

The Herald and News

A WILL AND A WAY, OR A GIRL'S MISDEEDS.

[Written for The Herald and News and Copyrighted by Editor.]

"Oh, dear!" thought Boy. "There is no use asking him to help me. Of course if he can't find a place for me in his own daughter, he can't find one for me elsewhere."

"Well, how's your farm, Doctor, an' how's your practice paying you?" asked the farmer, wishing to change the subject.

"My farm is not so good as when I superintended it myself, but all things considered, I reckon it does very well."

"That's sound advice, farmer, but my sympathy for the sick and suffering won't allow me to be partial. I attend to the poorest as quickly and sympathetically as I do to the rich."

"My boy, Charlie, inherited a scrofulous blood taint, and from infancy was covered with terrible sores, his sufferings being such that it was impossible to dress him for three years."

"Thank you, Boy, thank you," laughed the doctor. "But perhaps I do not stand so highly in every one's estimation. And really, I must be going," rising from his seat.

"These are for your wife and children, with my compliments." "Allow me to thank you in their behalf," he answered as they drove away.

"I don't know why it is, doctor," she said, "but a good serious talk with you always did me good. Somehow I always feel like I want to be better and do something grand and noble so as to gain and forever retain your esteem."

"The Doctor made some gallant reply and was silent a few minutes before saying: 'Boy, I'm going up the country soon and I'll see if I can get a school for you.'"

"Yes, Doctor, if it will not be too much trouble, I'll go with you to see several of your patients and perhaps if I were to see the committee myself they would be more likely to give me a school."

"Yes, it would be best. What's the matter, I see you're not so well. You've been at mine of late. I'll look you over when you get home."

"Oh, I don't care for that. But I know you're a kind man. I'll go with you to see the committee myself. It will be more like a school."

"Thank you, we'll be glad to accept your hospitality," answered the Doctor. "An' now if you're ready we'll be going."

"You see, Doctor, that we all swear by you as the saying goes," said Boy. "You are willing to tell your patient what his troubles are, and what you expect to do for him."

"I'll go as far as the creek with you, Doctor, if you'll let me," said Boy. "Certainly, my dear, will be glad of your company," he answered, knowing that Boy wished to have a talk with him.

"I don't know why it is, doctor," she said, "but a good serious talk with you always did me good. Somehow I always feel like I want to be better and do something grand and noble so as to gain and forever retain your esteem."

"Where? Up in the Stony creek neighborhood?" eagerly. "Yes, Doctor, if it will not be too much trouble, I'll go with you to see several of your patients and perhaps if I were to see the committee myself they would be more likely to give me a school."

"Well, gentlemen," commenced the Doctor at last. "The father of Miss Drake here is a poor country farmer, who has strained every nerve to educate his two daughters. Now his health has failed and he has no son to help him in his old age. And he said to her everlasting honor, Miss Drake wishes with all her heart to do something to help her poor old father, who has sacrificed so much for her. She has tried perseveringly to find a school, but strange as it seems, she has been turned off or set aside for gentlemen teachers whose certificates were second grade. Hers is first grade. At the third school she was just a little too late. A gentleman, or a man rather, had already applied for and obtained permission to teach. The committee were very sorry and thought perhaps this man would give up the school to Miss Drake and go elsewhere. Mr. Brown was kindly asked by Miss Drake herself, who told him all the circumstances, to let her have that particular school. And what was the answer of this young man? It was: 'No thank you, my dear, I prefer this to any other school, but I'd be pleased to have you for a scholar!'"

"I'll not go farther. And oh, Doctor, words are inadequate to express my thanks for the kind interest you take in me," said Boy, and her brown eyes filled with tears.

"Oh, fiddlesticks! my dear," replied the matter of fact Doctor. "It is a pleasure to be of service to you. And now, little girl, good-bye until tomorrow."

"All right," said Committeeman Davis. "You an' the young lady stay at my house tonight. Jones, here, is one of the committee an' he can go by an' get Duncan an' come around tonight an' we'll all talk it over."

"An' now if you're ready we'll be going," said the Doctor. "You see, Doctor, that we all swear by you as the saying goes," said Boy. "You are willing to tell your patient what his troubles are, and what you expect to do for him."

"I'll go as far as the creek with you, Doctor, if you'll let me," said Boy. "Certainly, my dear, will be glad of your company," he answered, knowing that Boy wished to have a talk with him.

"I don't know why it is, doctor," she said, "but a good serious talk with you always did me good. Somehow I always feel like I want to be better and do something grand and noble so as to gain and forever retain your esteem."

"The Doctor made some gallant reply and was silent a few minutes before saying: 'Boy, I'm going up the country soon and I'll see if I can get a school for you.'"

"Where? Up in the Stony creek neighborhood?" eagerly. "Yes, Doctor, if it will not be too much trouble, I'll go with you to see several of your patients and perhaps if I were to see the committee myself they would be more likely to give me a school."

"Well, gentlemen," commenced the Doctor at last. "The father of Miss Drake here is a poor country farmer, who has strained every nerve to educate his two daughters. Now his health has failed and he has no son to help him in his old age. And he said to her everlasting honor, Miss Drake wishes with all her heart to do something to help her poor old father, who has sacrificed so much for her. She has tried perseveringly to find a school, but strange as it seems, she has been turned off or set aside for gentlemen teachers whose certificates were second grade. Hers is first grade. At the third school she was just a little too late. A gentleman, or a man rather, had already applied for and obtained permission to teach. The committee were very sorry and thought perhaps this man would give up the school to Miss Drake and go elsewhere. Mr. Brown was kindly asked by Miss Drake herself, who told him all the circumstances, to let her have that particular school. And what was the answer of this young man? It was: 'No thank you, my dear, I prefer this to any other school, but I'd be pleased to have you for a scholar!'"

"I'll not go farther. And oh, Doctor, words are inadequate to express my thanks for the kind interest you take in me," said Boy, and her brown eyes filled with tears.

"Oh, fiddlesticks! my dear," replied the matter of fact Doctor. "It is a pleasure to be of service to you. And now, little girl, good-bye until tomorrow."

"All right," said Committeeman Davis. "You an' the young lady stay at my house tonight. Jones, here, is one of the committee an' he can go by an' get Duncan an' come around tonight an' we'll all talk it over."

"An' now if you're ready we'll be going," said the Doctor. "You see, Doctor, that we all swear by you as the saying goes," said Boy. "You are willing to tell your patient what his troubles are, and what you expect to do for him."

"I'll go as far as the creek with you, Doctor, if you'll let me," said Boy. "Certainly, my dear, will be glad of your company," he answered, knowing that Boy wished to have a talk with him.

"I don't know why it is, doctor," she said, "but a good serious talk with you always did me good. Somehow I always feel like I want to be better and do something grand and noble so as to gain and forever retain your esteem."

"The Doctor made some gallant reply and was silent a few minutes before saying: 'Boy, I'm going up the country soon and I'll see if I can get a school for you.'"

"Where? Up in the Stony creek neighborhood?" eagerly. "Yes, Doctor, if it will not be too much trouble, I'll go with you to see several of your patients and perhaps if I were to see the committee myself they would be more likely to give me a school."

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

WE ARE ASSERTING IN THE COURTS OUR RIGHT TO THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF THE WORD "CASTORIA" AND "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," AS OUR TRADE-MARK.

Do Not Be Deceived. Do not endanger the life of your child by accepting a cheap substitute which some druggist may offer you (because he makes a few more pennies on it), the ingredients of which even he does not know.

"The Kind You Have Always Bought" BEARS THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE OF

Chas. H. Pitcher Insist on Having The Kind That Never Failed You.

Flat Spoken Philosophy. Jest keep the heart a-beatin' warm Be kind ter every feller: Look for the rainbows in the storm, But—carry yer umbrella!

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills. A CLEAR HEAD; good digestion; sound sleep; a fine appetite and a ripe old age, are some of the results of the use of Tutt's Liver Pills.

A Known Fact. An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, sour stomach, dizziness, constipation bilious fever, piles, torpid liver and all kindred diseases.

THE CHARLESTON LINE. Double Daily Trains between Charleston Columbia and Augusta.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Condensed Schedule in Effect NOV. 15, 1896.

VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

To Atlanta, Chicago, Augusta, Athens, Wash. D.C., New Orleans and New York. Schedule in effect Feb. 7th, 1897.

NORTHBOUND. No. 43, No. 41. Lv. New York, via Penn. R.R. 11:00 am 1:00 pm

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Central Time Between Columbia and Jacksonville. Eastern Time Between Columbia and Other Points.

Florida Central and Peninsular Railroad. Short Line between Florida and All North Eastern Points.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Condensed Schedule in Effect NOV. 15, 1896.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Condensed Schedule in Effect NOV. 15, 1896.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

A Modern Lazarus.

Inherited blood diseases are much more difficult to cure than those which are acquired. One of the most common hereditary diseases is Scrofula, which the medical profession admit is most obstinate and deep-seated, and their efforts to cure it meet with little success.

"My boy, Charlie, inherited a scrofulous blood taint, and from infancy was covered with terrible sores, his sufferings being such that it was impossible to dress him for three years."

"Thank you, Boy, thank you," laughed the doctor. "But perhaps I do not stand so highly in every one's estimation. And really, I must be going," rising from his seat.

"I don't know why it is, doctor," she said, "but a good serious talk with you always did me good. Somehow I always feel like I want to be better and do something grand and noble so as to gain and forever retain your esteem."

CUPID AND DEATH.

It is a pitiful truth that in a tremendous percentage of cases a love and death claim a young woman at the same moment. If a young woman's mother does not feel competent to give her daughter the right advice about how to keep herself well and strong in a maidenly way she should seek the advice of some physician of wide experience, and of substantial reputation.

The embarrassing examination and local treatment upon which most doctors insist, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on a woman's special organism and makes it strong and healthy, and competent to bear the strain of matrimony, motherhood. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and stops debilitating drains. It banishes the sufferings of the period of expectancy, and makes baby's arrival in the world easy and almost painless. Good druggists recommend it, letters addressed to Dr. R. W. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., are secretly confidential.

"I have been nearly four years since I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. C. C. Clark, of New Rome, Floyd Co., Ga. "and I have been no sign of any return of female complaint. I am now nearly forty years of age, and two miles and one-half, and to-day am as well as ever. I have used Dr. R. W. Pierce's Pills, and found them as good as recommended."

Look glum and feel glum? That's biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure. They never gripe. At all medicine stores.

Baby Mine!

Every mother feels an indescribable dread of the pain and danger attendant upon the most critical period of her life. Becoming a mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger of the ordeal make its anticipation one of misery.

MOTHER'S FRIEND is the remedy which relieves women of the great pain and suffering incident to maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is removed by its use.

Dr. R. W. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on a woman's special organism and makes it strong and healthy, and competent to bear the strain of matrimony, motherhood. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and stops debilitating drains.

Look glum and feel glum? That's biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure. They never gripe. At all medicine stores.

Look glum and feel glum? That's biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure. They never gripe. At all medicine stores.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is the remedy which relieves women of the great pain and suffering incident to maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is removed by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer dependent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are avoided, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mother's Friend. It is a blessing to woman.

Dr. R. W. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on a woman's special organism and makes it strong and healthy, and competent to bear the strain of matrimony, motherhood. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and stops debilitating drains.

Look glum and feel glum? That's biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure. They never gripe. At all medicine stores.

Look glum and feel glum? That's biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure. They never gripe. At all medicine stores.

THE CHARLESTON LINE

Double Daily Trains between Charleston Columbia and Augusta. SCHEDULE, DAILY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Condensed Schedule in Effect NOV. 15, 1896.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY. Condensed Schedule in Effect NOV. 15, 1896.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

Atlantic Coast Line!

FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.

Atlantic Coast Line! FAST LINE Between Charleston and Columbia Upper South Carolina, North Carolina, Athens and Atlanta.