ORDER AS TO PUERTO RICO TO BE OBEYED.

SPANIARDS WILL TURN OVER THE ISLAND ON THE 18th.

War Department is Granted—Our Commissioners Complete All Details of the Evacuation—Gen. Brooke's Cabin Message.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The following cablegram has been received at the war department:

San Juan de Puerto Rico, Oct. 12. Secretary of War, Washington:

The United States commission have informed the Spanish commission that the United States expect to have complete possession of Puerto Rico on October 18th. The Spanish commission assent to this and say it is expected the evacuation will be complete on or before that day. If not, they will concede possession. The United States commission has practically completed the details of the evacuation and the joint commission has held its last session and adjourned without delay. The United States troops will be placed in San Juan and the flag hoisted at noon October 18th.

(Signed) Brooke, Major General.

This dispatch is very gratifying to the war department officials, and it ends all contention regarding the possession of Puerto Rico.

The details of the agreements reached by the commissioners have not been received at the department, but as the negotiations seem to have progressed smoothly, it is supposed that the instructions of the administration to the commission have been carried out.

MORRIS'S OBEDIENCE.

It Cost the Fiscal Quarter's Story. Contradict a Report.

(From the New York Times.)

London, October 8.—Queen Victoria's well known detestation of reporters must have been strengthened this week. A young Aberdeen newspaper man happened to be cycling in the vicinity of Balmoral Castle on last Wednesday. He rested in the cottage of one of the Queen's gamekeepers. While he was casually leaning that the horses attached to the Queen's carriage had shied a day or two previously. In order that his chiefs might understand that he had a nose for news the young reporter scrooled to the nearest telegraph office and wired the story of the Queen's miraculous escape.

The story had a fair number of frills at the start, and by the time it had reached London, Berlin and Paris its author could not have recognized the item, it was so hidden in decorations. The first news the Queen received of her narrow escape was at 5 o'clock on Wednesday af-

BERKELEY CASE.

Justice McIver Asked to Discontinue Injunction—The Way Found by the State Executive Committee to Escape From an Annoying and Puzzling Dilemma

(Special to Greenville News.)
Columbia, S. C., October 14.—The State Democratic Executive Committee held a meeting tonight to take action on the Berkeley county contest for sheriff. Some of the members wanted to declare Morrison, the nominee while others wanted to pass resolutions permitting both Morrison and Sanders to go into the general election as democrats. Mr. Blense, of Newberry, suggested that the only course was to go before Justice McIver and ask that the injunction be granted by him in the case forbidding the holding of another primary under the order of the committee be discontinued. On motion of Mr. Butler, Mr. Morrison is asked to go before Justice McIver in behalf of the committee and ask that the injunction be set aside. Mr. Sanders, through his attorney, agrees to this and a speedy hearing.

THE SEVENTH CORPS.

Our Second Among the Infantry Regiments—Recent Orders.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 13.—An order was issued from headquarters today by which the Seventh army corps is changed from three divisions to two divisions of two brigades each, this change being made necessary by reason of the many regiments recently sent away to be mustered out. As at present arranged, the corps consists of 12 infantry and two cavalry regiments as follows: First Texas, Second Louisiana, Third Nebraska, Ninth Illinois, Second South Carolina, Fourth Illinois, One Hundred and Sixty-first Indiana, Sixth Missouri, Forty-ninth Iowa, Second Illinois, First North Carolina, Fourth Virginia and Seventh and Eight United States cavalry, the two latter now being at Huntsville, where they will remain until further orders. Gen. Coppington is to command the cavalry. In accordance with recent orders of the war department, Brig. Gens. A. S. Burt, Lucius F. Hubbard and James H. Barkley are relieved from further duty. Draft orders have not as yet been issued as to when the corps will leave for Savannah.

A NEW DEVICE FOR A BICYCLE PROPELLER.

The Inventor is Mr. E. A. Oakman, of Chappell's, S. C.—What He Himself Has to Say.

(The State, 14th.)

South Carolinians have in the past invented appliances which are in daily use all over the country. A South Carolinian has invented an improvement on the running gear of a bicycle, which may yet revolutionize the present style of running gear. This gentleman is Mr. E. A. Oakman of Chappell's, who is now in the city with his model, which, though but a rough pattern, exhibited the wonderful power and speed given by the new propelling device.

Mr. Oakman will be in the city a day or two and will exhibit his wheel at the bicycle store of Berry & Burris in the postoffice block.

His wheel has been examined by a number of bicycle experts who pronounce the invention a good one. Mr. Oakman's, of course, enthusiastic over his production, and spoke of it most interestingly. He said:

"With the view of improving this bicycle I carefully studied it in detail, and until the crank was reached I found no room in my opinion for improvement that would enable any radical change or be of real merit. But the crank revealed many serious defects and a field for unlimited improvement. After a careful study of these I became convinced that the crank machines had reached their limit of usefulness, from the fact, as all riders and experts are aware, it is impossible to ever increase the leverage beyond a 63 or 7 1/2 inch crank, because the legs cannot conform to or accommodate themselves to a larger circle than 12 or 14 inches. Therefore, nor can a higher rate of speed be generated than is now accomplished. To prove that there is a great advantage in the increase of leverage, suppose we attempted to drive a wheel with a 2 inch crank; it would be found so impracticable as to render it a failure, but extend it to 3 or 7 inches and a practical and useful machine is the result. Now, if there is such indisputable advantage in this slight increase, why should there not be a going further? Well, there is, beyond any shadow of doubt, as my model demonstrates, but it is impracticable to reach it by means of a crank, and therefore its usefulness ceases at this point.

"Again, the leverage of the crank, all know, is not constant. It begins at zero, a point known among mechanics as the dead centre, it then increases until the right angle point is half down when the full or maximum leverage is reached, but it begins at once to lose again until it is lost at the bottom, where all is lost. This being the case with each stroke of each foot in making the full revolution of the crank shaft, the machine depends entirely upon momen-

MCKINLEY IS HAPPY.

Congratulates Everybody on the War and Blots at Holding all we can Reach.

The New York World's report of President McKinley's progress to Omaha gives this account of his reception and speeches:

The largest crowd of the trip was at Clinton, Ia. Here Senator Allison, Congressman Curtis and Governor Shaw and staff boarded the train.

After the cheering of the people had subsided, President McKinley said:

"My Fellow Citizens: I have no fitting words to express my appreciation of this splendid welcome. We have gone from industrial depression to industrial activity. We have gone from labor seeking employment to employment seeking labor. (Applause.) We have abundant currency and we have an unsurpassed national credit; better than it has ever been before in our history.

"We have, too, a good national conscience, and we have the courage of destiny. (Great applause.)

"We have much to be grateful for in the stirring events of the past six months. The army and navy of the United States have won not only our praise, but the admiration of the world. Our achievements on land and sea are without parallel in the world's history.

"During all these trying months the people of the United States have stood together as one man; North and South have been united.

"People who think alike in a country like ours must act together. That is what we have been doing recently, and we want to continue to act together until the fruits of our war shall be embodied in solemn and permanent settlements.

"We want no differences at home until we have settled our differences abroad; when that is all done we can have our little differences among ourselves.

The stop at Mount Vernon, the seat of Cornell college, was so brief that the President had only time to say: "I am very glad to meet you all."

As he entered his car he remarked to Senator Allison: "That is the best speech I have made yet."

The gathering of people at Cedar Rapids broke the day's record for numbers and enthusiasm, and here for the first time the President left the train and spoke from a platform. He said:

"It is a fortunate situation that the people while engaged in war never neglect the industries of peace. And while the war was going on and we were engaged in arms against a foreign foe, the industries of the people went on and their progress and prosperity were in no wise checked. I go thither also that I may celebrate with my countrymen of the West the progress of the war

TILLMAN'S CASE.

CAPTAIN FULLER ORDERED TO REPORT ON THE FACTS.

Senator Did Not Trouble in the First Regiment Will Be Overhauled by a District Court Officer and the Authorities Informed.

(Special to Greenville News.)

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 14.—Capt. Ezra B. Fuller, of the United States army, who is stationed here as chief mustering officer, has been charged by the war department "to investigate and report the charges against Lieut. Col. James H. Tillman."

Such action was foretold in the Greenville News today. From telegrams received the action of the war department has evidently been taken at the instance of Senator Tillman. The war department will be guided largely by Captain Fuller's reports as to whether the court martial will or will not be held. Captain Fuller is simply asked to make the investigation and report the facts. He will then the prosecution and the defence.

Lieutenant Colonel Tillman has already had a large number of affidavits prepared. Captain Fuller will prepare a series of questions which will be propounded to the prosecution and the officers will present certificates and the non-commissioned men affidavits in response to these inquiries as to the charges under investigation. Captain Fuller is in no way restricted as to the evidence he will take on the line of his inquiry. He is given the widest possible latitude.

Lieutenant Colonel Tillman received a message from Senator Tillman this morning saying that the war department had ordered that Captain Fuller investigate the charges against him and pending the investigation that he would be released. Captain Fuller's message laid nothing about the release. No orders to the commanding officers of the camp came.

MARSHAL LAW.

Miners at Vicksburg Disarmed and all Now Quiet. Fourteen Dead—As Many More of the Wounded Likely to Die and Further Violence Feared Only By The Soldiers.

Nardin, Ill., Oct. 12.—This town is now under martial law. All the miners have been disarmed by soldiers. There is a body of military guards over the mine offices.

The town is apparently quiet, but only the presence of the military prevents further war. Several regiments are here.

Over 1,000 shots were fired yesterday during the riot between the strikers on one side and the deputies and the negroes on the other. The buildings in the immediate neighborhood of the battle are perforated with bullet holes.

Fourteen dead were buried this afternoon. Of the thirty wounded half will die.
