commissioners will reconsider this matter and continue to help such poor old souls. It will not be much longer before they will cease to be a burden to any one.

Misses Tarsey and Cheley Kibler are spending the week with their brother, Mr. H. S. B. Kibler, and family of your city.

The trustees of Union Academy school have recently had Mr. I. A. McDowell to bore a well at the academy, which will add very much to the convenience of all concerned.

This seems to be the year for Jonny's. Didn't they make a brilliant start? Well we hope that they will be cooled off before they get to Newberry.

Well, Josh, as the public is getting tired of our nonsense, I am willing to give you the say on me for this time. I had other duties which I intended for you to perform, but as we have mutually agreed to let up on the matter I will say no more, and we will call on our old friend H. S. for his set up. But say, didn't Josh get there on his poetry? Well, Josh, we should have one of each kind in our team, and when we meet again I propose to elect you as our poet. But when you go to measure swallows again, please don't measure Chips' by your own.

Newberry is an interesting city, and don't you forget it. She is always going to the front in something new. We learn that she has recently discovered a new plan for driving a sullen cow. Our informant states that not long since one of her clergymen purchased a cow and calf, and while driving them home the calf became sullen and lay down. The minister tried every plan available, as he thought, to move the calf, but every plan seemed to fail. But what a preacher don't know isn't worth knowing. So he stepped back some distance from the calf to try a new plan. He pulled off his coat and stretched it out before him, making a kind of motion at the calf, and just at this time the calf made a spring towards the minister, and here they both went on their way rejoicing, with the minister considerably in front.

DON'T TELL YOU WON'T SPECTACLES. The lenses of all cheap spectacles are stamped out of dingy glass by a die that is same shape of the lens as a sheet of molten glass is passed under it by machinery; this leaves the surfaces of these lenses irregular, rough and unpolished, and the refraction is not near as perfect as that of the cheap lenses, ground smooth and even and polished, and the eye that uses the cheap lenses is necessitated to supply the refraction which strains it, or use a stronger lens which harms the retina and hastens the decay of the eye. Good Spectacles improperly fitted are as bad as cheap ones. After 20 years in the business I find Johnson's make is the best, and we have an instrument for testing imperfect vision at
