The people in Saluda County, just across the river, are becoming very much alarmed about the smallpox. The matter was reported to Mr. J. S. Russell, who was on Booser's bond, and as soon as it was possible he had the mail carried, and it now goes regularly. The truth of the matter is the subcontractors take this work for less than it is worth.

THE CLOSING EXERCISES OF THE GRADED SCHOOL. Essays by Sweet Girl Graduates—The Most Successful Session in the History of the School. Class A—A Large Audience Attended.

After a week devoted to final written examinations, on Friday last, the most successful and satisfactory session in the history of the Newberry Graded School was brought to a close. The closing exercises were held in the opera house on Friday night and the building was filled to its utmost seating capacity by the patrons of the school and the citizens who feel such a deep interest in the educational advantages of our city, and the scene that met their eyes was one of the most beautiful and interesting that eyes ever beheld.

On the stage sat eight pretty, cultured, noble young ladies and two manly, noble and promising young men, who from this time began to look out anxiously and seriously upon the arena of life. The young ladies were attired in beautiful white costumes and when surrounded with the elaborate floral tributes placed at their feet presented one of the most beautiful and striking scenes ever witnessed by any audience.

Besides the members of the graduating class, the Trustees and teachers of the school, the fathers of those graduating, the ministers of the different churches and other prominent citizens were invited and occupied seats on the rostrum. The excellent music, which added so much to the pleasure and success of the occasion, was furnished by Mrs. Peter Robertson and Miss Doll Land.

The graduating class this year consisted of nine young ladies and two young gentlemen, and to say that they did well does not do them justice, for we have never known a class to so creditably acquit themselves as a whole. The essays not only reflected credit upon the individual members of the class, but much praise is due Superintendent Wallace and his corps of able assistants for the faithful and efficient manner in which they have performed their onerous and arduous duties with which they are entrusted in connection with the school.

The exercises were opened with an appropriate prayer by Rev. Geo. A. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist church. The following is a list of the young ladies and gentlemen graduating and the subjects of their essays:

Mr. Edward Nathan Little spoke on "Patriotism," and the earnest and able manner in which he spoke stirred patriotism in the breasts of his hearers and created enthusiasm in the large audience, especially was such the case in his references to the Spanish-American-Cuban war. He spoke plain and his delivery was easy.

Miss Florence Adele Wertz read an excellent paper on "Unknown Heroes," which had been carefully prepared and was well received by the audience. "The Power of Habit," was the subject of Miss Bessie Legare Simmons' essay, and she handled the subject in such a manner as to please her many friends.

Miss Myrtle Abney Schumpert read a commendable essay on the subject, "The Ideal Woman," and impressed her hearers with her subject and manner of delivery. "Patience, Time and Money Bring all Things to Pass," was the subject of Miss Azile Pool's essay, which was clearly treated. She read in a clear, sweet voice.

Miss Ida Alice Langford's subject was "Aim High," and was well prepared and pleasingly delivered. It showed much study and carefulness in preparation. "The American Flag," was the subject of Mr. Harry Wicker Dominick's paper, which was instructive and interesting, and was enthusiastically received.

Miss Anita Butler Davidson read an interesting paper on "Make Haste Slowly," which showed careful preparation and was read in a clear, distinct voice. The essay of Miss Bessie Randall Coppock was read by Col. W. H. Hunt, the subject being "Self-Reliance. Miss Coppock's essay was one of the best of the class and received many favorable comments.

"The Hammer," was the subject of the essay of Miss Laura Ewart Bowman, which showed evidence of most careful preparation, and she made a good impression on the audience by her forceful style of writing and easy delivery. Miss Helen Alma Bishop's subject was "Cheerfulness." Her essay was well written and her manner of delivery added much to the warm reception given her by the audience.

At the conclusion of the reading of the essays Superintendent Wallace delivered diplomas to the members of the class, with these his parting words: "Members of the Class of 1898: It gives me very great pleasure to present these diplomas to you—a pleasure that is marred only by the reflection that by this act the relation of teacher and student is forever sundered. It is no conventional compliment when I tell you that on my part this relation has been a very pleasant one. I have enjoyed my year's work, and I owe you my acknowledgments for the loyalty that you have shown to the school and to its management and best interests. Sam Jones, the evangelist, says he likes a horse that will stand without hitching. I like a boy or girl that will do right without watching. I have found such in this class before me. You have proved yourselves entirely trustworthy on every occasion; and whatever success may have attended the school the closing year, much of it is undoubtedly due the good example set by the higher grades.

"Though our relation of teacher and pupil ends now, I shall always take a deep interest in the welfare of each one of you. I hope that your education will be continued, and that you may all win distinction. But I would have you more concerned about doing good, being useful, and making all about you happier and better than about distinction and fame. There is a tendency among the giddy and thoughtless to sneer at goodness, as fit only for the weak and the spiritless. This is a great mistake. There is nothing stronger or grander—noting more manly nor more womanly. No manlier man ever lived than Sir Walter Scott—the 'Wizard of the North'—whose writings have charmed the world for nearly three quarters of a century. His dying injunction to his son-in-law, Lockhart, was: 'Be a good man.' The inspiration that fired the heart of Frances Willard was the dying request of a young sister: 'Tell everybody to be good.' That grand and noble woman spent her life in just that mission, and her name is honored and her memory cherished in every part of the civilized world. Tennyson's words are: "'How'er it be, it seems to me, 'tis only noble to be good; Kind words are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood."

"And, finally, I commend to you the familiar lines of Charles Kingsley: "'Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever; Do noble things, not dream them all day long; And so make life and death and the great hereafter one grand, sweet song.'"

MEDALS AWARDED. The medals and books awarded for good conduct, by vote of the pupils of the Graded School, were awarded as follows: A medal for girl, to Louise E. Ajull, of 2nd Grade.

Medal for boy, to Harry W. Dominick, of the 10th Grade. Book (Longfellow's Poems) for girl, to Anne D. Jones, of 1st Grade. Book (Tennyson's Poems) for boy, to Maurice Tiller, of 8th Grade.

The above medals and books were given by Mr. E. A. Scott. A gold medal, offered by the Superintendent, for the highest scholarship in the 10th Grade was awarded Miss Azile Pool.

A gold medal, offered by the members of the Board of Trustees, for the best scholarship in the whole school was awarded to Elizabeth Burton.

REPORT OF GOOD ATTENDANCE. The Superintendent stated that, considering the fact that nearly all the pupils were vaccinated during the year, causing many to lose time from school, the attendance had been very good. He read the following list of pupils whose attendance had been specially good:

In our advertising columns will be found an announcement of Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls' forthcoming book, entitled "America's War For Humanity." Canvassing agents will find in it a book of remarkable interest, and certainly of extraordinary salability. The history of the war is told in picture and story, and in a way that always characterizes the brilliant pen of Senator Ingalls. In narrating the incidents of this war he finds grand scope for his superb descriptive and analytical powers. The theme is worthy of the author, and the author is worthy of the theme. It is published by N. D. Thompson Publishing Co., of St. Louis, Mo. It will be a monumental work that will not only be everywhere read, but it will be a monument to his genius that will outlive in history his brilliant senatorial career. The subscription book trade and the canvassing agent are fortunate in the fact that an author of such rare ability has been enlisted in its interest.

DEATHS. Mrs. Ruth Julien died on Friday last, 3d inst., at the home of her son, Mr. B. E. Julien, in Helena. Her remains were buried on Saturday in Rosemont Cemetery.

Mrs. H. G. Crouch of Saluda and sister of Mr. R. C. Perry and Mrs. C. J. Zobel of this county died at her home in Saluda on Saturday, aged 38 years, of typhoid fever. Her little daughter six years old is ill with the same disease and does not know that her mother was sick or that she is dead. To those who mourn at all times and especially when a young mother is called from home, leaving a husband and little children our tenderest sympathies always go out. But death has all seasons for his own. The hour and the time we know not.
